Hagnauer Gateway chairman

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City was elected yesterday afternoon as chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors by a unanimous vote during the board's October meeting in St. Louis. He will serve a two-year term.
Hagnauer, supervisor of Granite City Township and chairman of the Madison County Board and of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, will assume the leadership of the Gateway Council during its annual dinner meeting next Tuesday night at SIUE.
He served as vice-chairman for the past two years under Chairman Lawrence K. Roos, former St. Louis County supervisor.
Following the vote, Roos congratulated Hagnauer and wished him luck in guiding the council. Hagnauer responded, "This board has advanced tremendously under Mr. Roos. I only hope to continue that advancement."
The board elected St. Louis Mayor John Pendergast as vice-chairman of the board and Hugh McCane, presiding judge of Franklin County, Mo., was named the new treasurer.
Eugene Moody, departing executive director of the Gateway Council staff, was cited in remarks by Roos as a man who has offered "diligent, dedicated individual effort" in helping the council grow from HALLOWEEN STORIES drew the rapt attention of youngsters during a Halloween party for pre-schoolers Tuesday at the Granite City Public Library. Children, many in their Halloween costumes, here listen to a story of "Gus the Ghost," delivered with the aid of a hand puppet by Children's Librarian Susan Rardin.

A phenomenal week of solicitation has added $212,586 to the previous $196,847, bringing Tri-Cities Area United Way pledges to $411,415, or 95.6 per cent of the $430,000 goal.
"I was never pessimistic but there was some concern when the third weekly report showed only 46 per cent of the needed amount had arrived. But now I am optimistic that the goal will be surpassed," David Fox, general campaign chairman, said at Wednesday's report luncheon at the Granite City Army Installation.
It was decided yesterday to extend the drive. A final report session is to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, at the Tri-Cities Area YMCA.
Accounts remaining to be solicited have the potential to boost the campaign receipts to 100 per cent of the goal, S. T. "Pete" Nasir, United Way executive director, said.
He stressed that such projections depend on extensive efforts during the next two weeks by campaign workers, and a generous response by prospective contributors.
Largest figures announced yesterday were $308,571 in the Industrial Division, headed by A. P. Steinhauer; $25,937 in the Business Division, led by Allen L. Jessee; and $20,580 in the Civic Division, headed by Lionel Portell.
Fox is marketing vice-president of the First Granite City National Bank. Steinhauer is a retired American-Steris Foundries executive; Jessee is executive vice-president of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, and Portell is Granite City superintendent of streets.

Parents liable for vandalism

Police in this area are reminding parents that they may be held responsible for the actions of their children during this Halloween period and asking them to observe supervision of their children. Vandalism and destruction of property has been reported to police all week and is expected to continue tonight and tomorrow night.
Police are keeping an extra-close eye on youths in the Quad-City area, using extra police patrols and volunteer citizens' band radio operators patrolling in "Operation Witch Watch" to attempt to hold vandalism to a minimum.
Even the unincorporated areas are being watched closely this year by Madison County Sheriff's Deputies and volunteers, many with citizens' band radios, organized under Operation Trick or Treat.
Granite City Chief of Police Ronald Veizer reminded parents that state law provides for parents or guardians of children between 11 and 19 years of age to be responsible for damages up to $500 caused by their children.
Officer Friendly, Glenn Wright, of the GC police, noted parents should know their children's plans, what route he

Police to add two

A request by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer that the city hire two additional police officers to help combat a continuing increase in crime was approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.
The council concurrence came, however, after long discussion and a roll call vote that approved the request by a minimum vote. The issue carried 8 to 3, with three aldermen absent. A minimum of eight votes was needed to approve the motion.
The matter came before the council in a letter written by Veizer who informed the aldermen that the police department work load is increasing to such an extent that "the case load for investigators surpasses 20 cases per man at times, and this is entirely too high."
Veizer said the patrol division is spread thin at a time when "Citizens are demanding far more services today than they did five years ago."
A motion by Alderman Everett Morlen, chairman of the council's Police Committee, and a second by Alderman Ronald Coleman that the council concur in the request, brought objections by Alderman Sam Whitmer that the city is not financially able to hire additional employees.
"We've been given to understand that we are going to be in a dead heat at the end of the fiscal year to stay in the black," Whitmer said.
"We had street projects and other projects in the budget which were taken out because of our financial outlook," he added, noting that the city will pay another 8 per cent increase in salaries at the beginning of the next fiscal year on May 1.
"That's quite a chunk of money," he said.

Halloween open house

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fulcher, 4135 Rode Ave., will celebrate All Hallows' Eve (Halloween Night) by entertaining all children in their neighborhood at a party.
The Fulchers, who are the parents of two young daughters, Shawn, 7½ years, and Erica, 4, decided to open their home to all neighborhood children, from preschool age through sixth grade, to reduce door-to-door trick or treating and possible hazards to a child.
A "Witch's Feast" will be staged from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
Friday at the Fulcher home, which is being transformed into a "spookhouse" for the special event.
Children invited are those living north of West Pontoon Road to Johnson School and from Old Alton Road on the east side to Rode Avenue on the west. The area encompasses about eight blocks.
"We are inviting each child from preschoolers to sixth graders living in our neighborhood to come to the party. If the youngster is preschool or (Continued on Page 32)

Sewer repair plan proposed

A program by which Granite City could repair at least some of its existing sanitary sewer breaks with personnel of the City Street Department was presented to the City Council Monday night by City Engineer Monroe Brewer.
The program, which calls for replacement of approximately 2,300 feet of sewer lines with plastic pipe along a route on which breaks in sanitary lines most frequently occur, would cost an estimated $189,280, Brewer's report said.
The council took no action on the recommendations Monday night after Brewer asked that council members first study the proposal before responding to the suggestions.
Brewer said that he had discussed the plan at length with City Street Superintendent (Continued on Page 20)

C. K. Corrol—another Denny's?

Construction work on a new lounge at 3304 Nameoki Road is to be stopped by Granite City officials until new determinations can be made as to how drainage from the building area and its parking lot will affect residential properties adjoining the site, it was decided by City Council members in a meeting Monday night.
The proposed tavern was strongly defended Wednesday by the owner, who noted that opposition had been allowed by the city earlier to block a Denny's Restaurant.
The action was taken on a motion by Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward, in which the new building is located.
Several aldermen protested that the building work is "strictly legal" in conformance with the building codes and is properly zoned.
Brewer said a number of residents living in the vicinity of the new lounge being built by B. C. Gilcho, operator of Corral

Text of petition

Following are petition comments by some residents of the 1500 block of Clark Avenue and surrounding area opposing construction of "a lounge or other drinking establishment," adjacent to the back property line of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnson, 1522 Clark Ave.
"This type of business is not compatible with, and will have a detrimental effect on, the environment of a residential area."
"The addition of another business to this commercial zone will add to the already existing traffic congestion of Johnson and Nameoki Roads."
"The close proximity of the building to adjacent residences will result in disturbance of the peace and quiet of those residents due to vehicular and pedestrian traffic in and around the premises, and the noise created by a band or other type of entertainment."
"The property as now graded would appear to be producing drainage problems for surrounding lots since it has traffic building codes. The petition was "placed on file."
Renewal of the controversy was sparked by charges by Dawes that "if we can't stop the building, we at least should make him pay almost $4,000 in sewer fees he owes the city."
The remark appeared to surprise some aldermen, who had maintained that the building work should not be stopped.
"Do you mean Gilcho owes the city $4,000 in sewer fees?" "That's right," Dawes said, referring Poulos to City Treasurer Paul Rutledge for verification.
Poulos asked the same question of Rutledge, repeating the figure of $4,000.
"It's nearly that much," Rutledge replied.
Mayor Paul Schuler asked Rutledge if suits had been filed in small claims courts to collect the delinquent fees.
Rutledge said he has filed ten foreclosures against properties owned by Gilcho on which (Continued on Page 25)

BILLY FOOTE

Billy Foote at Calvary Baptist

Evangelist Billy Foote, who is associated with the James Robinson Evangelistic Association of Fort Worth, Tex., will conduct revival services at Calvary Baptist Church, 3000 Washington Ave., beginning Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and ending Wednesday, Nov. 5. Services will be held each evening beginning at 7:30 p.m.

A native Texan, he attended East Texas Baptist College and has led more than 425 revival meetings.

Following the Sunday evening service, Evangelist Foote will provide a surprise entertainment program in the fellowship hall.

Music during the revival will be under the direction of Charlie Johnson of Liberty City, Tex. Johnson graduated in 1973 with a bachelor of music in education from East Texas Baptist College.

Retired Persons events set

Six members of the Granite City Chapter 1340, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), attended the 1975 fall chapter leadership training program held in Mount Vernon.

Representing the local club were: Mrs. Vina Law, president; Mrs. Edna Hoover, vice-president; Lowell Law, legislative chairman; Charles Kelly, treasurer-elect, and Mr. and Mrs. George Walter.

The session focused on legislative action and delegates were present from 12 area chapters. Forrest Fairchild, Illinois AARP state director, gave the welcoming address. Mrs. Vernice Walter of Southern Illinois, introduced the speakers. Their topics covered pending Illinois legislation in the morning session and federal legislation in the afternoon.

Speakers included Leroy Eckardt, Area V, Chicago office; Ralph Dunn, 58th district representative; Edward LaSalle, Frederick Thaler, associate vice-president Area V, and John Caldwell, senior aide to U. S. Senator Charles Percy (Illinois).

A board meeting of the local AARP chapter will be held at the Senior Citizens Center tonight and the next membership meeting will be on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at Coolidge Junior High School cafeteria.

Other events planned include a Christmas party on Dec. 10 at the Croatian Hall, with reservations to be purchased by Dec. 3, according to the president, Mrs. Law.

It was announced an open house observance for all senior citizens will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, sponsored by the AARP. The newly organized AARP Kitchen Band will provide entertainment at the event.

Area future hinges on productivity, taxes, regulations

Talk by Richard H. Dykes, executive director of the Illinois Metro-East Development Corporation, at Tuesday's Granite City Rotary luncheon:

What is the future of our region?

A radio series was titled, "East St. Louis—Autopsy of an All-American City." I suspect that in the minds of many persons who heard these programs, this could well have included the entire Illinois metropolitan area.

But to paraphrase an old saying credited to Mark Twain, reports of the death of this metro area are greatly exaggerated.

In the past five years, this area as a whole has experienced a significant amount of new development activity. Things are happening in "metro east," and in some parts, exciting things are happening in a big way.

At long last, the Interstate highway network is nearing completion. Except for a small segment of I-64 in East St. Louis, this highway will be open to traffic this year.

Work on I-255 is expected to be complete within the next five or six years.

River port activity at the Tri-City Port here in Granite City has increased substantially. The Port District expects to handle nearly one million tons of cargo this year.

And despite the wishes of our friends in Missouri, I'm convinced our area will be the location of this region's newest major airport.

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, already the St. Louis region's largest university — is expanding through construction of new offices and classroom buildings and new housing facilities.

Our area's junior college campuses are expanding as well — and we are experiencing the development of new vocational training centers to meet special needs.

St. Clair Square in Fairview Heights, this area's first regional shopping center, is by many reports a real success and certainly is an attractive addition to this area. Work on center continues and, when it's fully complete, it will be the St. Louis area's largest.

A regional shopping center is planned to open along Alton's Beltline by 1978. Central business district improvement projects are under way in Belleville and in Alton, and some other area cities are considering similar projects.

Over the past three years, we have experienced $61 million worth of industrial development and expansion projects throughout this area and the total doesn't include sizable expenditures made by many industries in new air and water pollution control equipment.

A beautiful new courthouse is nearing completion in St. Clair County, work on the Anderson County, work on the Anderson Hospital in Maryville is nearing completion, a new state office building recently opened in East St. Louis, and we are seeing the development of some attractive new residential areas despite a real slump in building home building activity.

Our area's vast reserves of coal and water are resulting in an increasing awareness of the metro region as a possible location for coal gasification and liquefaction demonstration plants. About $65 million to $70 million worth of construction is presently under way throughout this three-county area to extend, improve or upgrade municipal water and sanitary sewer facilities.

A dead area. Not by a long shot. These projects are a sign of progress, and they are projects in which we can all take a considerable amount of pride.

But I'm not entirely a painter of rosy pictures. During the past three years, the size of this region's work force has declined by 2,000 persons. Manufacturing employment has declined by over 20,000 jobs.

Many of the construction trades are now showing unemployment rates as high as 30-35 per cent.

And the latest population estimate released by the U.S. Bureau of the Census indicates that, as of 1974, the population of Madison County and of St. Clair County has actually declined since 1970.

While we have had $61 million worth of industrial development activity over the past three years, resulting in the addition of 900 new manufacturing jobs, several manufacturing plants have ceased operations in the area, resulting in 4,000 lost jobs.

Unemployment has jumped from about six per cent to nearly 10 per cent in the past three years.

It's true that a high rate of unemployment or a declining population is not characteristic of all communities in this area.

I submit, however, that we should all be working to overcome these areawide trends because ultimately this will affect the future of a city like Granite City — or Collinsville — or Belleville.

Why? Because by and large, future investments involving large capital expenditures in this area will be made by outsiders.

The decision-making control most industries and large retail establishments lies somewhere other than in this area. These outsiders will be taking a broad look at what's occurring throughout this area.

Sure, it can be said that Granite City is growing. But is this a trend which is true for the entire area in which Granite City is located, or is it a result of shifting of population and business within this area?

It seems to me that the key to reversing these trends is in the stimulation of new permanent jobs.

What do we need to do, then, to develop these jobs and, specifically, manufacturing jobs? To help in answering this question, I'd like you to take a look at an area from an industrialist's point of view.

The plant location process can be a complex one, but really it boils down to a comparison of the profit-making potentials of various sites.

If a site in this community or area provides a better chance of making a profit for the firm than some other location does, then our site is the one which will likely be chosen for the new facility.

While many factors are considered in making this decision, there are six which usually carry more weight than others. These are—as you might expect—the factors which most directly affect the profitability of the new operation: geographic location, transportation, land costs, labor costs, utility costs and business climate.

Now do we have a real comparison to other communities? Earlier this year, we conducted a study to determine just this.

We wanted to know how we compared with some of the country's growth communities—cities with whom we are competing, such as Dallas, Memphis, Chicago, Kansas City and others.

We found that our area has some very strong locational advantages.

proximity to oil and natural gas reserves.

We also found that 34 per cent of the nation's manufacturing facilities are located within this same radius.

Manufacturers themselves are often a source of raw materials for other manufacturers, as well as being a possible customer. In this instance, only Indianapolis and Louisville were nearer to more manufacturers.

We fared even better with regard to oil or proximity to people.

About 35 per cent of the nation's population is located within 500 miles of this area. Again, only Louisville and Indianapolis have a significantly higher percentage of the nation's population within 500 miles.

We have a transportation network here surpassed only by that serving Chicago. We are served by more Interstate highways and turnpikes and more railroads than any other city used in our comparison.

Annual tonnage through our river ports is exceeded only by that of Chicago.

We are served by an airport which experiences more operations per year than six of the growth communities analyzed. It is interesting to note here that major new airports serve or are planned for only three communities which experience more annual operations than St. Louis—Dallas, Atlanta and Chicago.

Costs of land suitable for industrial use are lower here than in any of the ten communities compared.

Utility costs—those for electric and natural gas services—do not vary widely between these communities, although cities in the South do enjoy a slight advantage.

The picture is not entirely a good one, however. Newspaper headlines which have appeared within the past few months reflect some of the problems we face:

"Environmentalists' Stalling Bern Highway Link."

"Open Shop Construction Project Proposed."

"Illinois Business Climate Beset With Problems."

These headlines, and the accompanying stories indicate that numerous projects are being postponed or held up here due to environmental considerations.

They point up the fact that the image of labor in this area is not good. And they suggest that Illinois is becoming an increasingly costly place for industries to operate due to a worsening business climate.

It is easy for critics to say that the media is at fault by exaggerating these difficulties and trying to create problems where none really exist.

Maybe so, but I'm convinced that the headlines do point out some problem areas which need some solution before Illinois in general, and this area in particular, can expect to gain a fair share of industrial development.

Let's take a closer look at these three issues.

The environment. In the late 1960s, considerable public pressure was exerted to pass laws designed to protect and improve our environment.

There were few real critics of these proposals, for it was popular to call for such improvements. And there was certainly no question that anything needed to be done.

Congress and the states quickly passed a number of laws to get the environmental cleanup process under way. In their hurry to do so, no real attempt was made to determine the ramifications of these actions.

Unfortunately there is no question that we are now bearing the consequences.

We find, for example, that $150 million worth of highway projects are now stalled in this area alone due to environmental hangups. Other cities and areas share similar problems, but ours is really no consolation to us.

In the air pollution control field, Illinois — along with other states — has developed a series of rules and regulations in response to federal regulations which govern the amount of pollutants that can be discharged by all kinds of industrial operations.

In response to comments which we have been receiving concerning the severity of these regulations, I took a detailed look at Illinois regulations and compared them with those of surrounding states and competing industrial states.

Do you know that Illinois regulations are generally more restrictive than those of other Midwest states, and in some cases even more restrictive than those provided in federal regulations?

No one will argue that improvements weren't needed, but unduly restrictive regulations are making it more difficult for industry to expand in the state and in this area — and certainly do not encourage manufacturers to want to establish new facilities here. We have been placed at a competitive disadvantage by a poor business climate.

Let's move on to the labor area. You know that the image of labor in this area is not good. In my discussions with plant location executives, this question crops up perhaps more frequently than any other, and it is a tough job to convince them that conditions here are not as bad as they have been led to believe.

Changing this reputation has to be done, if we want real growth in our area.

Wage rates themselves are part of the picture but this is not where the real problem network here surpassed only by that serving Chicago. We are served by more Interstate highways and turnpikes and more railroads than any other city used in our comparison.

Our problem seems to be in the area of productivity.

I have no doubt that a bricklayer here can lay as many bricks per hour as a bricklayer in Atlanta and do an equally skilled job of it. But, how many hours do the bricklayers actually work to earn eight hours' pay? We need to find the problem areas and change them.

Earlier, I mentioned the business climate in connection with environmental regulations.

Business climate also means things such as property taxes, income taxes, unemployment and workmen's compensation taxes and the likelihood of their being increased in the future.

A medium-sized manufacturing firm in Illinois can be expected to pay about $200,000 in local and state taxes, franchise fees, and various business licenses. In Oklahoma, his total tax bill would be 44 per cent less, in Texas 37 per cent less, Missouri 25 per cent less, and in Kentucky, 27 per cent less.

The states of Wisconsin and Michigan have recently begun high-powered advertising campaigns designed to show how favorable their tax business climates are. Illinois is at the bottom of each of their comparisons.

Illinois already has a relatively high corporate tax burden. Proposals to increase the corporate income tax rate, for example, are bound to be viewed with disfavor by existing industries — and might convince industries considering Illinois as a location for a new facility to concentrate their efforts elsewhere.

Yet, our legislators continue to try to put Illinois at an even greater competitive disadvantage.

The net effect of this analysis suggests that despite our very strong position as an area with regard to geographic location, availability of transportation facilities, land availability and cost, and reasonably priced utility services — these advantages seem not to be strong enough to overcome costs associated with a poor labor climate and a poor business climate.

I'm not really a prophet of gloom and doom. There are some positive things occurring. But once the internal cleanup process under way, once the business and industrial shifts within this area are made, once regional shopping centers are completed, and once every major city has its K-Mart or Venture and a bevy of franchise operations, then what?

I suggest that the future of this area at that point depends on what we do now.

We pride ourselves on the fact that our area is made up of a collection of communities none of which is larger than about 65,000 persons.

We enjoy the desirable small-town atmosphere that this provides as at the same time take advantage of the benefits that being a part of a metropolitan area can bring.

We argue and compete over numerous issues. That's understandable, and I think that's good.

But we often fail to get together on the important issues and fail to exert the clout which we would have if we would get ourselves together, united, and act as an economic unit.

As a result, many of the major decisions affecting our area are made elsewhere, frequently in St. Louis, because we can't or we won't demonstrate a unified front and display our collective clout to our elected leaders and the decision makers.

The airport issue is only one example of the results of this kind of inaction.

We increasingly turn to government as a way to help improve our lot. Millions of dollars are being spent in this area, but what do we really see from it?

The objective today seems only to be to seek more and more government grants and giveaway programs so that these dollars can be spent here instead of somewhere else.

For what purpose — to put X number of people on a payroll for one year — to do another study of a series of previous studies?

Or in the bureaucratic words of a friend of mine in state government, whose responsibility includes to vertically and horizontally integrate activities with various units of state and local government: "When are we going to say no more?"

We watch as business taxes have increased and we now learn that the possibility of an increased state income tax in the next few years is a strong one.

But, how many of us make a genuine effort to make our elected leaders aware of the effects of these increases on our community and our area?

What kind of determination is exhibited by the potential investor that we are working to improve our area and our area's image in the process? Are we really making the necessary effort or are we merely giving lip service?

I think the choice is yours. The real future of this area will be determined by people's actions as businessmen and representatives of each community.

If you want to see our area grow and develop, then you must act to make these changes which are necessary to convince the investor and the potential investor that he can be successful here.

ROCA to honor Earl Parsons

Tickets still are available for the ROCA Young Men's Club dinner party at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 8, at the VFW Hall, 2051 Washington Ave. The event will mark the 25th anniversary of the club.

Former ROCA "sweethearts" and members, together with friends, are invited to join in the celebration. Tickets, costing $15 a couple, or $10 per individual, may be obtained by calling Larry Diak, at 878-4549, or Mike Loftus, at 931-6452, after 5 p.m.

Honored guest will be Earl Parsons, founder of ROCA here, who now lives in San Francisco.

Projects organized by club members will help pay the expenses of his visit, including proceeds from the dinner dance.

The schedule of activities includes cocktails from 6 to 7 p.m.; dinner from 7 to 8 p.m.; program from 8 to 9 p.m.; and dancing from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m.

Mexican Commission observes Halloween

The Mexican Honorary Commission hosted a Halloween party for the members' children this week at the organization's hall.

Mrs. Rose Grimm was in charge, assisted by members of the newly formed health group who judged costumes and planned the games.

A total of 80 people, included 35 children, attended the affair. Prizes were awarded to Tommy Roland, dressed as an owl; Richie Martinez, a spaceman; and Becky Carpenter as "Igor."

The East Bank Players portrayed "monsters," giving a preview of "Dracula Baby," the musical comedy to be presented at the hall on Saturday and Sunday evenings.

AMSTED ends its fiscal year with record earnings and sales

AMSTED Industries on Monday reported earnings and sales were the highest in the company's history in the year ended Sept. 30.

Net income from continuing operations was $38,181,000, or $5.31 per share, which was more than double the $17,514,000, or $2.52 per share, a year ago.

Sales from continuing operations increased 10 per cent to $498,700,000 from $451,700,000 in 1974.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, said in Chicago, "The earnings improvement was due to the continued good shipments of railroad products, and selling prices more realistically reflecting increased production costs. Such prices were not possible under government controls in effect during the first half of the 1974 fiscal year."

Railroad product sales were a record $264,300,000, up $8,700,000, or 35 per cent, from last year.

Sales of general industrial products amounted to $12,100,000, a decrease of $4,600,000, or 4 per cent, reflecting the state of the general economy.

Construction and building product shipments were down to $122,300,000, a decrease of $17,100,000, or 12 per cent, due principally to the unusually low level of housing starts and commercial and industrial building construction.

On July 1, AMSTED sold its South Bend Lahe operation for approximately $10,000,000 to the employees of that division through an employee stock ownership plan.

The after-tax loss on the sale amounted to $3,000,000, and the operating loss of that division was $641,000 in fiscal 1975.

Net income in fiscal 1975, after reflecting the impact of these losses, amounted to $34,500,000, or $5.12 per share, as compared to $17,514,000, or $2.52 per share, a year ago.

AMSTED's backlog of orders at Sept. 30 amounted to $211,000,000 compared to $338,000,000 a year earlier.

Orders for freight car components have been slowing, but this continues to be the largest single element of the backlog.

The backlog of general industrial products is down significantly from last year and reflects softening in the demand for most products in this category because of the overall reduction in the nation's economy.

Unfilled orders for construction and building products continue to account for the smallest portion of the backlog, primarily as a result of the reduced demand for pipe products caused by the low level of housing starts.

On July 1, AMSTED acquired the business of Hydramation Filter Co. of Livonia, Mich., for $18,000,000 cash. The results of the acquired operations are included in AMSTED's financial results from the date of acquisition.

Hydramation is a manufacturer of liquid-treatment equipment, systems, and accessories and supplies. The company, which employs 500 people, operates plants in Livonia and Novi, Mich.; Tongeren, Belgium; and Poole, Dorset, England. It also has joint ventures in Italy, Japan and Brazil.

Property additions for continuing operations in fiscal 1975 totaled $23,253,000, consisting of $16,075,000 for regular additions and $7,178,000 for the fixed assets of Hydramation Filter Co.

On the basis of present plans, expenditures for property additions in the next two fiscal years are expected to total more than $60,000,000, excluding acquisitions.

The major expenditures will be for a new plant in Keokuk, Ia., which will be the company's largest freight car wheel manufacturing facility; construction of a new plant in West Chicago, Ill., for the production of non-metallic railroad brake shoes.

Also, the building of a plant in Claremore, Okla., for production of piston pins for diesel engines; expansion of the steel foundry in Granite City (American Steel Foundries) to increase capacity to produce freight car trucks by approximately 20 per cent; and additional capacity to manufacture wire rope at the Kenosha, Wis., plant.

Accounts receivable are down slightly from the level a year earlier, the new AMSTED quarterly report shows.

Concentrated collection efforts have continued and receivables are considered to be under good control, the officers said. Inventories at year end were up slightly from last year.

AMSTED had no debt at the end of the current or prior year.

Lanterman and Smith pointed out that "although the total orders backlog is down substantially from a year ago, it is still in excess of any other prior year end level."

They added, "This backlog, coupled with the expected improvement in the economy predicted by most economists, points to a good year for AMSTED in 1976."

bestowed in recognition of Chairman Price's "... many years of public service in the Congress of the United States and his full support of beneficial military personnel legislation enhancing the welfare of military personnel and their families."

The honorary membership is a lifetime award that may only be approved by a two-thirds vote of the FRA's delegates in annual national convention. A maximum of ten honorary memberships may be granted each year. Only six honorary memberships were approved at the association's recent national convention at The Chase-Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis in September. Price's award was the first acted upon.

The Fleet Reserve Association (FRA) is an organization of over 125,000 career enlisted personnel of the U. S. Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, regular and reserve, serving on active duty and in retirement. The FRA provides individual career services and legislative representation to its members. Since its inception in 1924, it has compiled an enviable record in the field of legislative "firsts" in behalf of all military personnel, FRA officials said.

Home blood pressure kit is developed

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is not a nervous or emotional disorder, affecting only high-strung, keyed-up people. It is a persistent or intermittent elevation of blood pressure above normal levels. Even apparently easygoing, relaxed people or children as young as four years old are susceptible, authorities say.

"While high blood pressure itself is a condition from which few people die," says Tom Braun, R.Ph., buyer of pharmaceuticals for Walgreen's, "its consequences—stroke, heart and kidney damage, for example—cause more than a million deaths each year. Since often no symptoms are present, regular check-ups with a physician are extremely important."

"More and more people are testing their own blood pressure at home with a new, compact home blood pressure kit. The professional quality kit consists of a sphygmomanometer, cuff, inflation bulb and valve, pressure gauge, blood pressure record pad and instruction booklet for home use. The kit, under $30, are of special value for patients whose doctors have diagnosed high blood pressure and who wish to check pressures regularly."

"More than 23 million Americans have high blood pressure," adds Braun, "and only about half of them are under treatment. Of those under treatment, only half of those are being treated adequately."

"By using this kit to take and record his blood pressure each day," Braun continues, "the hypertensive patient has an accurate chart which can help his physician judge the effectiveness of his treatment."

$110 IS STOLEN

Susan Bodi, 2536 State St., Apt. 3, reported Tuesday evening that $110 in cash had been stolen from a dresser drawer in her home during the day. She said several persons were in the house during the day with her permission, but entry also may have been gained through a previously broken window which was found open.

MADISON TRAINMASTER

G. J. Huggins has been appointed trainmaster with headquarters at the McKinley Yard, Madison. It was announced by the Illinois Terminal Railroad Co.

The appointment was made by D. E. Wisney, general manager, and D. A. DeVault, assistant general manager of the Southern District.

A Word About Our Store

CORRAL LIQUORS was established 3 years ago in order to provide you, the customer, with the largest selection of liquor, wines, liquors and beer with the lowest prices in Southern Illinois.

We have been striving to obtain these goals since our first day of operation. Recently we have built on an addition to our store and even provide you with a still larger selection and even lower prices through volume buying.

In addition we have recently expanded our checkout area to include another special express checkout to accommodate our customers on weekends and through the holidays.

We want to encourage you to ask our personnel should you have any questions concerning the location of specific items or any item we may not have, or anything, including ways in which we may serve you better.

We will attempt to obtain any item which we do not have.

Providing the largest selection and lowest prices has been, and will remain our objective. However, we are also dedicated to providing you the personal service that you should expect from a retail dealer.

So, if you have any questions, requests, suggestions, or complaints, please don't hesitate to bring them to our attention. Let Corral Liquors help you enjoy the coming holiday seasons.

7 Steelers in 3-mile state cross-country run

A veteran Elmhurst (York) team will be out to regain the throne of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) warrior kingdom this weekend when 228 runners — including teams from 26 schools — converge on Detweiller Park in Peoria for the 30th annual state cross-country meet.

The gun will be fired to start the three-mile race at 11 a.m. Saturday. A crowd of in excess of 6,000 is expected.

Pete Robinson is the Steeler cross-country coach. Defending champion Chicago Heights (Bloom), led by senior Dave Carrizales, and Downstate darkhorse Lebanon appear to be the teams blocking York's ascent back to the throne it gave up a year ago by five points.

Coach Joe Newton's York Dukes, however, appear ready to claim team title No. 7, and will be banking on a superb performance from senior Ron Craker, who rates as the preme favorite to claim individual laurels along with senior Dan Gilchrist of Rockford (East).

Should Craker take the No. 1 spot, it would be the first individual champion from York in history.

York waltzed through the Glen Ellyn (Glenbard West) sectional and was joined by Downers Grove (North) and Hinsdale (Central) — all three members of the West Suburban Conference — at Peoria. York scored 66 points to runnerup Downers Grove North's 95.

Craker covered the three-mile course in 14:38. Oswego's Dave Finnstad was second at 14:52.

The complete list of teams advancing to the state meet includes: Alton (Sr.), Belleville (West), Belvidere, Centralia, Champaign (Central), Chicago (Hartland), Chicago (Lane Tech), Chicago Hts. (Bloom), Danville (H.S.), Deerfield, Des Plaines (Maine West), Downers Grove (North), Elmhurst (York), Granite City (North), Harvey (Thornton), Hillside (Proviso West), Hinsdale (Central), Lebanon, Mattoon, Park Ridge (Maine East), Peoria (H.S.), Peoria (Academy-Spaulding), Peoria (Woodruff), Rockford (Thornton), Springfield (Lanphier) and Woodstock (Comm.).

In addition, 53 individuals who placed in the top 10 at the sectionals but who are not members of advancing teams will be on the starting line. Bloom also was impressive in winning the sectional title at Oak Park-River Forest with 69 points to runnerup Harvey (Thornton), which scored 91.

But the most devastating sectional effort was produced by Lebanon, which buried the field at Centralia with 24 points.

The Lebanon Greyhounds produced three of the top four

Closest sectional competition was at Lake Forest, where Coach Bill Barringer's Des Plaines (Maine West) team won by three points over co-runnerup Deerfield and Park Ridge (Maine East). Maine West scored 100 points to 103 for the other two. Waukegan (East) senior Dave Erdal took individual honors with a 14:44 effort over three miles.

Rockford (East) won the title at Princeton with 67 points. Surprising Peoria (Academy-Spaulding) took the Peoria sectional by six points at 80 over host Peoria (H.S.).

Granite City (North) was champion at Springfield (South) with three points (69-72) over Springfield (Lanphier). Danville (H.S.) took the Rantoul title easily with 97 points. Lane Tech continued its domination of the Chicago Public League with a 27-65 victory over Harlan.

A sleeper in the chase for individual honors is senior John Iabell of Farmington (East), who toured the Detweiller layout last Saturday in 14:41. Others to watch include: Lane Tech's Mike Hornbach, who won the Public League title in 14:24; Gilman's Reo Rorem, who took the Rantoul race in 15:11.3; Alton's Randy Alder, who won at Springfield in a course record 15:29; Tom Graves of Orland Park (Sandburg), who won at Oak Park-River Forest in 14:38.4; and Steve Chaplin of Glenview (Glenbrook South), who finished second at Lake Forest in 14:51.

Each team advancing to the state meet will send seven runners downhill off the starting line.

Only the top five finishers will be counted in the team scoring. Bloom won last year with 91 points. York was second at 96. Under Coach Newton, York has claimed six team titles since 1962. York won in 1962-63, 1971-72, 73.

Closest competition ever for the team title came in 1961, when Highland Park won at 96, Glen Ellyn (Glenbard West) was second at 97 and Evanston Bloom won last year with 91 points. York was second at 96. Under Coach Newton, York has claimed six team titles since 1962. York won in 1962-63, 1971-72, 73.

Judo students vie in tourney

Five members of the Tri-City Area YMCA Judo Club competed during the weekend in a judo tournament hosted by the Arnold, Mo., Judo Club. All five placed in the top four places of their age groups.

There were 100 participants from all over the metropolitan St. Louis area. Local entrants were:

Jo Lynn Roberts, yellow belt, 13-16 age group, 4th place.
Lori Malotki, purple belt, 13-16, 3rd place.

Bob Roberts, green belt, 11-12, 2nd place.
John Roberts, yellow belt, 9-10, 3rd place.

Jerry Birchler, green belt, 9-10, 2nd place.

The group meets as part of the advanced judo class taught at the "Y" by Len Fuchs, 2nd degree black belt.

The advanced and adult classes meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Beginning children's classes are offered after school and on Saturday mornings.

New classes will begin on Nov. 3.

Red Peppers' award program Saturday

The Granite City High School South Red Peppers will hold a new awards ceremony Saturday honoring the senior members of all fall athletic teams with humorous awards of merit.

The first such presentations will be made in the school cafeteria following the last football game of the season, to be played here beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday against East St. Louis.

There is a 50-cent charge for everyone except players. The event will include food, plus entertainment presented by the group.

There will be "We Love You Warriors." Football, soccer, cross-country and golf players will be saluted.

The Red Peppers is a school organization formed to support the Warrior athletic program.

A member must have 75 points to remain active. Points are given for attending games, with extra points for out-of-town games.

Points also are earned by attending regular meetings, plus committee meetings where signs and promotional devices are made; by selling programs at each game; by helping with athletic banquets, and by making scrapbooks.

Speedway fans aid family of officer slain at church

The Gateway Auto Racing Association (GARA) sanctioning, body of weekly motorsport events at Tri-City Speedway, has established a fund for the widow and six children of St. Louis Patrolman Louis D. Sebald, who was shot to death Oct. 5 while on assignment to protect 500 worshippers at services conducted at a St. Louis Catholic church.

Sebald, 46, was shot twice in the chest as he stood near the steps of the church shortly after 10 a.m., when he attempted to approach a man believed to be carrying a gun.

His wife, Anne Carol, has been employed for the past two years in the ticket office of Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Namekiki Road, 8733 Covington Court, St. Louis, Mo. 63144.

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville cross-country team showed improvement during the weekend as the Cougars finished eighth in Illinois Intercollegiate Championships at Champaign. The showing was two better than SIUE's performance in 1974, when the Cougars finished 10th.

Fifteen teams competed each year. The University of Illinois repeated as team champion with 26 points, while Eastern Illinois finished second with 61. SIUE had 214.

For the second straight week, junior Kevin Walker of St. Louis scored SIUE's individual runner. He finished 25th with a time of 25:29 over five miles. Sophomore Layne Law of Bethalto came in 40th at 25:56, while senior Mary Smith of Barnhart, Mo., was right behind (41st) at 25:57.

Freshman Dwayne Terry of Granite City placed 46th with a time of 26:04. Another freshman, Greg Mag of Edwardsville, finished 62nd with a time of 26:39.

The Cougars now take a long layoff to prepare for the St. Louis Collegiate Athletic Association (SLCAA) Championships. SIUE, the defending champion, will host the event at 11 a.m. Nov. 8.

South takes sub-sectional game 6-0, North wins by 4-0

Coach Gene Baker's soccer Warriors await the outcome of today's 3:30 p.m. contest between Assumption and Cahokia to see which of the two schools GCHS South will meet at 11 a.m. Saturday in South High's sub-sectional final on the Warrior field near Fehling Road.

Gibault, Waterloo and Waterloo High School met in the first game Tuesday of South's sub-sectional, with Gibault emerging the victor 1-0 on an unassisted goal by Tim Birk after 2:15 of the first quarter. Gibault advanced into a second game yesterday against the host Warriors, losing 6-0 to South.

"Rich Becherer had a fantastic game," says Baker. "He assisted on three of our goals." After playing a scoreless first quarter, David Goldschmidt, assisted by Rick Fernandez, gave South a 1-0 lead with a goal after 2:13 of the second period. Greg Feigl made it 2-0 after 4:20 of the same quarter on an assist by Becherer.

The Warriors put the ball into Gibault's net three times in the third period, Becherer assisting on two when he kicked the ball from the corner of the field, near the opposing goal, to near the mouth of the net, where teammates headed it in for the score.

Becherer first assisted Mark Goldschmidt after 4:30 of the quarter. A goal by Fernandez was assisted by Mark Goldschmidt at 5:25. Becherer repeated the corner kick feat to Feigl after 11:53 of the period. David Goldschmidt put the game away after 3:13 of the final period with 32 shots to the visitors' three.

The Warriors peppered Gibault's net with 32 shots to the visitors' three. Randy Lyerla was credited with one save, and Gibault's goalie with 10. Fouls were even at 11 apiece.

The victor of Saturday's contest will advance to a sectional title game Tuesday, Nov. 4, against the winner of GCHS North's sub-sectional final contest, to be played Saturday between the Steelers and Collinsville.

Tuesday's sectional victor (North High is defending sectional champion) will advance to the state tournament at Illinois State University at Normal Nov. 7.

Cherry Sharp scores goal in field hockey win

The SIUE women's field hockey Cougars added two more losses and a win to their record, which now stands at 4-8, when they lost 3-0 to the Southwestern Mo. State Cougars in a weekend doubleheader at Carbondale, and gained a 2-0 win there.

Against SIUC, the Cougars were only one point behind at the end of the first half. The first goal for Carbondale was scored by Helen Meyer.

The Cougars made an all-out effort to tie the score, but it wasn't their day. Early in the second half, a goal scored by Pat Metcalf, upped Carbondale's lead to 2-0.

The Cougars, still trying to catch up, were again set back by Judy Seeger, who scored the final two goals of the game, helping give Carbondale a record of 13-2-1.

The weekend wasn't a total loss for the Cougars. They won 2-0 against the SIUC Adult Club. Cougar left wing Cherry Sharp of Granite City scored the first goal during the first half. The other goal was by Jane O'Laughlin of Edwardsville.

Flyers here for South grid finale Saturday

GCHS South hopes of completing its 1975 grid schedule with a winning record depends on the Warriors' performance Saturday against the East St. Louis Flyers in a 1:30 p.m. season-ending contest at the Granite City Stadium. South has a 4-4 record and East St. Louis is 1-4-1.

The Flyers can be described as a "cinderella" team turned into a "pumpkin."

Last year, the Flyers captured their fourth straight Southwestern Conference crown and placed second in the Class 5A state football playoff.

Now, starting the season with only two of last year's 22 starting players, East St. Louis is winless against conference foes except for a forfeit from Cahokia.

The Flyers against non-conference foes lost 7-0 to East St. Louis Lincoln and tied 12-12 with Kansas City Lincoln.

A team that until this year had lost only one conference game in four seasons, East St. Louis bowed 31-28 to Collinsville, 34-7 to Belleville East, 27-6 to Edwardsville, 28-7 to Belleville West and 17-12 last Saturday to Alton.

Barry Crayton, a 6-2, 190-pound senior, and Anthony Green, a 6-1, 180-pound junior, are the only returning offensive starters.

Against SIUC, the Cougars were only one point behind at the end of the first half. The first goal for Carbondale was scored by Helen Meyer.

25 volleyball teams

Twenty-five teams, 10 more than last year, have registered for participation in the Granite City Park District Couples' and Women's Volleyball League programs.

The season was to have started Wednesday, Nov. 5, at the Lincoln Place Community Center.

But due to refinishing of the courts there, the estimated date for starting competition has been changed to Sunday, Nov. 9.

Quarterback Ralph Boyd, a 165-pound junior, hit David Jones with a 49-yard pass play which set up a TD against Alton.

Green recovered an Alton fumble, which led to a one-yard TD plunge by Darrell Miner.

South's independent Warriors have defeated two conference teams which downed the Flyers. South High won 14-7 over Collinsville and 20-18 over Alton after having won 27-0 over Cahokia.

Quarterback Bryan Bunjan has completed 25 of 94 pass attempts for 472 yards, with Senior Joe Ward on the receiving end 11 times for 276 yards and four touchdowns.

Senior End Jim Jackson has caught eight Bunjan airmails for 150 yards.

Ward has rushed 68 times to gain 317 of the Warriors' total of 1,014 ground yards. Senior Halfback Alan Benko heads South ground gains with 385 yards on 115 carries. Senior Fullback Frank Barunich has 287 yards on 73 runs.

Football Steelers at Mattoon Friday night

GCHS North's Steelers will travel to Mattoon tomorrow for a 7:30 p.m. gridiron contest with the Green Wave, a member of the Class 4A Big 12 Conference.

Mattoon has done a complete "about face" this season in high school football, with a 1-7 record. In 1973, Mattoon was conference champion, and in 1974 it was co-champion.

The Green Wave suffered its only defeat last year at the hands of the Steelers, 27-20 in a game in which North limited its foe to 94 yards rushing.

Mattoon won its first game of this season last Friday with a 14-6 conference victory over Bloomington.

The win came on the heels of losses by 16-0 to Decatur MacArthur, 38-12 to Paris, 16-0 to Champaign Central 35-6 to Danville, 32-16 to Lincoln, Ill., 35-3 to Springfield and 35-12 to Urbana.

North Quarterback Greg Corey has netted the Steelers 1,019 yards with 72 of 135 completions in the air, including eight touchdowns. Senior Larry Schleicher has caught 38 for 489 yards and two TD's.

Bruce Jateff, a 6-4 and 185-pound junior, has earned 366 of North High's 988 yardage total on the ground. Leo Pelek, Bruce Wright and Schleicher have combined for the remaining yardage.

Injured David Kwiatkowski, out for the season, pulled in 19 airmails for 250 yards.

An organizational meeting is to be held at 7:30 this evening at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin Avenues.

Teams wishing to compete in the park district's four-league program for boys and women will be registered. The season begins Saturday, Nov. 29.

A $58-per-team registration fee is required in Church, Classic and Women's leagues, while the fee for participation in a high-school-age league is $40.

HOUSE BURGLARY
A radio, a phonograph and a tape player were stolen from the home of Leonard Morgan, 1734 Cleveland Blvd., during a burglary reported at 1:05 p.m. Thursday. An unlocked window on the west side of the house was opened to gain entry.

Madison team to play at Jerseyville Friday

The Trojans of Madison High will attempt to gain their third straight football win at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the expense of the Jerseyville Panthers, at Jerseyville.

Madison enters the contest with a 4-5 record, having defeated DeAranda 20-14, Columbia 28-6, Hardin 22-12 and Mater Dei of Breese 20-12.

Jerseyville, a member of the Mississippi Valley Conference, has a 2-6 record (2-4 in conference play), earning its victories with wins over Beahm 14-8 and Triad 27-6.

The Panthers have lost to Alton Marquette 26-14, Mississippi 27-7, O'Fallon 22-14, Roxana 40-12, Wood River 34-6 and last weekend to Highland 28-7.

Jerseyville favors an aerial attack, a mixture of quarterback and halfback option throws, as compared to Madison's running game.

Quarterback Jim Egelhoff has thrown six TD passes, four going to Dennis Bridgewater and two to Mark Vansandol. The latter has also been on the receiving end of two halfback option throws for touchdowns.

"Jerseyville," says Trojan mentor Al Vonder Haar, "is a sound club. Its fullbacks can block as well as they run, and there's good size on the front line."

Trojan Guard Cedric Wilson is back on the gridiron. A 5-9, 230-pound senior, he was injured a month ago.

"With Wilson recovered," adds Vonder Haar, "we can rush a little better, and also move our tackles around whenever needed."

Dwight Chillers of MHS has been eating up the gridiron in rushing, gaining 552 yards in 75 carries. Pete Pecurka has netted 181 yards on 51 carries. Quarterback Mike Woods 133 on 38 carries, and Duane Bochman 111 yards on 28 runs.

Madison has racked up 1,553 yards on the ground and 454 in the air. Chillers leads the school in scoring with six TDs, and Woods has scored four times.

Four participating teams of the Granite City Little Rascals Boys' Tackle Football Club will conclude their 1975 season Sunday with two games at home and two on the road—Hempstead and Wood River.

The Pee Wee North Division squad will host the Dupo Quarterbacks at 1:15 p.m. and the Midget North Division squad will host Edwardsville at 3 p.m.

On the road, the Junior Pee Wee Division team will play the Boosters of Dupo at noon, and the Midget Central Division team will play the Boosters of Dupo at 3:30 p.m.

GCHS North and Collinsville will square off against each other Saturday at 2 p.m. on Steeler field to decide a sub-sectional soccer survivor, with the winner advancing to sectional competition Tuesday, Nov. 4, at GCHS South.

The Collinsville Kahoks opened sub-sectional competition at North High Tuesday with a 7-0 victory over Alton on the strength of three goals by Steve Locandro. And North's Steelers yesterday topped St. Paul of Highland 4-0.

Steeler Greg Ely, on a diagonal pass to midfield from Kevin Gavlick, broke between two defenders, pushed the ball with his chest and then power-kicked it into St. Paul's net 10 minutes into the first quarter.

"The contest bogged down at midfield after Ely scored," said North Coach Bob Kehoe. "The Steelers totaled 13 shots on St. Paul's goal, and the opponents three. North Goalkeeper Rick Demaree was credited with one save and St. Paul's goalie with two. Fouls also were low, North 14 and St. Paul 9."

Steeler Perry Hartwick next broke the ice four minutes into the final period.

"Hartwick and Gavlick," said Kehoe, "teamed for a series of six straight passes between them, confusing defenders."

Hartwick broke clear between St. Paul's defenders and the net, pushing the ball into the right corner for a 2-0 game lead.

Dave Robertson picked up the scoring pace eight minutes into the period, scoring from 20 yards out with a running kick. Goalie Demaree got the assist.

"Seldom does a goalkeeper assist on a goal," noted Kehoe, "but Demaree cleared the ball away from our net with a 60-yard kick and Robertson took it in."

Hartwick got his second goal 11 minutes into the final period after taking a pass from Robertson. He positioned himself between the defenders and St. Paul's net, showing the ball forward slightly to draw the goalie out of position, and kicked it into the corner.

"Saturday's contest could be as close as the game," says Kehoe. "Collinsville is quick and handles the ball well."

In the regular season, the Kahoks defeated North High 2-0 and then the two schools played to a scoreless tie in double overtime.

Courts too lenient? Verdict still out, but probations are frequent Sentences given by Madison County Circuit Court judges in some felony cases have led many in the law enforcement field to ask whether the Third Judicial Circuit has been more lenient than other circuit courts in sentencing.

Circuit judges deny that the court here is more lenient, noting that sentencing is the sole responsibility of the judge and a decision must be rendered only after numerous factors are weighed carefully.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr of the Third Circuit told the Press-Record Tuesday that all associate judges and circuit judges in the circuit need to continue to use good judgement and not let criticism of light sentences cause them to issue stronger sentences.

He said several sentences from the circuit have been overturned at the appeal level, as the Appellate Court "simply felt the sentences were too strong, and lowered them."

Circuit Judge Moses Harrison said judges here have a heavy caseload and may not always have a complete profile of a person before sentencing.

"As a judge, you have to rely upon the lawyers—the state's attorney's office and the defense attorney—who, we assume, are honorable men," Harrison said.

In one recent case, a young Granite City man who had pleaded guilty in St. Clair County Circuit Court to shooting and injuring two men later withdrew his guilty plea and is set for trial.

Shortly after withdrawing his guilty plea in St. Clair County, he came to a hearing in Madison County on a burglary charge, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve two years of probation.

Thurl Jones, head of the county's probation department, which conducts all pre-sentence investigations for the circuit judges, said he does not recall his department being asked to conduct such an investigation in that case.

Judge Harrison explained that pre-sentence investigations usually are ordered by the judge after either a guilty plea or a guilty verdict, but are not mandatory.

If it is up to the judge to determine if such a report should be made, he said.

If the defendant and the defense attorney waive a pre-sentence investigation, the judge can bypass it and pronounce sentence, without knowing the history of the defendant.

Judge Harrison said he could not discuss details of the particular case mentioned, because it is within the period for appeal and legally is still an open case.

He said judges usually are provided with a "rap" sheet early in any case which shows all dispositions of previous charges against a defendant.

A "rap" sheet, would not, however, alert the judge that a serious case was presently pending against the defendant elsewhere, since there had been no final disposition of the charges.

Chief Judge Barr said he does not feel that pending cases should be considered during sentencing, since the defendant may be found innocent in the pending case.

Judge Harrison said the determination of proper sentences "is generally a concern of the judiciary and the bar in Madison County."

"It would be difficult to set up uniform sentencing, since every case and every individual is different."

"Sentencing is always the most difficult part of any case," he added.

Judge Harrison noted that he discusses many cases with other circuit judges to get their ideas of what would be a fair sentence.

"That is provided by statute, and I feel it is a good thing," he commented.

He said sentences must consider the welfare of the individual as well as the welfare of the rest of society.

"No decision is made that is not subject to review by a higher court, and the Circuit Court must take that into consideration," he added.

Judge, Judge Harrison said, in defense of judges serving in the criminal division, Chief of Police Ronald Veizer of Granite City says he feels that sentences recently have been "more than fair to all concerned." Sentences by judges formerly in the criminal division which have drawn criticism include the granting of probation to defendants in several felony cases who already were on probation; probation for one woman and conditional discharge for another in two forgery cases; and one-year probation and a $1,000 fine for a woman who admitted keeping a place of prostitution and soliciting.

National Steel earnings down; federal steel price policy assailed

National Steel Corporation earned $7,578,049, or 40 cents per share, during the third quarter. It was announced Monday afternoon by George A. Stinson, chairman and president.

Granite City Steel is a division of National Steel.

For the first nine months of 1975, earnings totaled $43,502,116, or $2.33 per share.

On a quarterly and nine-month basis, respectively, these earnings were 89 per cent and 68 per cent below those of comparable periods in 1974, the corporation said.

"Steel production and shipments were at historic low levels of the last decade," Stinson said in Pittsburgh. "Prices of the bulk of our shipments were unchanged from those of mid-1974.

"Costs continued to rise, even though at a somewhat slower pace than in recent years."

"The natural consequence of these factors was that profitability in the third quarter slipped to minimal levels."

"The demand for the light steels for consumer goods this year through the third quarter has been lower, comparatively, than that for heavier steels for the durable goods markets. Since the bulk of our steel goes to consumer goods, we have been impacted severely."

"Now, however, the consumer goods situation is in the process of reversing its downturn. Consequently, we look forward to strengthening demand for our light flat-rolled steels as we approach the year-end and survey prospects for 1976," Chairman Stinson said.

"The low production and shipping rates of our steelmaking operations account, in major part, for the decrease in profits."

"Steel operations absorbed the brunt of mounting cost increases with no price increases in our principal products — sheet steels — since July 1, 1974.

"These prices now have been increased, effective Oct. 1, 1975, but are still substantially below our cost increases over this same period."

"Other divisions of the corporation, including raw materials, service centers, fabrication operations, merchant pig iron and aluminum operations, continue to continue to contribute importantly to our operating profits."

"Low profit levels for steel mill products pose major problems for our company, as well as for the entire steel industry, since the cash flow which they are generating is well below levels required to support needed capital spending."

"Although this fact has been widely noted and repeatedly communicated to government policy agencies, it deserves further emphasis to all who use and depend on steel."

"It will serve only the most shortsighted objectives for the government, as indicated by its recent action on steel prices, to place steel once again in the cost-price squeeze we experienced from August 1971 to May 1974."

"If continued, this can cause a repetition of the dismay and worse which the steel shortages of 1973 and 1974 brought in the market place."

"Primary steel production was 1,950,000 tons during the third quarter, 28 per cent below that of the third 1974 quarter."

For the nine months, production by National Steel totaled 6,561,300 tons, 19 per cent below 1974.

Shipments amounted to 1,573,200 tons for the third 1975 quarter, or 29 per cent below the comparable 1974 quarter."

For the first nine months of 1975, shipments totaled 4,723,000 tons, 31 per cent below last year."

Investment credit for the third 1975 quarter was $2,500,000, and for the nine months, $7,500,000.

Burglary at boat shop

A quantity of tools was stolen during a burglary at Granite City Boat & Motor, 2404 Madison Ave., which was reported at 8:10 a.m. Tuesday. A hole was cut in the chain-link fence at the rear of the building beside the alley to gain entry to the yard. A window on the lower right side of an overhead door to the garage was broken and the door was opened.

Footprints near the fence indicated a burglar made several trips in and out of the yard, carrying the stolen items. Taken were an assortment of hand tools, a tool box containing wrenches and sockets, four drills, a large tool tray, a cylinder honing machine for motors and other items.

Taken from jail to hospital following fall

Aaron Wilson, 25, of 2260 State St., was charged with illegal possession of marijuana after Granite City police alleged finding less than 30 grams of marijuana in his possession at his home at 4:35 p.m. Monday. Officers said they were at Wilson's home with his permission when he was asked to open his pockets and handed officers a bag of marijuana.

He was taken to the Madison Jail while the Granite City Jail was being painted. At 7:50 p.m. Monday he was taken by ambulance from the jail to St. Elizabeth Hospital after slipping and aggravating a former back injury. He was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Brewer reappointed

The reappointment of Monroe Brewer as city engineer was announced by Mayor Paul Schuler during a regular council meeting Monday night. The council concurred unanimously in the appointment.

Brewer was named city engineer in October, 1973, and was reappointed in 1974.

CAR STOLEN, FOUND

Ray McGeehan, Cahokia, told police at 8 p.m. Monday that his car was stolen from the 1800 block of State Street. Police found the car about 10 minutes later, abandoned at Propes Avenue and Kate Street. McGeehan said he left something inside a business and left his car's motor running while he ran inside for a moment. When he returned, the car was gone.

Action Classes at St. Peters

The second series of "action classes" will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, according to the Rev. Robert Kettlehut, pastor. Three separate classes are being offered, each for eight weeks. The first series concluded last Sunday. Residents of the community are invited to attend the sessions arranged for senior high youth and adults. There is no fee or advance registration, the minister said.

Classes offered are, "Look Out Your Window," current social problems and the Christian response. Duward Cook, retired senior engineer with Southwestern Bell Telephone will be the group leader. Films depicting current social problems along with excerpts from speeches of famous men and women will be used during the classes. The second class will be "As It Was, As It Is," a study of church history and its relationship to world history with particular emphasis on the bicentennial observance. Carl Pelzer, student associate at St. Peter and a student at Eden Seminary, St. Louis, will be the group leader. The third series of classes will be "Prophecy and Fulfillment," a biblical study on the Old Testament and New Testament

Central Methodist hosts homecoming

The Rev. Gene Stevenson, pastor of The Central Free Methodist Church, now located at 4150 South St., Pontoon Beach, announced plans for an all-day homecoming observance set Sunday at the church. The program will begin with Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. and worship services at 10:40 a.m. 12:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall, the minister reported. Gospel singing featuring the "Unbroken Circle" singers will take place from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, to conclude the event. The homecoming marks the 57th anniversary of the church which was organized in 1918.

HIS GRACE BISHOP SIMEON on the Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, right, attends a planning meeting at Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, Madison, in preparation for the first "Youth Festival" in the metropolitan St. Louis area for all Orthodox churches in the United States. The three-day event, scheduled Nov. 28-30 at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel, will be sponsored by the Madison church, the

Temple Baptist to hear Rev. Bray

Temple Baptist Church, 714 McCambridge Ave., Madison, will hold a series of evangelistic services beginning at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and continuing throughout next week. The services will conclude Sunday, Nov. 9, during the morning worship hour at 10:40, according to host pastor, the Rev. Jack L. Gony. The visiting evangelist will be the Rev. Thomas Bray, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Fredericktown, Mo. He is the former pastor of the West 22nd Baptist Church of Granite City. The Rev. Gony said the public is invited to attend the week-long services.

Peasant bazaar Saturday

New and unusual items will be offered for sale to the public by United Presbyterian Women at their annual "peasant bazaar" in the Fellowship Hall at the First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, Saturday. Doors will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., during which time sandwiches, salad and home-made pie will be served. "There will be quality gifts and stocking-stuffers, including a variety of unique hand-painted, hand-sewn articles, afghans, and holiday decorations," a spokesman said. "The trimmings will include sparkling cherubs, angels, animals, clothespin dolls, Raggedy Ann and Andy, brightly colored toy soldiers. There also will be dolls dressed in handknit outfits or ruffles and lace, plus casserole carriers, yardstick holders, stuffed animals and more. "Bicentennial features will be sunbonnets for grandmother or the little one, and patchwork aprons and cushions. A "white elephant" table is planned, and there will be home-made bread, cakes, pies and candy.

"Proceeds will be used for charitable causes in the local area."

CAREERS SEMINAR

The second annual Chemistry Careers Seminar, sponsored by the American Chemical Society (ACS) student affiliate chapters of Illinois Wesleyan and Illinois State universities, will be held Nov. 8 in the University Union at ISU, Normal. The program, which will start at 9 a.m. with registration, will feature Dr. L. Carroll King, associate professor of chemistry at Northwestern University.

16th annual awards banquet for divers

A poolside setting is arranged for the 16th annual awards banquet of the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club of Granite City.

The gala event will be staged at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Collinsville Holiday Inn on Route 157.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock in the large carpeted area around the indoor pool, according to planning committee members. A cocktail hour is set from 6 to 7 p.m.

Upon arrival at the party, members will be given official ballots to vote for the club's 1976 officers, including president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and recording secretary.

Indications are the election will be highly competitive once again, with most offices contested. D. L. "Whitey" Morrison, the current president, advised. Election results will be announced following dinner, he said.

From 8 to 9 p.m. the annual awards program will take place, with divers honored for achievements during the past season. Among the honors bestowed each fall are Diver of the Year and Spearfisherman of the Year.

The club's top 10 diving specialists, whose accumulative point totals will determine the trophy winners, are Don Digrolamo, Phil Lamm, Wally Marzuff, Rich Grizzard, Larry Earney, Dave Davis, Vance Weiss, Eddie DePew, Ron Ruppel and Bob Burns.

Dancing to the music of Rosenkranz and Gilderleeve will continue the evening's festivities until 1 a.m.

October activities of the local scuba club included the annual picnic, fish fry and hayride at the country home of Jack and Mary Lou Richardson, north of Edwardsville, and a winner roast and party at the home of Greg and Tommy Adams in Roxana.

Morrison also announced the winners of a recent intra-club contest. They are: Dee Adams, who received a 72-cubic foot K-valve diving tank; Earney Harries, spear gun; Chris Geroff, Bill and Mary Brannan and Kent Speers, divers' lights; and Bob Burns, Fred Pinazzo, Tony Gray, Dave Davis and John Sabo, professional diving knives.

New members of the club are Michael John McGowan of St. Louis, Arnold Saunders of Godfrey and Max Legate and Paul Speers (associate), both of Granite City.

300 attend open house at Wilson

Close to 300 attended an open house and bake sale last week at Wilson School, organized by the Wilson Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Linda McGee and Mrs. Barbara McCaskey, co-chairmen, announced a total of $339 was realized from the sale, with the funds earmarked for various projects involving Wilson pupils throughout the year.

Mrs. Diane Morthland, membership chairman, reported a total of 174 PTA members, including 100 per cent enrollment of faculty members at the Wilson building.

At the open house Mrs. Nancy Graf, school nurse, offered blood pressure readings to those attending, and a Bicentennial film, made by fifth grade students under the supervision of Mrs. Maxine Borchers, was shown.

'Dracula, Baby' musical this weekend

"Dracula, Baby," a musical comedy, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Saturday and 7:15 p.m. Sunday by the East Bank Players, the Quad-City area's theatrical group.

The satirical production, appropriate to the current Halloween season, will be staged at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St. The public is invited to attend.

Tickets, costing $2 for adults and $1 for senior citizens, students and children, may be obtained from Players' members in advance; at the door before each performance, or by calling Cathy Casey, at 877-8753, or Bill Dallas, at 877-6995.

The stage presentation is an official Performing Arts Event sponsored by the Bicentennial Commission of Granite City.

Mrs. Norma Mendoza is directing the unusual comedy. Musical director for the show is Mrs. Cassy and Lisa Garcia is choreographer.

Principal characters will be portrayed by Dan McGee (Count Dracula); Jim Fensterman (Dr. Von Helsing); Michael Tharp (Dr. Seward); John Payne (Renfield); Donna Vail (Lucy); Mark Stephens (Arthur); Beverly Addington (Sylvia) and Carmen Byrne (Nurse).

viewed a physical education movie and an exhibition of exercises in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Dorothy Baker, PTA president, said the unit's executive board will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the school to plan the general membership meeting, scheduled Nov. 18.

REHEARSING THEIR ROLES for the East Bank Players' seasonal comedy—"Dracula, Baby"—are, left to right, Jim Fensterman (Dr. Von Helsing), Mark Stephens (Arthur), John Payne (Renfield), Michael Tharp (Dr. Seward) and Carmen Byrne (Nurse). A beaten Dracula in the foreground is Dan McGee. Performances of the "ghoulish but humorous musical" will be given at 8:15 p.m. Saturday and 7:15 p.m. Sunday in the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St. Tickets, priced at $2 and $1 may be obtained at the door on show nights.

National honors for Mrs. Mauck

Mrs. Catherine Mauck, University of Illinois extension adviser in Madison County, will be honored by the National Association of Extension Home Economists during its annual meeting ending tomorrow in Knoxville, Tenn.

She will receive the Distinguished Service Award. It recognizes "exceptional program development and dynamic leadership" by advisers who have worked in home economics extension education for at least 10 years.

In announcing the award, Dr. Constance McKenna, assistant director of the Cooperative Extension Service, said the programs directed by Mrs. Mauck emphasize family stability, consumer education, health, housing and community development and are a good example of "extension as a catalyst in developing community programs."

Mrs. Mauck pioneered work in local leadership development in Madison County. Over a 15-year period, she trained local homemakers Extension Association volunteer leaders, who in turn have reached 1,200 women in 30 series of workshops, many of them for limited-income people.

Classes were expanded to include Economic Opportunity Centers, senior citizen groups and the Alton State Hospital day center.

The organized and set up day center. She also served as the Madison County Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program in 1969 and was instrumental in establishing the Consumer and Homemaking Education Program in 1974.

These programs employ para-professionals to do one-to-one training and small group teaching with homemakers in Venice, Madison, Granite City and Alton.

In addition to conducting the programs being recognized by NAEHE, Mrs. Mauck directs a "multi-faceted, well-balanced extension program," says Dr. McKenna.

"She merits special recognition for her ability to marshal available resources in response to the needs of local people."

Seniors to host autumn dinner

The More The Merrier Senior Citizens Club met at the Senior Citizens Center, 1500 Edison Ave., for a pot luck dinner with 30 members attending.

John Winklemier, president, conducted the business meeting. He led a discussion for plans of a Thanksgiving dinner at the center on Nov. 13.

Dinner will be served at 5 p.m. with the turkey and trimmings furnished. Each member is to bring a covered dish and his own table service. Reservations for the event are due at the center no later than Friday, Nov. 7.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION behind Corral Liquors on Nameoki Road north of Johnson Road is a new lounge, which is to be named the OK Corral. The facility, which has come under fire from the Granite City Council and adjoining residents, is to be one of the largest lounges in this part of the country, according to its owner, B. C. Gitcho. He contends criticism of the facility's drainage and other considerations are unfounded.

Energy hearing here Nov. 13

Representative Joe E. Lucco, Edwardsville, has announced that the Illinois Energy Resources Commission will hold a hearing in Granite City on Thursday, Nov. 13. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in the Granite City council room at 2000 Edison Ave.

The meeting will be chaired by Representative Adeline Geor-Karis. Lucco is a member of the commission.

The purpose of the hearing is to hear witnesses on behalf of any form of alternate energy to help meet the present and future energy crisis. Especially to be discussed is the proposed pilot plant under consideration at Wood River. This is a plant to use coal in the development of electrical energy.

Anyone wishing to give testimony in regards to any proposed sources of energy such as coal, oil, gas, wind, fossil fuel, nuclear, solar, etc., is welcome, Lucco said.

Upper Level disco opens in Downtown

The Upper Level discotheque and lounge, 1900 State St., has opened under the management of Joseph W. Stemmer Jr.

Owned by Joseph W. Stemmer Sr., owner-operator of Joseph's School of Hair Fashion, the Quad-Cities' newest lounge is located in a second floor fully carpeted area, occupied at one time by Granite City Moose Lodge 272.

Stemmer said the lounge operates seven days a week with a D. J. present Wednesday through Sunday. Hours are from 4:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. Sunday through Thursday and 4:30 p.m. until 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

A policy of the discotheque offers unescorted women beverages for 50 cents at all times and drinks for 50 cents each to all patrons between the hours of 4:30 and 7:30 p.m., Stemmer said.

Birthday party for Shawn Hayes

Shawn Hayes was honored on his second birthday last week at a party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hayes, 2520 Roney Drive.

Guests attending were the honoree's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horn and Mrs. Dorothy Hayes; and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Horn and children, Steven and Michael; Mr. and Mrs. William Black and children, Misty and William; Phillip Hayes, Ed Parkinson and Robby Hayes.

The hosts served a dessert course after the small honoree opened his gifts.

its infancy into its present role during the 10 years he guided its staff.

"As far as I am concerned, no one could have done a better job, with more meaningful results, than you have," he told Moody.

The board congratulated Moody on his selection to head a planning division of a private Chicago consulting firm and gave him a round of applause for his Gateway service.

Moody told the directors he has attended 105 board meetings and has gained a great many friends in this region. "The memories I have of here will always be cherished," Moody told the board.

Alan Richter is the acting executive director.

During its business session, the board approved a plan to create a non-profit organization to serve as a health systems agency for the metropolitan area; asked that a representative of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers explain at the next meeting why planning funds are being diverted from American Bottoms groundwater problems into planning in other areas; and agreed to create a committee to study the financial problems of bridges over the Mississippi River and to discuss alternatives for relief.

An annual budget and contribution schedule were approved, continuing the contribution from each participating governmental body at eight cents per capita, the same rate as for the past five years.

STALLINGS FARM. This 1870s sketch shows the farm place of William Stallings here. The site was described as six miles east of Venice on the Edwardsville-St. Louis Road. Motor vehicles had not yet been invented, and horses were a key means of transportation for both people and supplies.

Plank road attracts early settlers, school, churches

Third article by Mrs. Georgia Engelke on the history of the local community, initially known as Six Mile Prairie. The National Road, center of transportation here, served as a wagon route connecting with the East and the West. Stage coaches ran between St. Louis and Terre Haute, Ind., and cattle were driven to Venice and transferred across the Mississippi River to St. Louis. There were famous taverns and inns where stage coaches made overnight stops. The "Six Mile House" and the "Western" were well known to travelers.

The Western was located near the Mississippi. The plank road was 100 feet wide in this area and was called "The National Way." There were two livery stables which supplied horses and vehicles, three general stores and two blacksmith shops. The first brick house in this area was built by Robert Whiteside in 1820. It stood near where Granite City Steel stands today.

Henry Stallings came to Six Mile Prairie in 1833. He started out with one horse and one yoke of oxen.

It wasn't long until he was able to buy a tract of land and became one of the largest stock growers in this part of the country.

He sometimes drove 2,500 hogs to the St. Louis market at one time.

Popcorn for Halloween

Contrary to tradition, where police cars were feared by many youngsters on Halloween night, Madison County Sheriff's Department patrol cars will have something to offer children Friday afternoon and evening—free cheese popcorn. Madison County Sheriff John Maeras announced this week that the Madison County Sheriff's Association has purchased a large supply of popcorn for deputies to carry in their squad cars Halloween night.

Children who see a sheriff's patrol car in the uniformed dress after 4 p.m. Friday are being asked to "flag down" the car so the deputy can give them popcorn.

Maeras commented, "Unfortunately, in the past, the actions of a few youngsters bent on vandalism, gave a bad name to all trick or treaters. The sheriff's department recognizes that the majority of the youngsters out on Halloween night are not engaged in the destruction of property and my department, and the deputies' association has initiated this program to reward those youngsters."

"I heartily endorse the idea and hope that as many children as possible will stop our patrol cars for a treat on Halloween," Maeras said, noting the popcorn will be distributed until it is gone.

Leo Club organized by Madison Lions

The Madison Lions Club has organized a youth organization known as the Leo Club for boys and girls ages 12 to 21.

The purpose of the club is to promote service activities among the youth of the community which are designed to develop the individual qualities of leadership, experience and opportunity.

At the group's first meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Lion Phil Barnett, 1825 Sixth St., Madison, officers elected were Joe Karius, president, and Patty Winkle, vice-president. Michelle Clark, secretary; Shirley Barnett, treasurer; and Billy Bush, Rene Clark and Tina Winkle, directors.

Al Hudzik, president of the Madison Lions, appointed Barnett and Pete Kosciuszko to serve as Leo Club advisers.

Leo Clubs are sponsored by local Lions clubs in every state in the nation and in 28 foreign countries. Any young person interested in joining the club is asked to call Adviser Barnett at 451-7958 for more information.

The new club will meet every Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in Barnett's home.

Dave Clark, former president of the Madison Lions, is Leo Club chairman for District I-G. Members of the Madison Leo Club will attend a meeting Monday evening with Clark to help start a Leo Club in Stanton.

New rule lowers curfew age limit by one year

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois curfew laws recently have been eased. It is now illegal for anyone under 17 years of age to be in any public place, including buildings, streets or highways between midnight and 6 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, and between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. the rest of the week, unless the 17 year old is accompanied by a parent, legal guardian or someone at least 18 years old who has been approved by the parent or guardian.

Previous curfew regulations applied to persons up to 18 years of age, and set 21 years as the minimum age for an adult approved by the parents or guardian who would be acceptable as a responsible companion.

There are some exceptions to the rule — youngsters under 17 may be in certain public places by themselves if they are engaged in certain businesses or occupations which, under Illinois laws, they are allowed to perform even though under 17.

For instance, according to Illinois State Police, a boy or girl carrying a newspaper route in the mornings might be out alone delivering papers before 6 a.m., without violating the curfew laws. The curfew violation can be a two-pronged affair, according to state police. If a youngster under 17 is violating the curfew laws and is driving an auto on what otherwise would be a valid driver's license, the license also is invalid during that period.

However, a youngster 16 years old with a valid Illinois driver's license, and driving between midnight and 6 a.m. on a Saturday or Sunday, with a parent, legal guardian or a duly approved 18-year-old present in the car, would not be violating the curfew laws and would, if stopped for a traffic or other offense, have a valid driver's license.

In Illinois, driving without a valid license is considered a serious offense, but the regulations governing young drivers in violation of curfew laws specifically state that the violation, in this case, be considered only a petty offense.

Violation of the state curfew laws also is a petty offense carrying a fine of $10 to $100.

Under the laws, a parent or guardian who knowingly permits a youngster under 17 years of age to violate the curfew regulations is also guilty of violating the curfew laws, and also is subject to a fine.

Ireland is class topic

The Philathes Class met in the parlor of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church last week to view a demonstration on floral arrangements. Refreshments were served by hostesses, Gussie Pender, Susie Kniffen, and Lucy Weaver.

Miss Ella Ray Smith, president, introduced Ella Herring of Herring Flowers and Gifts, who gave a demonstration of several types of floral arrangements. She used variations of the triangular type, the crescent form and the nosegay. Mrs. Pearl Campbell won one of the floral pieces as a prize, and Herring presented each lady with a peppermint carnation.

For devotions, Mrs. Mary Hiller read the 1st Psalm. Mrs. Josephine Ramsey gave the treasurer's report and Miss Smith gave the Baraca-Philathes News.

The group decided to send $15 as a birthday gift to Tower House, the headquarters of the World Wide Baraca-Philathes Union.

Mrs. Emma Schoen reviewed her tour of the British Isles and showed items that had been brought from there. This included a piece of heather from the hills of Scotland.

She appreciated the friendliness of the people who wouldn't "just tell how to reach a certain place, but would take you there." She outlined what impressed her most at Westminster Abbey, Coventry Cathedral, Bladen, where Winston Churchill is buried, and Abbotsford, where Sir Walter Scott had lived.

The last night on the tour was the most noteworthy, said Mrs. Schoen. The group attended a medieval banquet at Knappogue Castle in County Clare, Ireland, where the Irish built for protection in 1467 when the Norman forces were striving to subdue them.

Following the banquet, Mrs. Schoen said a pageant of Knappogue traced the history of Ireland, beginning with the Celts in 300 B.C. through the fight for independence in 1916. The script for the drama was written by Bryan MacMahon, Irish playwright and novelist. The music, recitation, and dance made the joys and suffering of the Irish people seem very real.

Amvet Post 51 enrolls five

Five new members were welcomed at a meeting last week of Amvets Post 51 held at the post clubhouse, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Commander Adam Petras presided and introduced new members, Eugene Mitchell, Fred Champion, Allan Bridgeman, Melvin Durham and Richard Robertson.

A financial report was given by Ben Sanders, and Floyd Tucker, membership chairman, announced 1976 dues are now payable.

Leo Clements and Rex Manning were named delegate and alternate, respectively, to the Veterans Assistance Commission which meets in Edwardsville.

Plans were completed for a winter roast and Halloween party for Amvet members and their families on Friday evening at the clubhouse. Prizes will be awarded for games and costumes, Petras said.

Assignments for turkey shoots were made. Petras said the benefit contests, open to the public, will continue each Saturday until Christmas.

Halloween Parade at Mitchell School

Students of Mitchell Grade School will participate in a Halloween parade at 1 p.m. Friday, followed by a short assembly in the school gym for refreshments served by room mothers. Mrs. Connie Cornelison, PTA publicity chairman, announced today.

She said the costumed students will parade along Moorland and Greenway drives, then to East Chain of Rocks Road and back to the school.

President of St.

C.E. TOWNSEND
Hospital Governing Board chairman

King, Arnette join hospital's advisory board

Charles King and Dale Arnette have joined the St. Elizabeth Hospital Lay Advisory Board, it was announced today.

King is manager of management services at Granite City Steel, a position he has held for 20 years.

He serves as a director of the Granite City Federal Employees Credit Union, is president of the Steel Industry Systems Association and is an active member of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, King said he has had occasion to use the hospital's facilities and "wants to do his part in helping St. Elizabeth's."

King is married, is the father of four children and resides at 2932 Fortune Drive with his wife, Jackie, who is a volunteer at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Arnette is owner of the Arnette Pattern Co., a business that will have been in existence for 28 years this fall.

He is currently a board member of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank as well as a member of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and a past Chamber board member.

Arnette has been active in the United Way campaign and served as chairman of the Mayor's Traffic Committee and the American Foundrymen's Society.

"Citizens have the responsibility to become involved and to make improvements in their surroundings, whether that means improving one's own business, civic affairs or the community hospital," he said.

Arnette and his wife, Kathryn, reside at 2561 Delmar Ave.

The Lay Advisory Board consists of 21 members selected from industry, labor, education and business, with representation from the clergy and medical staff.

The board representation has as its purpose to provide expertise in all fields to help advise the hospital in its policy and decision making.

In another hospital occurrence, the Governing Board has re-elected its corporate officers.

Sister Mary Thomas continues as president; Ted Ellerman, executive vice-president; and Paul Raczewicz, vice-president.

The following officers were retained for another year: C.E. Townsend, chairman; Sister Isidore Lennon, vice-chairman; and Sister Mary Ann, secretary.

Nameoki attempts to fix drainage responsibility

A discussion on who is responsible for drainage programs in townships—the township government, the township highway commissioner or the East Side Levee and Sanitary District—occupied much of the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors meeting during the weekend.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a township resident who has been active in drainage programs, requested that the board attend a Nov. 5 meeting of the levee district board where the question is to be considered further.

The levee district's attorney has pledged to attempt to define that district's role in drainage programs by the Nov. 5 meeting, which is to be held in Madison County, Mrs. Hawkins said.

The board discussed possible ways to provide drainage assistance to residents of the Parkview Estates subdivision, noting that a pending injunction prohibits the township highway department from sending more water onto farmland on the east side of the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks.

Board members agreed that ways to send the water only to the railroad's right-of-way, and not onto the farmland, should be explored to determine if that would be violating the injunction.

Funds were transferred from other accounts to continue the township's environmental program through November.

Heavy use of the program caused funds to run short last month and a temporary transfer from the contingencies fund was made to continue the program until the board could act at the meeting.

Mrs. Hawkins told the board that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has dropped immediate plans for a $5 million drainage program which would have provided drainage for the Doherty Slough area and Parkview Estates.

She blamed a lack of action by local governmental entities for the program being dropped.

She also asked that the board consider using excess township funds, including about $40,000 earmarked for Parkview drainage, to sink wellpoints and pump water from the Doherty Slough area in an attempt to lower the water table there.

Frank Graf dies at 59

Frank J. Graf, 59, of 2564 Lynch Ave., a retired captain of the Granite City Fire Department, died at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday at his home. He had been ill one year.

He was born in St. Louis and was a lifelong resident of Granite City. Mr. Graf was employed with the Fire Department for 20 years and retired in 1970.

A member of St. John United Church of Christ, Mr. Graf also was a member of Masonic Triple Lodge 835 AF&AM, Elks Lodge 1083, Madison County Firemen's Association and was vice-president of the Granite City Employees' Federal Credit Union.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lois Delaine "Dean" Graf; his father, Frank Graf, and a brother, Robert Graf, both of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Milton (Irene) Markenson and Mrs. Arnold (Dorothea) Feldmeier, both of St. Louis.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

BURGLARY ON COTTAGE

A television and $430 in cash and coins were stolen from the home of Nelson Crane, 2124 Cottage Ave., it was reported at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by breaking the knob off the front door. The house was ransacked.

Larry Rutter, 18, of 1719 Edison Ave., was arrested at 17th Street and Delmar Avenue at 2:25 a.m. Tuesday and was charged with disorderly conduct.

Warrants alleging escape and battery also were served on him.

Officers said they stopped Rutter to serve the warrants and he ran away. Four police cars chased him to where he was arrested.

The warrants stemmed from a Sept. 18 incident in which he allegedly chased a young girl and later, while being arrested, ran away from police.

(Press-Record Springfield Bureau)

The first big round in the effort to override Gov. Daniel Walker's reduction of the school aid appropriation bill produced one of the most fascinating day-long shows ever presented in the capital city.

Some likened it to a political counterpart of the exceptionally exciting 1975 baseball World Series.

To others, it was a political Barnum & Bailey Circus, complete with clowns.

There were a band with guitarists, a train car group of gaily singing women, and scores of good-natured demonstrators waving placards.

All were chaperoned by one of the largest corps of police and Illinois secretary of state security officers ever massed at the Statehouse and its environs.

The pageantry and fun shielded a hard core of political muscle. Probably never before had Chicago dispatched to Springfield a larger and more potent army of political and public officials.

Forty-five Chicago aldermen made the trip by bus, plus a variety of other city officials and members of the Chicago School Board. Handsome young Chicago Schools Superintendent Joseph Hannon was in the entourage.

But heading the show and overshadowing all others was Illinois' political superstar and, perhaps, the nation's number one politician, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Daley has made many visits to Springfield during his 20 years as mayor, but to Statehouse veterans his Thursday appearance was probably his most colorful and entertaining—if not most successful—performance.

At a robust 72, Daley retains all the flair, toughness and address of the old-time American big city political boss of which he remains a living symbol.

In traditional style, his voice sometimes alternating between a scarcely audible whisper and loud roars of enthusiasm, Daley recalled before the joint legislative session his own years as a legislator.

He reminded current lawmakers that he consistently voted for bills to aid education throughout the state.

However, two Daley oratorical overtures apparently failed in the objective of gaining votes for his cause.

His kind words for Downstate Democratic House per Rep. Clyde Choate of Anna resulted in no more than eight of Choate's generally recognized 14 votes in favor of override.

Choate, like Daley a Walker foe, voted to override. But, perhaps, some of his usual followers could not forget that Daley abandoned Choate in that marathon contest for the House speakership last January.

Daley's praising of former Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, whom the mayor said should have been re-elected in 1972 because of his championing of the state income tax, brought cheers from the Republican legislators but precious few votes in the House showdown.

Only 18 of the House's 76 Republicans voted to override, while 60 of the Democrats backed Daley.

The vote deadlocked at 86 all, with 89 votes required to override a veto on this issue. Although there was a tendency by some to view the school aid matter as a power struggle between Daley and Walker, there were other factors involved.

Many Downstate legislators of both parties appeared wary of having themselves suspected of favoring a future tax increase.

Efforts of the Daley forces to use Downstate school administrators, school boards and teachers' groups to line up legislative votes were far from successful.

"We're in a strange marriage," the superintendent of one small rural school district, commented at noon.

He expressed the misgivings of a number of Downstate participants in the override demonstrations, that they should be so closely associated with Daley.

"They're using us," commented another rural superintendent.

This lack of enthusiasm for Daley and the suspicion of being used no doubt made the Downstate school men less persuasive than might have been expected in asking their area legislators to vote to override.

Despite all the political pyrotechnics that marked the Thursday show, there was a feeling among Capitol observers that it was all pretty much a dry run, or a test.

The Daley forces have ample time between now and the return of the legislature on Monday to work on some possible converts to the override cause.

The chances remain about even for an override in the House.

But the Senate will be tougher. In the end it is possible that the schools will receive some more money, but a lot less than the $142 million which has been cut by Walker.

Area barbershop quartet new district champions

The "Federal Reserve Notes," an area barbershop quartet, has been crowned 1975 Illinois District champions this fall.

The quartet belongs to the Belleville and Collinsville chapters of the international Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., comprised of 14 districts in the United States and Canada in which Illinois is a district of its own.

Each year a new state champion is chosen by a panel of judges grading sound, interpretation, stage presence and musical arrangements. All past champions are not eligible and can only compete in the spring contests each year.

This year the Federal Reserve Notes competed against 22 other quartets and were in first place from the semi-finals on.

The large traveling trophy and others awarded them has never been won by a quartet further south than Springfield.

The quartet is coached by George Holtzner, director of the Collinsville chapter. The chapter has invited all men who like to sing to visit the chapter meetings each Monday at 8 p.m. at the Collinsville Building and Loan Co. offices.

The Federal Reserve Notes are available to perform at parties, bi-centennial programs and banquets by contacting Rich Pilch at 877-3207 or 452-3185.

The group is composed of Pilch and Dennis McCann, both of Granite City, Al Mueller of Okawville and Hal Maples of St. Charles, Mo.

Venice sound retarders are proving successful

Two experimental sound retarders already built in the Quincy Terminal Road area are proving effective and when the project is right to ten units are installed the noise level by the homes near the yard should be reduced by as much as 90 per cent, the Venice City Council was told Tuesday night.

Thomas Fields, administrative assistant to Mayor William Ebersold, reported that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) is pleased with the preliminary results, according to Gregory Zak, sound specialist with the IEPA.

The remaining retarder walls will be finished by April 1, 1976. Citizens have been complaining for several months about the loud "screaming" noise coming from the railroad's new computerized switching yards.

The council approved an agreement with the Department of Transportation and the City of Madison for the completion of the Collinsville Avenue project.

Plans call for Collinsville Avenue to be paved from McCambridge Avenue (Route 200) to Madison Avenue for a truck route across the city of Madison and into Venice. About two blocks of Collinsville Avenue are in Venice.

Cost to the city of Venice is estimated at $13,310, with the money coming from the motor fuel tax fund. Madison's cost is fixed at $128,398 and the federal government will pay $279,840, for a total projected cost of $421,548.

In connection with the project, an ordinance was approved making it unlawful to park a motor vehicle on the south side of Collinsville Avenue and a parallel parking on the north side of Collinsville Avenue within the city limits of Venice.

A similar ordinance was passed last week by the Madison council. The ordinance will regulate parking on the length of Collinsville Avenue.

The ordinance will become effective Nov. 12, and carries a fine of between $10 and $25 for violations.

Lloyd Patterson, city clerk, informed the council that he received a letter from the Illinois Department of Transportation that funds amounting to nearly $4,000 have been approved for upgrading warning, regulatory and school signs on local streets.

The council enacted an ordinance prohibiting the connection of sanitary or industrial waste services to storm-water drainage systems in the city. A fine of between $50 and $500 can be levied for a violation, and a separate offense can be charged for each day the violation exists.

In other action the council retained Kemper, Piest and Faust, auditors of Carbondale to do the annual audit of the general fund for $700 and an audit of federal revenue sharing funds for $350; approved the 1975 bridge inspection report by Hardesty and Hanover, engineers of New York, which was placed on file and is available for public inspection; awarded a contract to Joe D. Luster for the demolition of two structures, one in the 800 block of Broadway and one in the 1100 block of Market Street after proper insurance is obtained by Luster; granted a business license to Clarence Sadler to operate a shoe-shine parlor at 107 1/2 Weaver St.; approved $1,000 as the city's share in financing the joint Madison-Venice detective unit which is funded primarily by a federal grant.

Sewer repair

replace sanitary sewer lines in all areas where sewer breaks have occurred, or are likely to occur, the engineer said.

The lines selected for initial replacement include the 15-inch line from Johnson Road and the Namekitch drainage ditch to the lift station at Jili and Wayne avenues, approximately 1,650 feet, and the main 12-inch line in the vicinity of Franklin and Amos avenues for a total of 700 feet, Brewer's proposal said. Brewer told the Press-Record after the meeting that installation of a new plastic line in these locations would eliminate three present major sanitary sewer breaks along that route, and eliminate six other breaks or suspected breaks along the same route.

The sewer line replacement proposed in his report also would eliminate the by-pass line which now carries raw sewage into the Namekitch ditch near Johnson Road. Use of the by-pass line, installed by the Street Department to prevent sewage from backing up into basements in the area, has been criticized by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency as a violation of EPA regulations.

As a result, the EPA has banned any further connections to Granite City's sewer system until the problem is resolved and the pipe removed.

In introducing his proposal, Brewer said:

"In order to make the plan economically feasible, a large amount of pipe must be installed. To receive the most benefit from the repair, the lines that are most important to the overall system must be chosen to be repaired. Lines also must be chosen that probably will not be changed in grade or location at a later date by the information resulting from the extensive Sverdrup Parcel study.

"The lines determined to have all the desired qualities for an initial start include the main 15-inch line from Johnson Road and the ditch to the lift station at Jili and Wayne avenues for 1650 feet of replacement and the main 12-inch line in the vicinity of Franklin and Amos avenues for a total of 700 feet of main line.

"To provide a program that is compatible with the S&P report, it will be noted that while the proposed repairs are being made, the TV camera and grouting system will be working in area C which is tributary to the lines to be initially repaired.

"Two main items that have caused difficulty in city-performed repairs in the past have been that the city does not have a large enough piece of excavating equipment and secondly, the dewatering problem has been troublesome for city forces. The plan hopefully resolves these problems.

"First of all, the three jobs mentioned above must be considered to be one complete function with an estimated total time of about four months. It is hoped that with immediate action the necessary equipment can be assembled by January 1976 in order that work can be commenced in a timely manner. It is desirable to complete the above work prior to the new budget year in the hope that new appropriations will become available to enable the work to continue into other serious areas."

Hurt on 203

David Ingle, 58, East St. 203, was injured when his car and the auto of Johnny Jeffries, 25, East St. 203, collided on Route 203 in an eighth mile north of Bend Road at 5:45 p.m. Monday.

Ingle was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a cut to his right eyebrow which was sutured and he was released.

Police

men are needed, remarking that "I agree all departments need more people, but in view of our financial position I don't see that we can do it. We're talking about $15,000 a man when we consider salaries, pensions, uniforms and other fringes. I think we had better run a tight ship for the rest of the year."

Alderman Roy Post, of the Third Ward said he believed the hiring of two additional men in the Police Department "will open the way for other departments to ask the same thing."

Emerald Dawes, alderman of the Seventh Ward, asked Veizer if the addition of two officers would cut down the amount of overtime work police.

Veizer replied it would not. "Some of our men are working 80 hours a week," he said. "And you are not paying for a lot of it. Many of them officers are giving it to you."

Coleman said the police department could "use an entire new shift of men, but they are only asking for two." He said the police department required $1,200 in overtime during September "and every penny of it was needed."

Alderman Steve Basarich of Ward Five remarked that the additional men should be hired. "There's such a thing as being penny-wise and pound-foolish," he told the council.

Veizer told the aldermen that the Police Department is obtaining a sizeable number of convictions. "We are working up cases that are putting the criminals away. We are getting them out of the streets. But this also keeps our men tied up in the courts. Some of our investigators are able to spend only two or maybe three days a week on police work. The rest of it is spent in court."

"We need some help," Veizer concluded.

Mayor Paul Schuler commented that "I don't see how you can compare street projects or other employee problems with the need for more police on the streets."

On a roll call vote on the motion to concur in the request, Aldermen Whitner, Pontus and Dawes voted against it. Voting yes were Aldermen Moring, Coleman, Basarich, Frank Greenwood, Warren Decatur, Gerald Parmley, William Dallas and Earl Baker.

Aldermen R. E. Robertson, Clyde Boyd and Walter Nann were absent.

To add two men to the Police Department, it will be necessary to amend the budget, an action that cannot be taken until after Nov. 1. State law prevents budget amendments until at least six months after the opening of the city's fiscal year.

Veizer said one of the men will be assigned as an investigator and the other in the patrol force. He said the department now has five investigators and 25 patrolmen.

The department now has a total of 49 men, including himself, the chief said, noting that the department is undermanned by 15 officers on the basis of recommendations by the International Police Chiefs Association.

questioned her. Investigation showed that six of the seven youths involved in the incidents resided in that block. The group was believed responsible for soaping six windows at Emerson School, five broken windows at the beauty school and driver's license station and the damaged telephone, plus other incidents. Other vandals also were active during this week.

Reporting deflated or slashed tires on cars at their homes in the same block early this week were: Mildred Grobelnick, 1714 Delmar, three tires; Zelma Whitman, 1712 Edison Ave., four tires; Mildred Rippey, 1733 Edison Ave., four tires, gasoline cap damaged and mayonnaise poured on top of car; Shirley Marsala, 1731a Edison, four tires, and Ballard Johnson, 1723 Edison Ave., four tires and several slashes in convertible top.

Other incidents of vandalism included: a starter burned out intentionally on a lift truck at Park Seabold Concrete Co., 22nd Street and the railroad tracks; rear door window broken and garden hose cut apart at the home of Hester Tyler, 2809 Birch Ave., yellow paint sprayed on back door, kitchen window and gas meter at home of James Meyerhoff, 2929 Cayuga St. and obscene words written on garage door with paint.

Black paint sprayed on the tractor-trailer cab and front license and white paint sprayed on the passenger window of the vehicle of Kenneth McManus, 2446 Bryan Ave., and the right rear tire of the auto of John Breeze, 3012 Kirkpatrick Homes, slashed with a knife and the valve stem of the right front tire cut while the car was parked behind the 3000 block of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach all reported few, if any, incidents of vandalism. This week but all noted they are watching these communities closely to keep vandalism down.

Golden Age Seniors elect

Mrs. Ruby Corbitt was re-elected president of the Golden Age Circle Club at its October business and birthday meeting held Tuesday at the Kirkpatrick Recreation Center.

Also elected by acclamation were Mrs. Caroline Lux, Vice-president; Mrs. Lumeta Durbin, secretary; and Mrs. Peggy Gibbons, treasurer. Frank Harris, nominations chairman, announced the committee's selections.

New officers will be installed at the December business meeting, it was reported. Mrs. Lux also was appointed chairman of the sick and visiting and dining room and kitchen committees. Mrs. Corbitt opened the meeting with The Lord's Prayer, a silent meditation for members who are ill and the pledge of allegiance.

Reports were given by Mrs. Durbin and Mrs. Gibbons. "Thank you" cards were sent to the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, which sponsored a party last week for senior residents at Anchorage Homes, and to Dan Partney, James Taylor and Dave Morgan.

Memorials were authorized to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children for the late John Traylor and Harry E.

Reber, members, who died this month. Expressions of appreciation were read from the families of both men.

Delbert McKissack said driving lessons are being conducted this week for senior citizens who are to take driver's tests.

Mrs. Lux announced cards were mailed to John Winklemier and Bertha Cunningham, who were hospitalized, and to August Volmer, Evelyn Davis, Nellie Hillmer, Mollie Hudson, Celia Davis, Robert Harrell, Neely Pashea, Orville Riess, Frank Harris, Mary Jones and Ethel Robinson.

Group members were invited to attend a party at the VFW

Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, when the AARP Band will entertain area seniors.

Plans also were made for a Thanksgiving dinner at noon, Tuesday, Nov. 11, at the recreation center.

After the business session, the birthdays of Ida Cassel, Ruth Purkey, Verlyn Vollmar, Eleanor Patterson and Ethel Stark were celebrated during the social hour.

Games were played and those excelling and winning awards were Art Rankin, Catherine Alexander, Georgia Butler, Alva Stearns, Mrs. Lux, Mrs. Corbitt and Mrs. Cassel.

At a previous gathering of the Golden Age Circle Club, several guests were entertained.

Seasonal trip for Brownies

Brownie Troop 621, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of McKinley School, toured Losch's Farm near Edwardsville this week.

A hayride to the watermelon patch ended with the Brownies breaking open and eating watermelons.

Owner of the farm, Mr. Losch, explained to the girls the historical background of the farm and the various vegetables and fruits that are grown there.

A point of interest to the troop was a replica of the straw house of the "Three Little Pigs." Before departing, each person attending was allowed to pick a pumpkin of her choice to take home. Touring the farm were Brownies Jessie Warren, Dawn Stoklosa, Alice Snyder, Christi Adams, Tana Stewart, Nina Brock, Denise Perie and Teresa Warnhoff and guests Eric Warnhoff and Larry Brock.

Chaperones were the leaders, Mrs. Charlotte Warnhoff and Mrs. Norma Perie, and Mrs. Mary Brock and Mrs. John Warren.

MR. AND MRS. ORVILLE MCKAY

Golden anniversary of Mr., Mrs. Orville McKay

Mr. and Mrs. Orville McKay, 2560 Madison Ave., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary during the weekend at a buffet dinner at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw, 2456 Lynch Ave.

Decorations for the day included pictures of the honorees wedding day, a large-tiered cake and golden anniversary motifs.

Mr. McKay and his wife, the former Edna Wille, were married on Oct. 21, 1925, at St. John United Church of Christ. He was born in Bonne Terre, Mo., and Mrs. McKay was from Wood River.

Mr. McKay retired from the Nickel Plate Railroad in 1970 after 45 years of service.

The guests of honor also have a son, Melvin McKay, a former Granite City resident now residing in Pittsburgh, Pa. They have four grandchildren, Timothy, Lorraine and Gregory McKay and Mrs. Joseph Ochoa, and a great-granddaughter, Heather Marie Ochoa.

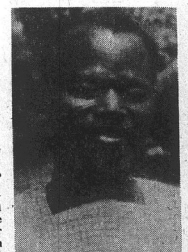

Attending the observance was Melvin McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wille, Louis Wille, Mr. and Mrs. John Mooney, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy McKay, Lorraine McKay and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ochoa and daughter, Heather.

Upper Volta church leader here Sunday

The Rev. Daniel Compaore, son of an African chief from Upper Volta, West Africa, will be the guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church at the 10 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. services Sunday according to the pastor, the Rev. C. Dale Edwards.

Rather than assume leadership in his tribal rights, the Rev. Compaore chose to become a minister of the gospel. He was converted at an early age and went to Bible school where he trained for the ministry. During his earlier years the Rev. Compaore began working in the mission print shop and became an expert printer.

In 1967, Pastor Compaore became the spiritual leader of the Upper Volta General Council of the Assemblies of God, which now numbers 40,000 constituents, 500 pastors and 440 churches. He also is the president of the Protestant Federation for all of Upper Volta.

Donors of harmful treats face prosecution—Byron

Alarmed at the increase of incidents on Halloween over the past several years, Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron has pledged full prosecution of any person connected with the intentional inclusion of dangerous substances in Halloween treats.

There have been numerous complaints from parents who are upset over the possibility of their children receiving candy or other treats which contain drugs or other harmful substances, Byron said.

"I have directed my office to commence prosecution against any individual arrested for such activity and I personally pledge that the prosecution will be followed to the end with no compromise," he stated.

Byron has asked all police departments to forward any information on these activities to his office for an evaluation by the felony division of his staff. He has stated that the inclusion of dangerous objects, because of their potential for great bodily harm, normally would be a felony, whether the child receiving the object eats it or not.

Byron said that he personally feels that this sort of activity should be condemned by not only the criminal justice arm of the government, but also by the public.

"The person who sticks pins in apples or puts LSD on Halloween candy and gives it out to unsuspecting children is just as much a criminal as a academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the college and to the community, and promise future usefulness to the community. Since 1934, Who's Who Among Students has furthered the aims of higher education by rewarding and recognizing individual academic excellence on a national level. With the support of prominent educational institutions in all sections of the country, the program today is a reflection of the caliber of the American college student.

As a lifetime benefit, student members of the Who's Who program are entitled to use the special Reference-Placement Service, maintained for the exclusive assistance of students seeking postgraduate employment or fellowships.

The curriculum at William Woods College embraces programs leading to a bachelor degree in 30 major disciplines and a bachelor of fine arts degree in art and theatre art. New programs provide for baccalaureate majors in art therapy, special education, equestrian studies, paralegal studies, interior design, early childhood education and other degree programs structured for career-oriented opportunities in the Foreign Service.

Programs in law, medical technology, nursing, animal science and engineering are available through cooperative endeavors with other schools. For the 16th consecutive year, the college opened with a capacity enrollment. Forty-two states and nine foreign countries are represented within the student body.

William Woods students are afforded further educational advantages through a reciprocal academic and social program with Westminster College for Men, also located in Fulton.

Mr., Mrs. Arthur Roman mark 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roman of Granite City observed the 60th anniversary of their marriage at a party held during the weekend in the Fellowship Hall at St. John United Church of Christ.

Both Mr. Roman and his wife, the former Katherine Branding, are natives of Granite City and life-long residents here.

Hosts at the anniversary event were the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce (Marge) Roman of Chesterfield, Mo., and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hans (Ruth) Jensen of Granite City.

A buffet supper was served to 85 guests and the evening was spent socially, with dancing to polka and waltz music provided by Bill Ogden's band.

Mr. and Mrs. Roman were married on Oct. 27, 1915 in the parsonage at St. John United Church of Christ.

Mr. Roman was employed as manager of the Granite City Commercial Club and the Retailers Association at one time, and at Granite City Steel. Prior to retiring just four years ago he worked for the St. John Cemetery Board as cemetery manager.

The Romans have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Among the out-of-town guests at the party were Bruce Roman II of Greeley, Colo., a grandson; Mrs. Eloise Ross of Virginia, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roman and Mrs. Rose Prusse, all of Perryville, Ill.

Retiree honored at dinner party

Glenn W. Adams, who will retire shortly from Granite City Steel, was honored during the weekend at a combination retirement and birthday dinner party.

The honoree was worked about 27 years on the steel mill's galvanizing line at the North Plant.

The party was hosted by the guest of honor's sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Adams, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cox, at the latter couple's home.

A buffet was served and music was furnished by the "Country Saints."

Present, in addition to the above, were the honoree's wife, Mrs. Sally Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dorch Sr.; Mrs. Alan Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adams and daughter, Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dorch Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miles; Joe Stephens; Mrs. Sarah Dempsey; David Senior; Miss Phyllis Adams; Janet and Mark Adams; August and Rachel Adams; Jeffrey and Susan Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vail; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barnett; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Youngs; Victor Popovsky; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Todd Carney; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whitford.

Out-of-town guests from Paducah, Ky., were Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Wallace, Mrs. Bessie Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Larry McGulion.

Madison Mothers plan pupil party

The Madison Mothers Club met at Harris School last week to discuss a student Halloween party at the school on Friday and the annual carnival, set for Nov. 7.

Mrs. Margaret Blackshere presided and requested volunteers to act as judges for the party. She announced Karen Purkake and Mrs. Mary Ann Dollar will decorate their cats with notices of the carnival and drive in the Halloween parade. Mrs. Georgia Stawar, carnival chairman, discussed plans for the Nov. 7 event, to take place from 6 to 9 p.m. She said mothers are making grab bags, Lonnie Layton is calling members to donate baked items and Erica Kellens will make posters. Lonnie Layton, Mary Anna Kaminski and Rose Rife will be in charge of the stuffed animals booth.

Hostesses Alice Thompson and Mary Ann Dollar serve refreshments to those named and to LaVerna Harris, Marjorie Thomason, Joyce Gushel, Norma Eaves, Karen Kaminski, Margaret Amish, Erica Kellens, Lenora Brown, Mary A. Yeager, Edith Miller, Christine DeLoach, Anna Freeman, Ruby Coopwood, Luzzell Wooten, Myrtle Foster, Rose Rife and Georgina Stawar.

Eagles to host weekend events

Marge Kendall will be featured at the piano and will provide musical entertainment at the Friday night Fish Fry sponsored by Eagles Aerie 1126 for members and guests, according to the president, Melvin Baker.

The president added there will be fresh channel catfish added to the menu this week. New candidates for membership will be initiated at the officers meeting Sunday for those who were unable to attend the regular Wednesday night meeting, the president reported.

Another event will be the senior citizens kick-off dinner at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 6. All proceeds from the dinner will be used to prepare Christmas baskets for the area seniors.

Bazaar at St. Elizabeth

The annual Christmas Bazaar sponsored by St. Elizabeth Catholic Church will take place Saturday and Sunday, according to Mrs. Sue Kurilla and Mrs. Mary Ohendorf, general co-chairman.

Fourteen booths, offering a wide assortment of handcraft work and home baked items will be featured at the 4th annual fund raising event, to start at 10 a.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday. Mostaccioli dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, costing $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children. A turkey or beef dinner is planned Sunday, and will cost $2.75 for adults and $1.50 for children. Carryouts will be available on both days, the chairman added.

Funds-a-poppin' time for scouts

It's "Funds-a-poppin'" time for members of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America. Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will pick up cases of popcorn beginning at 8 a.m. Saturday at the Carl Graham Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave., for sale during the week. Monies earned by the annual "Funds-a-poppin'" sale are used partly to support the activities of the neighborhood Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts and to help the operating budget of the council. The scouts will be selling a package containing four bags of popcorn plus oil and salt for $1.25. John Blasingame is general chairman of the drive.

THERE IS A GREAT PUMPKIN. Rhana Cook, 2564 Adams St., has one to prove it. She won the Great Pumpkin Art Contest sponsored by Illinois Bell Telephone Co. for the children of its employees. Rhana won a 76-pound pumpkin by submitting a picture of the most creative way to use a telephone in a home. Her winning idea was, "Patio telephones are fun; they let you play in the water and get some sun!" GC rejects gift of Yule decorations Whether Granite City's downtown business district will be decorated for Christmas this year became a question this week after the City Council decided Monday night to turn down an offer by Downtown Granite City, Inc., to give its exterior Christmas decorations and lights to the city. In a letter directed to the council, Rudy Novik, president of the merchants group, proposed that the organization turn over its decorations to the city at no cost, with a provision that the decorations be used only in downtown Granite City. The letter said the organization would replace and add to the inventory of decorations. Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward said he believed the offer was made because of the expense involved in putting up and taking down the decorations each year. Parmley made a motion that Mayor Paul Schuler "write a letter to the retailers and tell them 'no, thank you.'" The motion was approved. Novik said he will not know whether the merchants will undertake exterior decoration this year until the board of directors meets to decide the issue.

AMSTED dividend

The AMSTED Industries board of directors Tuesday at Chicago declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable on Dec. 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Nov. 26.

The office of the Associated Retailers said the cost of putting up and taking down the decorations ranges from $2,000 to $3,000 each year. Last year city workers put up and removed the decorations before and after Christmas at no cost.

Novik said the decorations owned by the organization are valued at several thousand dollars.

'Witches Watch' set to deter pranksters

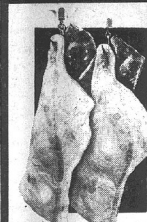

As an added deterrent against Halloween pranksters, the Citizens Band Emergency Radio Team (CBERT), a group affiliated with the Granite City Civil Defense organization, will work closely Friday evening with Granite City and Pontoon Beach police departments and the Madison County Sheriff's office, it was reported today. CBERT members have agreed to patrol and observe certain areas in Mitchell, Granite City and Pontoon Beach in a concentrated effort to prevent vandalism caused by pranksters bent on more serious forms of mischief than the usual trick or treaters, an official said.

During the "Witches Watch" project, CBERT members will work hand-in-hand with local police, reporting incidents involving wanton vandalism to police headquarters. Regular patrolmen will handle any situation from that point, the CBERT spokesman said. Between 40 and 50 unmarked vehicles equipped with CB radios will be manned by club members to keep a watchful eye in areas where vandalism has proved a problem in previous years. Calls from reporting "watchers" will be routed through the civil defense radio network.

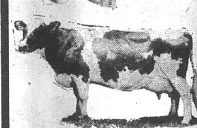

CANCEL MEET AND GAME
Two area sports events Tuesday involving GCHS North were cancelled: a freshman cross-country meet at Hazelwood, Mo., because too much time had lapsed since the barriers last competed (Oct. 10), and a sophomore football game at Assumption High, where the hosts failed to field a complete team for the contest. CBERT members will wear orange vests and special arm-bands. This is the sixth consecutive year that local CBers have been involved in a "Witches Watch" program in the community. Team members will be on duty starting at 6 p.m. Friday. Jess Levart, CBERT president, announced.

$1.9 million manpower grant to Madison County

Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has announced that Madison County, St. Clair County and the city of East St. Louis will receive $1,900,045 as prime sponsors under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act to provide manpower services to the economically disadvantaged, unemployed, and underemployed, Madison and St. Clair Counties and East St. Louis will receive $1,900,045, $1,757,309, and $2,230,786 respectively.

The prime sponsors will use the federal funds to design and operate comprehensive manpower programs tailored to meet the specific needs of each community. The services provided with the funds include vocational and educational work experience programs and summer youth employment. The current funding allocation represents the period beginning July 1, 1975, and ending Sept. 30, 1976.

Congressman Price said, "These programs offer an excellent opportunity for the individual to improve upon the vocational skills necessary for survival in today's competitive labor market. The CETA program gives our area prime sponsors the prerogative of determining what labor skills

EDISON BURGLARY
A television, an electric razor, a radio and an alarm clock were stolen from the home of Jewel Faith, 1719 Edison Avenue, it was reported at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. An unlocked bedroom window was believed opened to gain entry.

Two charged in burglary

Henry E. Murphy, 23, of Rural Route One, Box 1254, Granite City, and Jerry Nishke, 30, Valley Park, Mo., were arrested at 9 p.m. Tuesday and were charged with burglary. They allegedly entered the home of Mildred Brown, 2333 Clark Ave., a short time before they were arrested. A neighbor reported a car had been driving past the Brown residence and at one time had backed into the driveway.

Police investigated and said they saw two men walking east on Clark Avenue next door to the Brown home. When a squad car approached, one of the two men threw something in a bush. Officers stopped the men and sewer, fees are delinquent. Daves said he inspected the building project Monday morning and took pictures. He alleged that the parking lot has been built up "at least three feet" and that the fill would create a drainage problem.

Daves then made his motion to stop building work until drainage provisions were checked.

City Attorney George Filcott told Daves that "this has been done." He said City Engineer Monroe Brewer approved the drainage for the new lounge building and that it would be repetitions to do the same work over.

At this point, Alderman Gerald Parmenter of the Sixth Ward asked Robert Kelly, city building inspector, "Is there anything wrong out there?"

Kelly explained that "he (Gitch) came in and I gave him a permit for the footings. He later asked for a permit for the building and I gave it to him on references by the city engineer."

Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward told the council that he had checked the plans for the project and that "he is draining the property into the catch basin. The backwall along the people's property that is the building is about three feet high, but his drainage goes directly into the sewer."

Daves said: "I went out there and checked this man's yard (Oliver Johnson, 1522 Clark Ave.) and if we let them do this to people, it's wrong."

"What can we do?" Mayor Schuler asked Daves. "The city engineer says the drainage is okay."

"I would like to hear that from the engineer," Daves replied. "All he has done so far is not his head."

Brewer said he had talked with Gitch on the project as far back as a year ago, and that subsequent planning indicates the property will be drained properly.

Coleman told the aldermen he believes the owner would be willing to work out any compromise that would satisfy residents around the property.

"I think this is an issue between the people and Mr. Gitch," he remarked.

Kelly, at this point, asked permission to explain a possible solution to the problem. Using a blackboard, Kelly designed an area of fill that he said would improve the grade and keep water out of adjoining property. Kelly said he would talk with Gitch about this approach.

Mayor Schuler called for a voice vote on Daves' motion to halt the building work pending a new drainage inspection. When several "no" votes were sounded, Parmenter called for a roll call.

Mayor Schuler said, "I don't think there is any question that the eyes have it."

Following passage of the motion, Poulos moved to instruct the Inspection Department not to issue sewer tap-on permits for the lounge project until all delinquent sewer fees allegedly owed by Gitch are paid. The motion was approved.

Rutledge said the delinquencies involve real estate property owned by Gitch, or previously owned by him, on which sewer rental fees are unpaid. They do not involve Gitch's business properties on Nameki Road, he said.

The new lounge building, which Kelly said is listed on the building permit as the "O.K. Corral," is being built on Lot 10 just north of McDonald's Restaurant and directly at the rear of the Speedway car wash. Kelly said the plans indicate ingress and egress onto Nameki Road over the entrance area to Corral Liquors. Gitch said yesterday that the council objections are entirely without a sound basis and that the lounge will be an attribute to Granite City, not a detriment. He said about $30,000 has been spent grading and paving the property so it will drain properly into his catch basin and through an underground pipe, into the city storm sewer.

The issue of back sewer fees, since an honest disagreement of whether he is responsible for those bills is to be settled in a court of law.

He said those bills belong to the people who used his property on a "contract for deed" basis and then backed out of the purchase agreements. The city should not have held the property on a "contract for deed" basis and then backed out of the purchase agreements.

These objections to commercial improvements in Granite City are the kind of thing that drove out Denny's Restaurant and nearly killed the new Madison County Federal Savings & Loan building.

"We must be careful in Granite City not to discourage developers from building in Granite City or we will kill the goose that lays the golden eggs," he added.

"I have been asked — indeed encouraged — to build this lounge in Fairview Heights, but I chose to build this building in Granite City with the other two buildings I own, Corral Liquors and the Ponderosa Steak House. The three buildings together employ more than 50 people and the city is benefiting from the salaries and taxes. This will be the city's expensive lounge in this part of the country and has been designed to blend with the western theme of Ponderosa and Corral Liquors. This has run the cost up considerably," Gitch noted.

He said the new lounge will be 50 by 90 feet in size and will have a bar seating 125 persons. There will be no table service, food service, live entertainment, or other features; only a juke box, he said.

He said the city has not ordered him to halt building and he hopes to complete the facility by the first of next year.

He said the lounge, which the foundation has just been poured, should not be confused with a new 1,300 square foot storage area at the rear of Corral Liquors which is nearing completion. The lounge is a separate building.

He said objections from one adjoining resident to the drainage is the result of a 10 by 20 foot ponding area behind his home, "which was there before we started construction and has definitely not been caused by our work."

"I have gone to great lengths to build these three business buildings in Granite City to benefit Granite City. I have gone to great expense to see that they are the best possible buildings and are pleasing to the eye."

"The new lounge will be operated with the same care and pride as the two businesses presently being operated by Corral Liquors, Inc."

"Certain people who are objecting to this lounge should recognize that there is a danger here, lest we run all our developers out of Granite City," Gitch concluded.

$125 REPORTED STOLEN
Sharon Howland, 2032 Twelfth St., told police at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday that her home was entered and $125 in cash stolen. Entry was gained by opening the door slightly and reaching through to unlock a safety chain on the inside of the door, she said. A rear bedroom and a jewelry box were reported ransacked.

been raised several feet above its original elevation.

"As has been experienced recently by similar establishments in the area, this type of business tends to be a source of constant trouble for the community because of the actions and conduct of inebriated patrons, such as rowdiness, fighting, foul language and worse."

"The values of the adjacent properties will be lowered because of this type of business."

"This establishment will have a negative influence on the young children of the area and is not conducive to their proper upbringing."

"The location of trash and waste handling facilities on the east side of the building will lead to unsanitary conditions and additional noise problems in the early morning hours."

"In general, this business would only add another dimension to the nuisance problem this residential community now experiences as the result of the heavy concentration of carry-out food franchises, and in no way could it be considered as asset to the community or the City of Granite City."

Robber gets $125 at coin laundry

A lone gunman stole about $125 in cash from the owner of Monday's Maid Coin Operated Laundry, 2238 Illinois Ave., at 9:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The owner said a man about 35 to 40 years of age entered and asked for change for a $10 bill to purchase cigarettes. The owner said he went into a back room to get the change and the man followed him.

In the back room, the robber announced, "This is a stick-up," and displayed a snub-nosed blue-stel .38 caliber revolver. The owner gave him all the money he had and reported he was locked in the back room by the gunman.

Two women outside said they saw a man matching the robber's description walk slowly east on West 23rd Street.

The victim described the gunman as about 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighing about 180 pounds and having a dark and messy complexion.

He may have had some teeth missing in front, police were told. The robber wore a tan waist-length jacket and dark pants, he added.

News notes

The U. S. said Wednesday 18 million workers will pay up to $70.20 more in Social Security taxes in 1976 to offset higher unemployment and welfare recipients. It will tax $15,300 of each wage earner's income, compared to $14,100 in 1975. Maximum payroll for an individual will rise from $24,850 to $26,950. Self-employed will pay $1,008.70, up $94.80.

Franklin Union Furniture will open its fifth store in this metropolitan area Monday at 6900 Chippewa at Jamieson, St. Louis. Others are located in Granite City, Alton, East St. Louis and Union-Natural Bridge, St. Louis.

Three of the four youths reportedly involved were arrested near the intersection of Hawthorn Street and Mercedita Avenue at 7 p.m. by Madison and Venice police.

The two 6-year-old boys and one 14-year-old are being held in the Madison County Detention Home.

Police said they will file charges of strongarm robbery and aggravated battery against the three boys.

The U. S. proposed Tuesday to regulate deliveries of natural gas in view of predicted shortages this winter.

Explorers of the Boy Scout program admit girls up to 49 percent of their membership, but the National Council will meet at 6 p.m. today at Howard Johnson's on Route 157 to discuss possible information picketing against state patronage allocation of Unemployment Office job openings.

Gov. Daniel Walker said Tuesday that Auditor General Robert Crosson had approved food stamp and other fund transfers to finance a public relations TV series, but Crosson responded that he regards the governor as in violation of legislative intent on such diversions.

Local 1006, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, will meet at 6 p.m. today at Howard Johnson's on Route 157 to discuss possible information picketing against state patronage allocation of Unemployment Office job openings.

President Gerald Ford said Wednesday he will veto special aid to New York City intended to prevent a financial default on city obligations. He suggested new legislation to assure continuation of essential services in that city now is regarded as inevitable, and the ability to sell all tax-exempt municipal bonds across the U.S. may be jeopardized.

A new type of industrial waste recovery operation is to be announced today in St. Louis. Backers say it will have national impact.

A talk on police aid and malpractice issues will be given at next Tuesday's Granite City Rotary luncheon by Dr. J. M. Ingalls, Illinois State Medical Society president.

Three held in attack on woman

Ruth Ann Ebling, 55, of 2114 Madison Ave., was in satisfactory condition today in Belleville Memorial Hospital after being knocked unconscious at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday by four youths in the 300 block of Madison Avenue.

A witness gave police descriptions of four black youths who knocked her down, grabbed her purse and ran west through an alley.

Police found the victim lying on the sidewalk unconscious and bleeding from the nose. She also suffered scratches and bruises to both knees and a large bruise on her left side.

Three of the four youths reportedly involved were arrested near the intersection of Hawthorn Street and Mercedita Avenue at 7 p.m. by Madison and Venice police.

The two 6-year-old boys and one 14-year-old are being held in the Madison County Detention Home.

CB Emergency Radio Team stages party

About 550 citizens band radio operators convened last week at the VFW Hall in Granite City for an informal "Coffee Break" party. The event is sponsored each fall by the Granite City Citizens Band Emergency Radio Team (CBERT).

A total of 16 clubs was represented at the affair, which included a performance by a magician, a fun-time fashion show, games for children and a cameo appearance by the "potbelly dance troupe." Refreshments were served and trophies and gifts were awarded.

Mrs. Wilma Levart and Mrs. Beverly Singleton were in charge of arrangements. Special awards were made to clubs traveling the farthest — Vandalia, Mo.; largest out-of-state club — O'Fallon, Mo.; largest home state club — Wood River, Ill.; and the best dressed club — Channel 8 Snobs of Granite City.

Magician John Apperson and Virginia were warmly received when they entertained the group with magic tricks.

Apperson is a Granite City police officer. The CBERTs are affiliated with the Granite City Civil Defense organization and function as a specialized unit during emergencies. Many of the CBERT members have dual roles as auxiliary policemen and policewomen.

CBERTs assist local law enforcement agencies each Halloween by conducting a "Witches Watch" throughout the communities of Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell. Their efforts are cited as a deterrent to more malicious pranksters.

Club officers, include: Jess Levart, president; Mrs. Singleton, vice president; Mrs. Diane Northland, secretary; Roger Northland, treasurer; Don Butler, chaplain; Richard Cottrell, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Levart, ways and means chairman.

FASHION MODEL is Joe Hoffmeister, a Berkeley, Mo. police officer, whose disguise is impeccable, other than the moustache. He was among CBERT's male members who presented a style show at the annual party.

Eta meets in 1930 setting

Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Society, met last week at the Clayton Depot, a renovated restaurant decorated in identical style to a railroad station.

A special feature of the restaurant is music of the 1930's which is played continuously along with tapes of radio programs popular to that era. Hostesses for the evening were Betty Krug, Jo Ervay, Mary Lou Richardson and Margaret Yackel.

After dinner games were played and prizes were won by Millie Greathouse, Eunice Hatcher, Delores Sheridan, Georgiana Van Bunkirk, Gladys Waggoner, Mrs. Ervay and a guest, Mrs. Nellie Bush from Ohio. Others present were Lorraine Butler, Mary Hassler and Evelyn Todd.

Mission Festival at Concordia

Concordia Lutheran Church, 2301 Grand Ave., will celebrate "Mission Festival" Sunday, according to the Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer, pastor of the church.

He said the two annual mission festivals are designed to increase the congregation's consciousness of world-wide mission opportunities and obligations.

Guest speaker this Sunday will be the Rev. Henry Rowold, Lutheran missionary to Taiwan from 1965 till this past spring. Currently he is on furlough as part of a degree program to further train him for a chair in the theological faculty of the Lutheran Seminary in Taiwan, where he will return next summer.

Missionary Rowold graduated from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis in 1964 and received his Master of Sacred Theology in 1968. He and Mrs. Rowold are the parents of three children, Gayle, 10, Jonathan, 7 and Sheryl, 6.

He will speak on the theme "Finders Keepers," based on Isa. 55:1-11. The Missionary also will discuss Taiwanese evangelistic work at the 9 a.m. Bible class.

"We feel rather honored to be able to present Missionary Rowold to our community," the Rev. Twietmeyer said.

LOOT OFFICER'S TRUCK

Items valued at about $388 were stolen from the truck of Granite City police Patrolman Bill Curtis, parked at 19th Street and Edison Avenue, Curtis discovered at 11:10 p.m. Wednesday. A vent window was believed forced open to allow the door to be unlocked. Taken were a $229 citizens' band radio and a $159 amplifier.

Carnival glass collection shown

Preceptor Beta Gamma met last week in the home of Pat Tsigranoff, Mr. and Mrs. Cydée Lee, guest speakers, gave a dissertation on early American home life during the late 1800s.

The couple showed their extensive collection of carnival glass with pieces of purple, blue, green, peach, black and marigold on display. The collection contained many unusual items in both the clear and the satin finish.

Lee advised on the care and protection of the glass for those who are collecting or have saved the dishes. The items were given by theatres, or as box prizes and premiums.

President Evelyn Tolliver announced a special Bicentennial cook book is available. Norma Rains commented on a recent picnic and accepted reservations from those wishing to attend the Plantation Dinner Theater on Nov. 28. Arlene Haldeman reported "having tickets available for the Pl. Eta fashion show."

The hostess served a dessert course to those mentioned and to Dolores Byrnes, Ruth Stoyanoff, Bea Brackett and Dolores Dorch.

Hairdressers at convention

Willene Gregory, Betty Smith and Sheila Morgan, members of the Granite City Hairdressers Association, attended the hairdressers state convention in Springfield Sunday and Monday.

They took a qualification examination for the Illinois Hair Fashion Committee and Josie Lemus entered a model in the Parade of States contest.

Plans to attend the convention and to discuss other projects were made at a dinner meeting of the association held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Mrs. Brenda Cant, president, presided at the meeting.

Wally Verbyck's note 25th year

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Verbyck, 2316 Gary Ave., were guests of honor last weekend at a party given by their children in observance of the couple's 25th wedding anniversary.

A buffet dinner was hosted by the honoree's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Larry McCormick, 7941 Old Alton Road, and daughter, Miss Kim Verbyck, at the McCormick home.

A tiered wedding cake, used as the table centerpiece, was topped with silver numerals. Forty couples were present at the party.

Homemakers attend craft day

The Granite City Unit of Madison County Homemakers Extension Association met at the home of Mrs. Mary Zikovich for a session on beaded craft.

Mrs. Madge Ramsey, Mrs. Martha Taylor and Mrs. Helen Parks gave instructions on making bracelets, rings and jewelry holders.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess to 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Billie Bosworth.

A craft session for making Christmas items will be held at Grace Baptist Church at 10 a.m. on Wednesday. The unit yuletide party is set for Dec. 3 at the St. Louis Heritage House. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Helen Oberling, 2144 Harrison Ave., costing $5, according to Mrs. Freddy McElroy, publicity chairman.

Insurance subsidiary to be sold

Post Corporation and Stellare Investment Corporation announced Tuesday that, subject to the approval of the Wisconsin Commissioner of Insurance, Stellare will acquire Post's 99.8 per cent interest in All-Star Insurance Corporation.

Stellare has agreed to pay in $500,000 to All-Star's capital. Post Corp., of Appleton, Wis., will receive no consideration for the transfer.

The transaction will cause Post to report a loss tentatively estimated at $2 million. The actual loss will be determined by Post's auditors and will be included with the firm's third-quarter earnings report.

Stellare is a new Wisconsin corporation formed by Charles J. Murphy, who has been vice-president and general manager of All-Star under Post's ownership, and Don T. Massey, All-Star's marketing director.

Murphy and Massey will continue with All-Star as president and executive vice-president, respectively, and the present staff and agency force will continue under the new ownership.

Stellare also acquired Star General, Inc., an insurance agency, from Post.

The transactions and Post's interests in the insurance business which began with its gaining control of All-Star in 1969. Earlier this year, Post sold a reinsurance agency.

All representatives of the Post Corporation who have been officers or directors of All-Star will resign these positions.

All-Star, headquartered in Milwaukee, underwrites property and casualty risks in what is known as "excess and surplus lines." It operates in over 40 states.

In the early years of its ownership by Post, All-Star showed consistently increased earnings. But in 1974 it suffered a statutory loss of $1,379,540, and there were increasing losses during the first nine months of this year, reflecting an industrywide problem.

Spokesmen for Post and Stellare said Post was willing to turn its ownership over to Stellare because Stellare was willing to pay in $500,000 to All-Star's capital to keep the company operating.

Murphy said that, in addition to Stellare's immediate injection of $500,000, it is expected that another $1 million will be added to All-Star's capital before year end to continue its operation on a nationwide basis.

With its withdrawal from the insurance business, Post again becomes principally a publisher of newspapers and operator of TV and radio stations, with operations in Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Massachusetts.

Arbitration on treatment plant

The G. L. Tarlton Contracting Co. of St. Louis which is building Granite City's $12 million secondary sewage treatment plant has requested arbitration on additional construction charges of approximately $195,000 over the original contract cost, it was disclosed at a meeting of the City Council Monday night.

Council members were notified in a letter from the American Arbitration Association that a hearing has been scheduled at 10 a.m. Dec. 12 at the offices of Evans & Dixon (attorneys) in the Boatman's Bank Building, St. Louis.

The arbitration request is based on claims by the Tarlton firm that the city should pay additional charges because of higher dewatering costs encountered by the contractors in the early stages of the treatment plant construction, according to George Filcoff, city attorney who is one of the three arbitrators involved in the proceedings.

Filcoff said the city has rejected these claims, on grounds that the contract price was a firm bid and that the contractors should have been aware of its dewatering problems at the time the contract was bid.

The Tarlton firm contract for construction of the secondary plant was for $10.8 million.

Filcoff said that as a representative of the city he named himself as arbitrator for Granite City after officials of the Tarlton firm selected Henry Menghini, a member of the Tarlton company.

The arbitration association named the third arbitrator, Elmer Wiesel, a Belleville attorney.

Filcoff explained that the American Arbitration Association has court status and that decisions reached by the arbitrators are binding legally.

Donald John Elmore honored for writing

Donald John Elmore, 17, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Donald Elmore of the Granite City Army Installation, and a senior at Granite City High School South, has been cited for outstanding performance in writing.

The National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) has named him a winner of a 1975 NCTE Achievement Award in Writing. The NCTE writing contest is held annually, beginning in January.

Donald is the only winner this year in Madison or St. Clair County.

Over 7,000 students were nominated last February by their English teachers for NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing. Each nominee submitted a sample of his best writing and an impromptu essay. These compositions were evaluated by state judging teams of both high school and college English teachers.

The approximately 850 winners selected each year represent high schools in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American schools abroad.

The number of possible winners for each state is keyed to state population.

The council recommends the award winners, now seniors, for college scholarships in 1976 should they need such assistance. Names of the students are sent to admissions officers and English department chairmen at U.S. two- and four-year colleges and universities.

The National Council of Teachers of English is a professional organization of individual and institutional members at all levels of instruction. Its goal is to increase the effectiveness of the teaching of English language and literature in the nation's schools and colleges. NCTE furnishes such teaching aids as books and recordings, and publishes several professional journals, among them College English and English Journal.

Donald plans to attend the University of Illinois and enter a pre-medical program.

headed by Mrs. Emylee Allford, reported $10,860. Pledges have reached $11,391 in the Construction Division, chaired by Henry Ross of the Ross Construction Co.

Receipts amount to $9,014 in the Professional Division, led by Attorney Maurice Dailey and Ted Ellerman, and $8,303 in Commercial Division I, led by Robert Jackson. Ellerman is executive vice-president of St. Elizabeth Hospital and Jackson is district manager of the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co.

The Madison-Venice Division, chaired by Wayne Scannell, owner of Wayne's Men's Store, reported $7,365, while pledges have reached $5,480 in Commercial Division II, led by Donald Van Horn, American National Bank executive vice-president.

Mrs. Sally Herbst's Combined Federal Campaign report totaled $3,724.

It was announced that total receipts from Granite City Steel corporate and employee pledges exceed a year ago, even though there have been layoffs.

Retail Clerks Local 435 was singled out for praise, as were Quad-City area insurance agents.

Portell gave special recognition to John Ubaldi, Granite City fireman and City Clerk Robert Stivers.

Campaign Chairman Fox said current pledges represent a higher percentage of the goal than was the case at the four-week point in past drives.

He voiced confidence in the outcome and praised all who have had a part in helping the campaign move forward.

Campaign vice-chairman is Bill H. Terrell, district manager of the Franklin Life Insurance Co.

Band parents to meet on Tuesday

Members of the Granite City High School North Band Parents Organization have been urged to attend a meeting Tuesday, Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. in the library.

Several students who attended the Centennial of Charles in Middle, Tenn. during the weekend will present highlights of their trip.

LIFE SENTENCE

On Aug. 17, 1945, provisional President Charles de Gaulle commuted the death sentence of 80-year-old Marshal Henri Petain to life after the World War I French hero was found guilty of collaborating with the Germans during World War II.

Halloween

kindergarten age, a parent may wish to accompany the child. They are most welcome," Mrs. Fulcher said.

"Older boys and girls residing in the neighborhood willing to help at the party would be a welcome addition," she said.

The younger children are being asked to come in costume and bring a sealed sack of candy and a trick or treat bag for themselves. Candy brought to the party will be used to fill the bags, so each child will return home with a sack-full of goodies, which will be safe treats to consume," Mrs. Fulcher stressed.

"Halloween is a tradition and trick or treating is part of that tradition," the hostess said. "We all remember the fun we had as children—planning and dressing up in costume, running up to the houses and banging on the front door yelling 'trick or treat'."

"When we returned home with a bag full of treats, we dumped them out on the kitchen table and dove into them with relish."

"Today, trick or treating isn't as safe as it used to be," she commented. "Although a tragedy has not occurred in our area, we feel we shouldn't wait until one does happen before we set up some safeguards for the children."

"It is because of this feeling that my husband and I decided to invite all the neighborhood youngsters to a Halloween party, whether or not we know the child."

In keeping with the spirit of Halloween, Mrs. Fulcher said the house will be dark when children arrive, but a knock on the door will get immediate response. Part of the dwelling was transformed earlier this week into a traditional spookhouse setting.

"I think all the youngsters will enjoy themselves and will be safe from any possible harm," the hostess said. "Parents are invited to join us, if they wish to come, or may call 877-5942 if they have any questions," Mrs. Fulcher stated.

"Also, we would like to know tonight (Thursday) how many children to expect," she added.

Mrs. Fulcher is the former Miss Linda Hendricks, a 1966 graduate of Granite City High School. She is an income tax specialist and works part-time. Her husband, a 1965 GCHS graduate, is employed as an apprentice electrician at Granite City Steel.

Both hope their idea of an open house party for youngsters will "catch on" and similar parties will be arranged in other neighborhoods next Halloween.

Miss Susan Rardin new children's librarian

Miss Susan A. Rardin of Oxford, Ohio, has joined the Granite City Public Library staff as Children's Librarian. It was announced by Ronald L. Coleman, president of the Library Board.

Miss Rardin received her master of science degree in Library Science from Simmons College, Boston, Mass. She received a bachelor of arts degree with a major in American Studies at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Since entering the library science profession, Miss Rardin has worked for the Hoyt Library of the Western College of Miami University, Newton College, and the M. E. Fitzgerald Elementary School Library, Cambridge, Mass.

Her duties will include creating and developing children's programs, and will be continuing the Dial-A-Story program.

Consumers' rights conference

Government and private sector consumers' rights advocates will meet in St. Louis tomorrow and Saturday for the first National Institute on Consumer Law Practice to be held in the United States.

The two-day conference is aimed solely at exploring the available consumer remedies and defenses at the federal, state and local level.

The Young Lawyers Section of the American Bar Association is sponsoring the program as part of the bar's continuing education program. Speakers include Raymond Jast, assistant to the director, Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission; Edward Schmelzer, chief attorney, Fair Credit Practices, Office of Consumer Affairs; Federal Reserve Board; Winston M. Haythe, assistant general counsel of the Consumer Product Safety Commission; and Harvey Tuttlebaum, chief counsel of the Consumer Protection Division, Missouri Attorney General's Office.

"Consumer problems cover a broad range from product safety to credit availability. Consumer remedies also cover a broad spectrum from small claims court proceedings and arbitration to massive class actions in a federal district court," said William Robie, chairman of the National Institute Planning Committee which is directing the program.

"The program will provide the attorneys with an organized 'jumping off' point from which he may more expertly, knowledgeably, and successfully approach his client's consumer problems," Robie said.

Other speakers include The Honorable Elizabeth Hanford, commissioner, Federal Trade Commission; Edward J. Heiden, director of the Office of Economic and Policy Planning, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Barbara B. Gregg, director of the Office of Consumer Affairs, Montgomery County, Md.; Bette Clemens, director of consumer affairs, Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc.; and Reuben Robertson, attorney from the Public Citizen Litigation Group in Washington.

The meeting will be held at the St. Louis Marriott Hotel and will convene at 9 a.m. Friday.

Seed quality key to success in gardening

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Success in gardening depends upon the quality of the seed used. Many seeds stored overwinter may or may not maintain their quality and vigor. Some garden seeds remain viable for several years while others are good for only a year. This depends upon the specie and storage conditions.

The short-lived species include onion, sweet corn, spinach, and parsnips. These should be purchased fresh each year. Seeds that can be stored at least one year include bean, beet, carrot, chard, mustard, pepper, pumpkin, and tomatoes. Longer storage life (up to three or four years) should be gained from broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, cucumber, lettuce and melons.

Storage conditions affect the quality of seeds. High humidity causes the greatest reduction in quality. Conditions favoring longevity of seeds are low temperature and humidity and low seed moisture content. Select a location that will stay cool and dry, with the emphasis on dryness.

Under ideal storage conditions seeds sometimes may be kept longer than recommended. However, all stored seeds should be tested for germination in the early spring before planting in the garden. If the germination and vigor is low, seeding rates must be increased or else fresh seed must be obtained.

Garden equipment should be cleaned thoroughly. Make sure all hoses, pipes, and valves are drained. Coat all moving parts with oil before storage in a dry location.

A final step in preparing equipment for next year's gardening is to make all repairs now. Equipment will then be ready for the first nice day of spring.

Sprayers should be washed and dried thoroughly. Make sure all hoses, pipes, and valves are drained. Coat all moving parts with oil before storage in a dry location.

Gasoline engines on your power equipment need special care. After the last use of the season, drain the gas from both the tank and carburetor. The easiest way to drain the carburetor is to drain the tank, then let the engine run long enough to drain the carburetor. Drain the oil from the crankcase and refill with clean oil. Grease and oil all fittings. Remove the sparkplug and add a few drops of oil in the hole. Turn the flywheel or crankshaft a few times to distribute the oil and grease on all surfaces. These procedures will protect all parts from winter-time corrosion.

Public Notice 34
ORDINANCE NO. 3256
ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE OF RAILROAD FLASHING LIGHT SIGNALS AND GATE ARMS FOR RAILROAD CROSSING AT TWENTY-THIRD STREET AND OMAHA STREET, GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS.

OBEDIENCE BY PEDESTRIAN AND VEHICULAR TRAFFIC TO PROTECTIVE DEVICES AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION THEREOF.

WHEREAS, Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, presently uses and operates its railroad cars, engines and equipment on the railroad right-of-way at its crossing with 20th Street in Granite City, Illinois; and

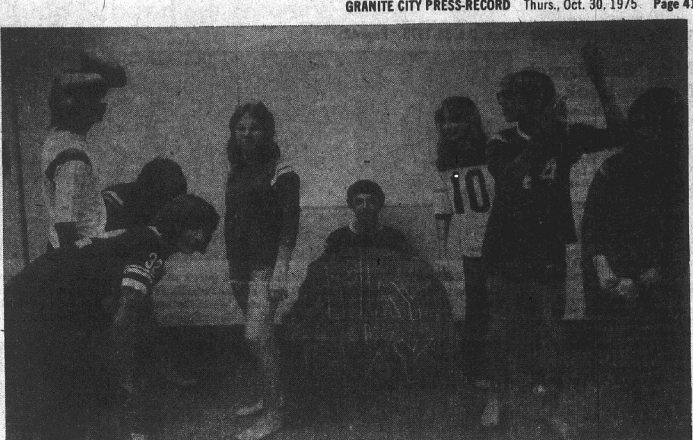

WHEREAS, in order to protect the public safety of pedestrian and vehicles using 20th Street at or near its intersection with said railroad tracks near Omaha Street, said Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, agrees to erect and maintain railroad flashing light signals and gate arms at said railroad crossing at 20th Street.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Granite City deems it necessary to promote public safety and to protect pedestrians and vehicular traffic on 20th Street that said protective devices be installed and maintained at said railroad crossing, and that all pedestrian and vehicular traffic obey said warning signals.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS: Section 1: Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, be and it is hereby authorized to install and maintain railroad flashing light signals and gate arms at the railroad crossing at 20th Street near Omaha Street, Granite City, Illinois.

Section 2: The installation and maintenance of said railroad protective devices shall be under the supervision and direction of the City Engineer and the Superintendent of Streets.

Section 3: Said railroad protective devices shall be installed at said intersection pursuant to Exhibit "A" which is attached hereto and made a part hereof as if set out herein in full, and shall be in compliance as near as possible with the specifications for railroad crossings and railroad protective devices as set forth in the standards of the Illinois Department of Transportation Design Manual. vehicle approaches the railroad crossing, such person must exercise due care and caution as the existence of the railroad track across the highway is a warning of danger and operators of vehicles shall stop within fifty (50) feet, but not less than fifteen (15) feet from the nearest rail of the railroad right-of-way when one or more of the following exists:

1. A clearly electrical or mechanical signal device gives warning of the immediate approach of a railroad train.

2. A crossing is lowered or a human flagman gives or continues to give a signal of the approach or passage of a railroad train.

3. A railroad train approaching the public road emits a warning signal and such railroad train by reason of its speed or nearness of such public road is an immediate hazard.

4. No person shall park a vehicle whether occupied or unoccupied within fifty (50) feet of the nearest rail of said railroad crossing.

Section 5: Every person violating Section 4, A or B, of this Ordinance shall be found guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than Two Hundred and Fifty ($250.00) Dollars for each offense.

Section 6: Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, and its successors and assigns, does hereby agree and to hold and save harmless the City of Granite City from any and all injuries to persons or damages to property caused by the construction of the railroad protective devices hereby authorized to be constructed and maintained by the Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, or by the failure of Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation, to keep such devices in good operating order; provided, however, that the City of Granite City shall give Granite City Steel Company, a Division of National Steel Corporation written notice within thirty (30) days of any injury to person or damage to property for which indemnity is sought hereunder and the opportunity to defend any claim arising therefrom with counsel of the choice of Granite City Steel, a Division of National Steel Corporation.

This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of its passage.

World renowned author to speak here

David Wilkerson, famed author of "The Cross and the Switchblade" will address a public meeting on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Granite City High School South. There will be no admission charge.

"The Cross and the Switchblade," Wilkerson's first book, is an account of the author's initial efforts to reach and rehabilitate street gang members during the era of the gang wars of the late 1950's and early 1960's.

First published in 1962, the book is in its 28th printing and has been translated into 32 languages. It has surpassed the 10 million mark in sales and was made into a feature-length movie in 1970 with Pat Boone playing the role of David Wilkerson.

Wilkerson's book details the formation of the organization called Teen Challenge which in the past decade has become one of the most successful in the world for the rehabilitation of drug addicts. Teen Challenge now has facilities in 50 cities in the United States and a documented cure rate of 74 per cent.

One of Wilkerson's first encounters with a teen gang member, as related in his book, was with Nicky Cruz, leader of the notorious Man Man's.

Cruz was known as one of the most feared and hated street fighters in New York. When Wilkerson first approached Cruz, the latter spit on him, slapped him across the face and told him to "go to hell."

Nicky Cruz later became David Wilkerson's first convert

Halloween night of fun and fright

Halloween is a "holiday" of fun and fright for young and old, and the event will offer varied activities in the Quad-City area Friday.

The annual Halloween parade sponsored by Moose Lodge No. 272 will be held at 7 p.m. Friday, beginning at the Granite City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave. Children will be judged and prizes awarded in categories of "best dressed", "most original" and "funniest".

Parade Chairman Archie Pulley announced that if it rains, the judging will be held under the canopy at the First Granite City National Bank.

A new film, "The Vault of Horror", will be shown in Granite City on Halloween night during a special midnight program at the Washington Theatre.

The film is a grouping of five separate, but related stories, of "ghouls, hammer-wielding housewives, gourmet vampires and revenge-mad lovers," according to Charles Van Bibber, theater manager.

Open tonight and Friday from 7 p.m. until the "witching hour" is a "Haunted House" at 2934 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, operated by Police Explorer Post 255.

The "house" features such seasonal creatures as "Mrs. Witch" and "Mr. Bones," a mummy in a crypt and a for-ture teller.

For the third year, Explorer Post 10-4 will feature a recently remodeled haunted castle located at 1316 Madison Ave., also open, today and Friday.

The "Castle" has several new and different attractions this year including a "ghost" playing an electric synthesizer outside the "castle." Other creepy creatures include Count Dracula greeting his friends for the third year.

Satellite pictures show quake area south of here

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Deeply buried faults subtly revealed by satellite pictures suggest an old earthquake zone astride the Mississippi River that may jostle the area south of here at any time.

Two U. S. Geological Survey scientists, reporting this, say they drew their conclusion from a study of Landsat and Skylab pictures of the northern section of the Mississippi embayment.

The particular section of the embayment covers a strip up to 300 miles wide, straddling the Mississippi from north of Cairo, Ill., to south of Clarksville, Miss.

It includes extreme Southern Illinois, Southeast Missouri, Southwest Kentucky, Northeast Arkansas, Western Tennessee and Northern Mississippi.

The two geologists, Dennis O'Leary and Shirley Simpson, said that earthquakes, including major ones, could occur at any time in the area they studied.

Many minor and moderate tremors have been recorded in this seismically active area. Only one, however, has been a major earthquake and that was probably the most severe in the history of the United States.

That great earthquake and mover began Dec. 16, 1811, and continued through the following March in the New Madrid, Mo., area.

It shook more than two-thirds of the nation over an area of one million square miles.

Satellite pictures for the first time, reveal subtle lines either too long or too faint to be traced on conventional aerial photographs. Pictures taken from airplanes cover a much smaller area than space photos.

The report detecting lines on the satellite pictures caused by the alignment of such geographic features as valley bottoms, ridge crests, streams and vegetation patterns.

The geologists assumed these to be surface expressions of the deep faults or joints—cracks or breaks in bedrock that have been buried under deep alluvial deposits laid down by the Mississippi in the recent geologic past.

They said their tracings, especially in the New Madrid area, "closely approximate" some epicenter trends of earthquakes in the region.

In their paper, prepared for a scientific meeting, they said,

"All the features described here suggest that, apart from other evidence, major earthquakes may occur locally through time anywhere throughout this region."

They also said any current seismic activity along the east side of the region, the Madrid area, "may only represent adjustments to a previous phase of activity concentrated in another part of the embayment."

Farmers protest grain agreement

The Illinois Farm Bureau board of directors has sent a strongly worded letter of protest to President Ford taking issue with his administration's five-year grain agreement with the Soviet Union.

The letter, signed by IFB President Harold B. Steele, asserts the agreement represents further evidence of a sell-off of your (Ford's) administration to organized labor."

The U.S.-Soviet agreement and other recent actions have left farmers "disappointed, disillusioned, and mad," Steele's letter to Ford stated.

Here is the text of the farm leader's letter to Ford:

"The board of directors of the Illinois Farm Bureau at its Oct. 24 meeting directed me to send you the following communication:

"The recently announced five-year grain agreement with the Soviet Union represents further evidence of a sell-off of your administration to organized labor. In our opinion, labor unions were successful in getting substantially higher shipping rates, a greater percentage of export grain shipped in American ships at a higher cost to the consumer and tax payer, and restrictions on export sales."

"Farmers did respond to your call for all-out grain production in 1975 in the belief that you were sincere in your assertion that markets would be kept free and open. In spite of these assurances, you limited grain sales to Russia and Poland. While the announcement has been made that such restrictions have been lifted, a close examination of the agreement reveals that such is not the case."

"If the Soviets want to buy over seven million metric tons of grain this year or eight million tons next year, there must be consultation between the two governments. This represents a rather effective lid on potential sales. Clearly this type of agreement moves the United States closer to government-to-government trading."

"The government is guaranteeing the Soviet Union grain which it does not own. There is fear among farmers that the next step might well be the accumulation of government-owned reserves of grain to fulfill these commitments."

History shows that reserves, once accumulated, can be used to depress farm prices and lower farm income.

"Farmers in Illinois have been supporters of your administration's policies designed to reduce government involvement in agricultural markets. This Soviet agreement represents a reversal of that policy. This and other recent actions have left farmers disappointed, disillusioned, and mad. Unless farmers' confidence can be restored quickly, it is unlikely that they will continue to support your administration."

Firefighting workshop

Representatives of several local fire departments attended a two-day workshop during the weekend at the Madison County Firemen's Hall on Collinsville Road near Collinsville.

The workshop, sponsored by the Illinois Fire Chiefs' Association, included lectures on high-rise fires, building construction, municipal water supplies, problems for fire services, sizing up a fire, community relations and how to set up fire prevention bureaus.

About 20 fire chiefs and instructors from the Chicago area conducted the workshop. Firefighters from throughout Madison County attended.

Vandals damage pressbox, fence

Vandals damaged the pressbox at the Granite City High School North football field, breaking a window on the second floor and pouring paint and chalk on the floor and equipment of the first floor, it was noticed at 8:10 a.m. Tuesday.

A tool locker was broken into and the tools were used to "hot wire" the ignition of a $4,200 tractor which then was driven over four sections of cyclone fencing at the baseball field.

The tractor then was parked behind the soccer field kickboard. The tools were used to dismantle and destroy several parts of the tractor.

Camp Sunnen conference attracts area explorers

The Cahokia Mound Council Explorer Planning Conference held at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo., during the weekend was attended by representatives of seven Explorer posts of the Uniwah District (Quad-City area). The Kickapoo (Bond county) district also sent representatives to the two-day planning conference.

Arriving on Friday evening the Explorers set up camp and at 10 p.m. gathered for hot dogs and marshmallows at a camp fire.

On Saturday morning, the Explorers and their leaders met for a general session on "How to Plan an Activity," led by W. F. "Mike" Strange, vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Council for Exploring.

The Explorers then broke up into several "buzz" groups to discuss programs for their posts, and activities the representatives wanted on a council level.

"Brainstorming" sessions were held on councilwide activities in the afternoon, followed by free time.

Saturday evening another campfire was held on a cliff overlooking Sunnen lake.

Later that evening "rock" music entertained the group at the commissary building.

The Explorers attended church and broke camp Sunday morning.

The event was under the direction of Thomas Hooks and Dr. Jack Miller, members of the council Exploring committee.

Exploring is a career oriented program within the Boy Scouts of America, for both young men and women between the ages of 14 and 21.

Several posts are co-ed, some are for boys only and others limit their membership to girls.

Anyone wishing more information on the Explorer program may contact the Carl Graham Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave., phone 876-6866.

Hunters roam Marshall park

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois' state parks and memorials.

By JOAN MURARO
LAOCN—Marshall County conservation area on the backwaters of the Illinois river six miles south of Lacon is operated by the Illinois department of conservation, in conjunction with two other nearby conservation areas, all part of the chain of waterfowl refuges in Illinois.

Jointly the three—Marshall County, Sparland and Spring Branch conservation areas—are referred to as Marshall Conservation Area, with a total of 6,044 acres located in the heart of the mallard duck flyway.

Marshall county conservation area is located on Ill. Rt. 26, on the east side of the river and includes 3,122 acres in hardwood, wildflowers and water.

Before white men came to the area, Potawatomi Indians lived in the region between Peoria and Ottawa, with one of their chiefs being Mucktepokee, better known as Black Partridge. Chief Mucktepokee was a friend of the early white arrivals, but the settlers eventually were raided by other Indians not under his control.

The settlers during his absence retaliated by wiping out his village and killing 30 old men, women and children. After his village was erased, the chief in turn began raiding the settlers, though he had not been involved in the initial raids which had caused the trouble. The brief warfare soon was smoothed over, however, and the chief returned to Big Spring village, where he died about 1820.

In memory of the chief, The Black Partridge Trail, which starts at the Marshall County Conservation Area, has been dedicated to him.

In the bluff portion of the conservation area are squirrel, deer, rabbit and quail, while the hardwood timber shelters songbirds, waterfowl and hawks, with some eagles in the winter.

Marshall county conservation area has a picnic area, a camping area with 40 pads, most with electricity; boat rentals and a gravel launching ramp. During waterfowl season the lake is closed to fishermen but the ditch at headquarters is open and used heavily. Outside the waterfowl season, fishermen find largemouth bass, bluegill, crappie, bullhead, channel catfish and carp in the lake with its 10 miles of shoreline. The conservation area is improved with water hydrants, pit toilets and a sanitary dumping station, but there is no concession facility.

On the other side of the river just north of Sparland on the Illinois River is Sparland Conservation area, with 1,390 acres, 1,110 of it under water. There is a parking lot off Ill. Rt. 29 but otherwise no facilities are available. It is used chiefly by waterfowl hunters, and has 18 blinds assigned by drawing. There is no check station at Sparland and blinds are open to the public when the bluffs fail to claim them a half hour before shooting starts.

Also on the west side of the river is the Spring Branch conservation area, made up of four properties located on the river between Sparland and Chillicothe. It includes 1,642 acres with water under forest to riverbottom forest and cropland. Upland game and forest game hunting is permitted on some of the area, and fishermen find good sport in the "brickyard" area, which takes its name from a brick company located there.

Presently there are only pit toilets and a parking area at Spring Branch, though future plans call for picnic areas, boat launches and security lighting.

Headquarters is at Marshall county conservation area, with the manager's office and residence, maintenance buildings and a check station for deer and waterfowl hunters. Use of waterfowl blinds is determined by public drawing, with unclaimed blinds daily available by drawing. Waterfowl shooting must stop at noon, when hunters must check in.

Additional information about the site can be obtained by writing or calling the Marshall Conservation Area, Box 292, Lacon, or by contacting the information-education division of the State Conservation Department in the State Office Building at Springfield.

Consumer protection conference Saturday

Are there unsatisfactory results after complaints about defective merchandise or poor service? Can synthetic food additives affect one's health? Where can one go with legal problems when one can't afford a lawyer? How can federal regulations be changed to benefit consumers?

These and other consumer-related questions will be addressed at a Consumer Protection Conference at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn Saturday. The meeting will be jointly sponsored by the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and the Office of Economic Education of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Several experts in various areas of consumerism will outline the work of their organizations and answer questions relating to their specialties.

Speakers representing federal consumer agencies will include Joy Jones of the Federal Trade Commission, Dr. Dorothy Dunn of the Food and Drug Administration and Dr. Marvin Crutcher of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The luncheon speaker, Michael A. Brown, general counsel, U. S. Product Safety Commission will provide an overview of that agency.

Functions of state and local consumer-oriented agencies will be given by Jim Schmitt, president and general manager, Better Business Bureau of Greater St. Louis; George Shafer, chief of Consumer Protection, Illinois Attorney General's Office; G. Michael Bauer, assistant attorney general, Consumer Protection Division, Missouri Attorney General's Office; Lois J. Wood, staff attorney, Land of Lincoln Legal Aid Foundation, and David Lander of the Legal Aid Society of the City and County of St. Louis.

Several "mini sessions" will be conducted in the afternoon on how to best use materials published by the various agencies.

Extend police car bidding

A second attempt to purchase a new police car for the Pontoon Beach Police Department failed at the Village Board's meeting Saturday morning as only one bid was received.

The board decided to advertise for more bids to be received before 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 1, when a special meeting was called to open the bids.

The one bid which was received by the board was left sealed and tabled until the Saturday meeting.

The board agreed to purchase a used 1959 dump truck from a village resident for $1,000. The truck will end the renting of a truck and driver for $25 per day by the village's street department.

The board's attorney, Paul Guzzardo, reported on 28 suits filed against residents who are delinquent in paying their Quiet Valley Sanitary Lagoon treatment bills. Four were settled last week and are paying overdue bills.

Suits against many of the other 24 are pending while others are now paying the bills. The board agreed to investigate the cost of purchasing group liability insurance for all appointed and elected village officials.

Modern burn center aiding Mitchell boy

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
At 7:20 a.m. Friday, John W. Nash, 13, rescued Oct. 13 after being burned by high-tension wires, was taken by ambulance to Bi-State Parks Airport for transfer by chartered plane to the Shrine Burn Center in Cincinnati.

Word that a bed was available for him was received by Shrine Avery Schermer, a member of the Ainaid Temple Transportation committee, late Thursday afternoon. Schermer then made arrangements for the plane and ambulance and alerted St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The boy, now in satisfactory condition, was treated here for first- and second-degree electrical burns to the face, neck, upper back, chest and both shoulders.

He was burned by a 34,000-volt electrical wire on a Union Electric Co. tower in a field at the end of Carolyn Boulevard in Mitchell.

Members of the Mitchell Fire Department and Clancy Ward, who lives near the tower, rescued the youth from a point about 80 feet off the ground. He was accompanied to Cincinnati on Friday by his mother, Mrs. Bill (Peggy) Morris, a secretary at St.

Elizabeth Hospital; Sister Mary Michael, nurse coordinator of the St. Elizabeth Hospital Intensive Care Unit (ICU); and Shrine Schermer.

The Shrine Burn Center has 30 beds, with a professional and semi-professional staff of 185 people, enabling personalized service to children using the latest techniques in treatment of burns.

The center is regarded as one of the most modern burn clinics in the world.

There is no charge to any family having a child treated there, as the burn center is supported by Shrine members through such activities as the Shrine circus and through private contributions.

The local area transportation fund is maintained by Ainaid Shriners from private donations.

High moisture corn is good dairy feed

By DAVE FISCHER
Farm Extension Adviser
High-moisture corn is an excellent feed for dairy cows, but pound for pound, it is not quite as good as dry corn.
Because it contains more water, certain allowances should be made when feeding high-moisture corn to milking cows. As a substitute for dry corn in dairy rations, more high-moisture corn is needed to obtain the same energy, protein and mineral intake levels.
It takes about 1.13 pounds of good quality corn at 26-per cent moisture to equal one pound of 15-per cent moisture corn. The amount of 36-per cent moisture corn needed to equal one pound of dry corn is about 1.21 pounds. And 1.31 pounds of 35-per cent moisture corn are needed to equal one pound of dry corn.

It will take a little more labor to put cows in clean maternity pens a few days ahead of calving this fall and winter, but this extra effort can pay big dividends in reduced calf losses. Having the cow in a pen will make it easier to check her frequently before, during and after calving so you can be sure everything is normal. Wash and sanitize the udder and teats before the calf nurses.

See that the calf is breathing normally after it is born. Cover the navel with tincture of iodine as soon after birth as possible to prevent "navel ill" and other serious infections. Make sure the calf nurses and gets colostrum within the first 15 to 20 minutes after it is born.

The calves can stand low temperatures. If there is enough bedding to keep them dry, and if drafts are controlled, solid parities about four feet high will prevent cross-drafts. Sudden chilling of the calves. Proper ventilation is needed, however, to remove excess moisture. There will actually be less difficulty with respiratory infections in a dry, cold calf born than in one that is warm and humid.

Illinois Circular 992 "Feeding, Managing, and Housing Dairy Calves" contains many ideas, suggestions and recommendations for raising calves that will help you reduce death losses. You can obtain a copy from the Cooperative Extension office.

The ten highest producing herds in the Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in September were Mrs. Freda Linenbroker, Jim Beane, Leland Steiner, Paramount Farm, Inc., Ronald Huegen, Henry Zoelzer, Vernon Becker, Manitou, Inc., Eugene Meffert, and George Daiber. The herd of Mrs. Freda Linenbroker was high for the month with 1,800 pounds and recommendations for raising calves that will help you reduce death losses. You can obtain a copy from the Cooperative Extension office.

Completing 305 days lactation with a record of 650 pounds or more of butterfat was a 4-year-old cow in the herd of Leland Steiner with 826 pounds butterfat and 24,978 pounds milk, a 5-year-old cow in the herd of Paramount Farm, Inc., with 768 pounds butterfat and 20,146 pounds milk, a 7-year-old cow in the herd of Harold and Carl Baumann with 752 pounds butterfat and 19,625 pounds milk and a 3-year-old cow with 666 pounds butterfat and 16,248 pounds milk.

A 7-year-old cow in the herd of Vernon Becker with 741 pounds butterfat and 19,641 pounds milk and a 4-year-old cow with 696 pounds butterfat and 16,848 pounds milk, a 6-year-old cow in the herd of George Daiber with 718 pounds butterfat and 17,383 pounds milk, a 4-year-old cow in the herd of Marvin Sille with 713 pounds butterfat and 18,111 pounds milk, a 4-year-old cow in the herd of Joe and Ed Fessler with 709 pounds butterfat and 15,956 pounds milk, a 7-year-old cow with 653 pounds butterfat and 18,802 pounds milk, and a 5-year-old cow with 633 pounds butterfat and 16,768 pounds milk.

An 8-year-old cow in the herd of Henry Zoelzer with 699 pounds butterfat and 17,690 pounds milk and a 4-year-old cow with 657 pounds butterfat and 16,328 pounds milk, a 3-year-old cow in the herd of Ronald Huegen with 696 pounds butterfat and 18,680 pounds milk and a 4-year-old cow with 679 pounds butterfat and 16,315 pounds milk, a 7-year-old cow in the herd of Vernon Warnecke with 695 pounds butterfat and 15,753 pounds milk.

A 4-year-old cow in the herd of Jim Beane with 688 pounds butterfat and 16,886 pounds milk, a 3-year-old cow in the herd of Elmer Schaeke & Son with 676 pounds butterfat and 18,027 pounds milk, an 8-year-old cow in the herd of Waldo Keilbach with 674 pounds butterfat and 17,768 pounds milk, and a 5-year-old cow in the herd of Mrs. Freda Linenbroker with 666 pounds butterfat and 16,886 pounds milk.

Kelly Plumbing Co. opens here

Kelly Plumbing Co., located at 2250 State St., owned and operated by Kelly Hogan, opened for business Tuesday. Hogan has 11 years of experience as a licensed plumber and is a member of the Plumbers & Gasfitters Local 360, East St. Louis.
A lifelong resident of Granite City, Hogan graduated from South High School and served three years with the U.S. Army, with one year of duty in Vietnam.
He is married to the former Vicki Lakin and they have twin sons, Jamie and Timothy, 6 years old.
The company is equipped to take care of both commercial and residential work, as well as all types of repair work, Hogan said.

Water leak causes ceiling to collapse

A water leak in an upstairs apartment at 1235 Nineteenth St. caused the first floor ceiling to collapse into the Bassett Agency office of Ohio National Life Insurance Co., it was discovered early this week.
Workmen removed water from the building and cleaned the office.
A plumber last week had been working in the apartment where the leak occurred.

Outing for handicapped at Grafton

Seventy handicapped or mentally retarded individuals from communities in the Madison County area took part in a two-day outing to Camp Oatunga at Pate, Macreux State Park in Grafton. The participants were all clients from the four Specialized Services rehabilitation facilities in Alton, Madison and Collinsville.

Through the efforts of several community organizations and clubs, money was raised to help pay for the outing, which featured nature hikes, cooking, overnight camping and other recreational activities.

Participating clubs that helped provide financial backing for the event included: Alton Exchange Club, Alton Lions Club, Wood River Jaycees, Granite City Jaycees, Collinsville Jaycees and the Madison County Deputy Sheriff Association.

Bill Crivello was coordinator of the event. Specialized Services has expanded recreational activities in the past several months to include camping, dancing, holiday parties, picnics, preparation for Special Olympics competition, field trips, swimming and bowling.

"It's difficult to provide the variety of activities which are not readily available for the handicapped, unless you've got the money to do it," Crivello said. "It is hoped that in the months ahead we can get sufficient community support for an organized and continuing recreational program which would provide year-round activities for our clients."

"We originally hoped to have a two or three-day outing," Crivello added, "but because of lack of funds and lack of time, we had to cut it down to two days and one night. Next year, we may be able to offer a one-week stay for all those who are interested."

The Specialized Services staff and community volunteers provided supervision for the event.

Crivello added, "We acted as a group, trying not to separate the clients from the staff any more than necessary."

"Everyone shared in everything — from gathering and cutting the firewood, to cooking the food and cleaning up after meals. Everybody did his part, and it seemed to work out well."

Groups and individuals that may be interested in supporting the handicapped recreation program may contact Dan Summers, coordinator for recreational activities, at 465-4293 or Crivello at 344-3774.

55-acre park opposite Arch is called feasible

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) during the weekend announced the results of a special study on the feasibility of an east bank extension of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial.

The affirmative report is based on a special study conducted jointly by the National Park Service and the City of East St. Louis. Its implementation depends on funding by the federal government.

The study has proposed the development of a 55-acre park along the Mississippi riverfront in East St. Louis as a national park, to complement the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial directly across the river.

The site was chosen from a study of 300 acres in East St. Louis bounded by Eads Bridge on the north, the Poplar Street Bridge on the south, Interstate 55/70 on the east and the riverfront on the west.

Cong. Price described the main features of the park as a park as a two-story pavilion, a viewing terrace, lookouts and a scenic drive.

The pavilion would contain such facilities as an information center, sales area, offices and a terminal for a Personal Rapid Transit system — a monorail system designed to take visitors from the Gateway Arch site to the east bank extension via a guideway constructed under the Eads Bridge.

A sloping, grassy viewing terrace would be located directly in front of the pavilion, allowing an unobstructed view of the Arch and riverfront events for approximately 20,000 spectators.

Cong. Price said that a wharf promenade-ramp also has been planned. It would provide a profile of the St. Louis riverfront, and would tie in with the proposed extension of the Great River Road, which follows the Mississippi from the Wisconsin border to Cairo, The River Road currently is being extended southward from Granite City to Venice.

Fall weddings solemnized in flower-bedecked churches

Debra Lucas marries Raymond W. Stewart

Bouquets of yellow roses were arranged with green ferns to provide the setting at the Word of Life Tabernacle for the wedding on Oct. 11 of Miss Debra Kay Lucas and Raymond William Stewart.

Preceding the ceremony Cindy Mahoney sang "My Cup Runneth Over With Love" and "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied at the organ and piano by Buddy Humphrey and Robbie Gay, respectively.

Officiating at the double ring service at 5 o'clock in the evening was the Rev. Henry Crippen.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Guy Lucas, 3804 John Glenn Drive. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Stewart, 801 Reynolds St., Madison.

For her wedding, the former Miss Lucas selected a full-length white empire style gown of mira mist. The high neckline was accented with lace motifs which were repeated on the bodice and long sheer sleeves.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure a melody-length veil, edged with a tiny lace trim, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath.

Honor attendant Mrs. Terry Street and the bridesmaids, Miss Kendall Lucas, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Patricia Matheny, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Darlene Grant, wore identical gowns of yellow and green floral chiffon.

Empire in design their dresses were created with V-necklines and long sleeves, enhanced with lace trim.

Their hair was covered with lace bordered veils held in place with matching lace headpieces.

Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow carnations with baby's breath.

The flower girl, Rachelle Matheny, a cousin of the bride, was dressed similar to the adult attendants.

Mike Taylor, the groom's nephew, served as the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Charles Taylor. Groomsmen and ushers included Johnny Parker, an uncle of the bride, David Street, Bob Grant, Robert Richard and Mark Hendrickson.

An early evening reception was hosted by the bride's parents at the Central Methodist Church recreation hall in Pontoon Beach. A later reception was given at the Victory Tavern in Madison by the groom's parents.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are now residing in Madison following a wedding trip to Greenville, Mo.

The groom is employed at Midwest Card Co., St. Louis.

MRS. RAYMOND STEWART, who was married at the Word of Life Tabernacle. She is the former Miss Debra Kay Lucas, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Guy Lucas, 3804 John Glenn Drive.

Joni Kay Miller weds Michael A. Richardson

Miss Joni Kay Miller, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Miller, 3009 Sunbury Ave., became the bride of Michael Alan Richardson, son of Mrs. Josephine Richardson, 2912 Iowa St., on Sept. 19 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening was Father James Hill.

Organist Mrs. Margaret Crayshaw accompanied Mrs. Margaret MacZura, who sang a program of nuptial selections.

For her wedding, the bride wore a long white organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice accented with tiny tucks and peau d'ange lace and a ruffled neckline.

Lace motifs trimmed the long sheer sleeves, encircled the empire waist and were repeated on the skirt and court train.

Her mantilla veil was bordered with scalloped lace and she held a colonial bouquet of carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Maid of honor Miss Brenda Rawlings and bridesmaids, Mrs. Diana Garner, Miss Shari Miller, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Jean McKinney, the groom's sister, Mrs. Vicki Chapman, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Debbie Modlin, were gowned in moss green and ruby red polyester dresses.

Their gowns were made with round necklines and semi-full skirts and complemented with wide brimmed hats and long sleeve jackets.

Christina Pingel, the flower girl, wore a frock of white organza and lace with long sleeves and a high neckline. A bow was worn in her hair.

Jimmy Modlin served as the ringbearer.

Attending the groom was Tom Carmody, Tony Garner, Tony Vitale, Mark McKinney, Gerald Ferry, Matt Gasparovic, Darryl Slater and Walter Pingel, who served as the groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the Polish Hall in Madison.

The rehearsal dinner was served at Charlie's Restaurant. A 1974 graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is employed by Burger King Corp. Her husband attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and now works at Albert Chemical Corp., St. Louis.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL A. RICHARDSON. They were married in an early evening ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Formerly Miss Joni Kay Miller, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Miller, 3009 Sunbury Ave.

Joan Stephens is wed

The Mounds Park Church of God, Collinsville, was the scene of the wedding at 4 p.m. Oct. 11 of Mrs. Joan Stephens and Bob K. McCurter. The Rev. Robert Cherry officiated.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Angle Jr., a brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Leona Angle, 2202 Kirkpatrick Homes, and the late E. F. Angle Sr. The groom's mother, Mrs. Alice McCurter, resides in Malden, Mo.

After a wedding trip, the newly married Mr. and Mrs. McCurter are now residing at 2232 E. 24th St.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Bob K. McCurter, who were married at the Mounds Park Church of God in Collinsville. The bride is the former Mrs. Joan Stephens.

Hugh Clements' mark 25th year

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clements of Granite City were honored at a buffet supper and dance during the weekend in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary.

About 65 friends and relatives of the couple gathered at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall in Pontoon Beach to celebrate the occasion.

Hosts for the party were Mrs. Clements' sisters, Mrs. Mary Ann Ramsey of Granite City, Mrs. Barbara Sudbring of Collinsville and Mrs. Doris Robinson of Edwardsville; and her brother, Rich Staggs of Granite City.

Mr. and Mrs. Clements were married at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church on Oct. 27, 1950. She is the former Miss Mildred Staggs.

Their attendants at the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hill, were present at the anniversary event. Also in attendance were Mrs. Clements' mother, Mrs. Elsie Staggs, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements. All reside in Granite City.

Pink rosebuds decorated the buffet table which held a tiered wedding cake as its centerpiece.

A four-piece band played music for dancing during the evening hours. Many gifts were presented to the honorees.

Catherine Manning and Kevin McGarrahan wed

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Catherine Diane Manning and Kevin Andrew McGarrahan, taking place Oct. 11 at St. Jude Catholic Church in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The bride is a daughter of David J. Manning and Mrs. Carolyn Manning, both of Fort Wayne. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. George Lee McGarrahan, reside at 817 Lee Ave., Madison.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon was the Rev. William Sullivan.

An all-classical program of wedding music was played by organist Edward Throm, including Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary," "Prelude in C" by J. S. Bach and "Ode to Joy" by Beethoven.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Vicki Aughinbaugh. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mervin Spaw and Miss Jane Manning, a sister of the bride.

The groom chose his brother, Keith McGarrahan, as best man. Jim Schmittmeyer and Ken McGarrahan, another brother of the groom, were groomsmen.

A reception was held at the Sheraton Inn, Fort Wayne, immediately following the wedding.

The groom's parents hosted another reception on Oct. 18 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City, following the return of the couple from a trip to Mexico City.

The former Miss Manning graduated from St. Francis College in Fort Wayne. Her husband is employed at the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis.

They are now residing in Madison.

REV. GARY HINES
Evangelist

The program includes The Living Waters from Edmundson Road Baptist Church, St. Louis, and Granite City groups—The Windows of Third Baptist Church, The Unbroken Circle Singers; Jay and the Gospelaires from the Second Baptist Church; the Lewis Gospel Singers; Joy Singers and Elvin Kendall and Pam Peters from the host church and Clarence Hagler of Bethesda Baptist Church.

The Rev. Peters said the program is designed for persons to "come and go" at a time to suit their schedule. There will be an intermission and fellowship hour with refreshments at 8 p.m.

Revival services will start on Sunday evening and continue through Sunday, Nov. 9, featuring Gary Hines as the guest evangelist, the Rev. Peters reports.

The Rev. Hines received his education in the public schools of Ponca City, Okla., at Northern Oklahoma College and the University of Tennessee. He lives in Garland, Tex., and pastored churches for 12 years in Tennessee, Oklahoma and Texas prior to becoming an evangelist.

His wife, Cheryl, and children, Jeff, Jay and Charise, travel with the Rev. Hines in a trailer. The youngsters are enrolled in the Calvert School, the same as children of foreign missionaries. They also are tutored by their parents daily.

Song services for the week will be led by Elvin Kendall, with special music each night.

Activities of the week include, "Meet the Evangelist" fellowship following the Sunday evening service; Monday—church loyalty night; Tuesday and Thursday—pack-a-pew nights; Wednesday—Sunday school night; Friday—"children's hot dog supper" (grades 1-7) at 6:30 p.m. in church fellowship hall with a prize given to the boy and girl who bring the most first time visitors and parents may attend.

Saturday—"Youth Blast," a chili supper for youth ages 12 and older at the church at 6:30 p.m.; Sunday—High attendance day.

Puppet and magic shows for children ages 5 to 12 will be given Tuesday through Friday from 7 to 7:25 p.m.

Tri-City Secretaries select Eugene Verdu

Eugene M. Verdu, director of Programs and Services for Older Persons at Belleville Area College, was recipient of the "Boss of the Year" award presented annually by the Tri-City Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International).

Verdu received the honor at the 11th annual "Boss Night" dinner held last week at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville.

Presenting the plaque was Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, the 1974 Boss of the Year.

Miss Anne Smith, chapter president, gave the welcoming address and Mrs. Helen Giessele served as mistress of ceremonies. Preceding a buffet dinner, Mrs. Helen Christoff offered the invocation.

The American Indian served as theme for the affair. Program covers featured an Indian sending smoke signals, reflecting the theme—"Big Boss Night." Favors were crocheted tom-toms and the head table was centered with Indian corn, gourds, pumpkins and a tomahawk.

Past bosses of the year were designated "big chiefs" and the entertainment featured Indian dances.

A staunch supporter of the National Secretaries Association and the Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) program, Verdu has attended many activities of the local chapter. He encourages all secretaries to attend NSA meetings, to join the organization, if possible, and to enroll in CPS training.

Mrs. Anne Smith, president of the local NSA chapter, waits to congratulate the award recipient.

Outstanding Catholic Layman and Jaycees Distinguished Service awards; the first place award from the National U. S. Jaycees Project; and certificates of appreciation from the Heart Fund and the Board of Trustees of the Belleville Parks and Recreation Department.

He also has been appointed a voting delegate to the White House Conference of Aging and was recipient of an Award of Recognition from the Senior Citizens Fair, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Past bosses of the year recognized at the dinner were Harry Thebeau, Larry Siderer, Mrs. Mary Sedekum, Elroy Rule, Norman LeTorneau and Paul Hatfield. Each was presented a jug of apple cider.

In keeping with the program theme, entertainment was provided by the Cahokia Mounds Indians. Dancers under the direction of Frank Joachimschaler.

Ten members of the group performed several interpretive Indian dances. With a current membership of 57 youngsters, the Indian Cahokia Mounds dance group hopes to expand to 100 youth, Joachimschaler said.

In June, the dancers gave a special performance for the Russian Ballet Company during its appearance at the St. Louis Many Opera.

The area dance group has been invited to Germany next year as part of an exchange program involving the Bicentennial Horizon of American Music and Performance Arts (BHAMA), the director explained. The German people are very responsive to Indian dancing and the most popular costumes for festivals in Germany is American Indian dress, he said.

About 50 attended the dinner. Serving on the Boss' Night committee were Mrs. Giessele and Miss Jane Davis, co-chairmen; and Miss Twila Edmonds, Mrs. Joyce Savieh, Mrs. Mary Galt, Mrs. Sally Gracey and Mrs. Betty Borsch.

Maid helps students in search for better life

The nine years Nan Hackethal has spent working as a maid for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been filled with one experience after another. Her eyes gleam with excitement as she boasts about all the love she has shared during those years.

"I guess I mother all my student workers," she confessed with a smile. "I never have a Mother's Day or a birthday when they don't come back to visit or bring me a present."

Mrs. Hackethal had originally intended to work at the University for only three months, "just long enough to get my youngest son started in at SIUE," she explained, "and here I am, nine years later."

Through the years at SIUE, Mrs. Hackethal has acquired a greater understanding of students and the lives they have to lead. "Before I came here, my vision of college life was all party and play. Now I realize that a student working his or her way through school has got one heck of a way to go," she said, "and it sure isn't easy."

Mrs. Hackethal's "biggest thrill" occurred a few weeks ago, when one of her former student workers, Jim Wilner, dropped in for a visit. Wilner is working in Washington, with the Warren Commission on the Kennedy assassination. He told Mrs. Hackethal that his interest and involvement in the commission was inspired by the frequent discussions they had about the assassination during their lunch breaks, a few years ago.

A major part of Mrs. Hackethal's life is helping others to find a better life. Some years ago, while working in the University Center, she noticed that one of the student workers—an overweight girl with very bad teeth—only ate bread and water for lunch. Assuming the girl was on a diet, she said, "Mary, that bread sure isn't going to do anything for your weight."

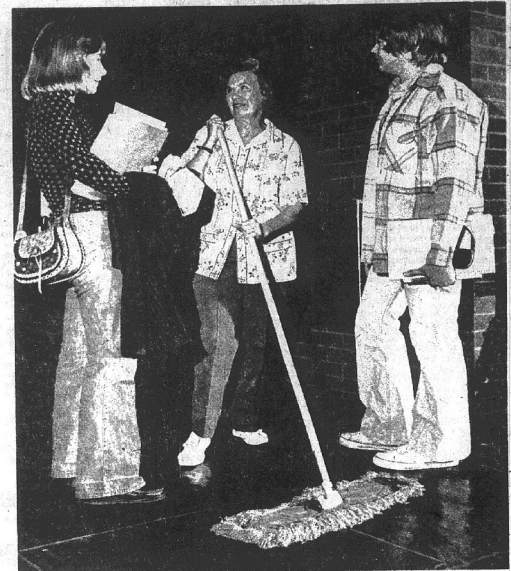

Breaking into tears, Mary told her she couldn't afford to eat more, because the money she made working in the kitchen was all she had to live on. Mrs. Hackethal and another worker also noticed Mary wore the same clothes day after day. Their concern led them to provide her with substantial food and clothing. "Later," Mrs. Hackethal said, "we were able to get some of the instructors interested in her situation. They sent her to a dentist to get her teeth fixed, and then they got her a good job."

Mrs. Hackethal becomes involved with other people's lives and problems because it's all she's ever known. In the Southern Illinois farm community where she was reared, she said, "Everybody was so doggone poor, we didn't know we were poor. We all learned to help each other." When her mother died at age 36, her father was left with 10 kids to rear alone. "We all had to chip in," she said. "I've seen whole families die of typhoid, so neighbors just had to help each other in order to survive—it was a way of life," she stated.

According to Mrs. Hackethal, kids of every generation have to do their own thing. She said she gets along with them because she understands them. "I talk to them and tell them what I think, but I don't try to change them," and she emphasized, "I never will."

Nan Hackethal has worked since she was 14 years old. Through it all, at 58, she is one person who has had a chance to see the rewards of her hard work. Looking at her in pedal-pushers and white anklets as she talks of her eldest son, a naval chief petty officer, her daughter, head of the business office at Bell Telephone, and her youngest son, a special education teacher in Australia, as well as her "adopted kids" at SIUE, one can see it doesn't take sitting on a throne to feel like a queen.

MANY JUST CALL HER MOM—Nan Hackethal (center), a maid at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been both friend and helper to the students at SIUE for almost nine years. "I listen to their problems, and I tell 'em what I think, but I don't try to change them and I never will," she said. From the left: Cathi Carvin, Peoria, a senior at SIUE; Mrs. Hackethal; and Steve Rotsch, Staunton, a junior at the University.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK RODGERS JR., who exchanged wedding vows at the Freewill Baptist Church. The bride is the former Mrs. Vinnell Goodman of Granite City.

Vinnell Goodman becomes Mrs. Frank Rodgers Jr.

The wedding of Mrs. Vinnell Goodman, Rural Route One, Granite City, and Frank Rodgers Jr., 3008 E. 23rd St., was solemnized in an afternoon ceremony Oct. 25 at the Freewill Baptist Church, 2216 Charles St.

Officiating at the 2 o'clock service was the Rev. Charles Rhodes before an altar adorned with bouquets of autumn flowers.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Polly Britton, Keiser, Ark. Escorted to the altar by her son, Billy Gene Goodman, the former Mrs. Goodman chose a long gown of blue double knit. The bodice was made with long, sheer puff sleeves and a high

She held a colonial bouquet of white carnations and red Sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor Miss Becky Rodgers, a daughter of the groom, selected a floral dress in blue, pink, white and beige tones. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Attending the groom as best man was John Goodman Jr., the bride's son.

The groom is employed as an arranger-programmer at the Granite City Press-Record.

After a wedding trip to the Missouri Ozarks, the couple will reside here.

Protestant Welfare aids 125

A total of $719 for relief assistance, clothing and household items were given to Quad-City residents by the Protestant Welfare Association, Inc., in September. It was reported at a meeting of the organization. The amount aided 49 cases involving 125 persons.

Members met at Suburban Baptist Church, 2600 St. Clair Ave., last week with the host pastor, The Rev. Bob Worley offering the opening devotion. Clarence Baumeier, president, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Irma Taylor read the secretary and treasurer reports.

Office Secretary Mrs. Marie Whittle, announced that $441 had been donated for food for the needy families, $6 for medicine, $3 for miscellaneous and $13 for lodging. Twenty orders, of clothing and shoes were supplied from the organization's store room at an approximate cost of $182, and household items valued at $72.

Mrs. Whittle added that 36 recipients are now receiving Mobile Meals at the present time.

Visitations were made to Colonial Haven Nursing Home by the group's visiting committee, the president said.

Baumeier appointed C. F. Reimers, Mrs. Minnie Dillard, George Hopkins and Jesse Parks to serve on the nominating committee.

The Nov. 18 meeting is scheduled to be held at the Third Baptist Church, 2600 Grand Ave., with the Rev. Roy Johnson, host pastor.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My wife and I are legally separated under a written separation agreement. The court decreed that I make weekly maintenance and child support payments for an indefinite period. Are these payments deductible?

A. Child support payments are not deductible, but you should check IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents," to see if you are entitled to claim the child as a dependent.

Payments under a written separation agreement are deductible as alimony only if they meet certain requirements. Since you and your wife are separated and you are making periodic payments, two of the requirements are satisfied. However, in order for the payments to be deductible, they must be made after the execution of the separation agreement. In addition, you and your wife may not file a joint return.

If all these requirements are satisfied, you may claim the payments as an itemized deduction on Schedule A of Form 1040. For further information see IRS Publication 504, "Income Tax Deductions for Alimony Payments."

Q. Can I deduct a $75 campaign contribution I made to the recent political fund raising telethon?

A. You may deduct up to $100 ($200 on a joint return) for cash contributions to a national, state or local committee of a national political party, as long as the money is used to advance a candidate for elected office.

Cash contributions made directly to a candidate, campaign committee or newsletter fund during the year will qualify for the deduction if the candidates declare their candidacies by the end of the following calendar year. Again, the money must be used only to advance the campaign, nomination or election to public office.

You should have a written receipt or cancelled check to back up your claim, and itemize the deduction on Schedule A of Form 1040.

Instead of claiming a deduction, you have the option of using half your contribution as a direct credit against your tax. For further information see IRS Publication 585, "Voluntary Tax Methods to Help Finance Political Campaigns."

Q. I take daily doses of vitamins and iron supplements to avoid colds and other sicknesses. Is the cost of these pills deductible as a medical expense?

A. If you are taking the vitamins and iron supplements only to preserve your general health, and not on your doctor's prescription or recommendation, the cost does not qualify as a medical expense.

Complete police course

Two Granite City policemen, Doug Law and David Polivick, have finished near the top of their class in the six-week Basic Law Enforcement Course at Belleville Area College.

Law was honored by the director of the program as the best marksman with Polivick second. Polivick had the best notebook in the course with Law second.

Certificates of graduation were awarded to the two patrolmen by Marvin O'Mella, executive director of the Illinois Legal Governmental Training Board.

Loot liquor store

A brick was thrown through the front plate glass window at Sullie's Package Liquors, 23rd Street and Washington Avenue, and liquor worth about $51 was stolen, it was reported at 4 a.m. Tuesday.

The brick also broke bottles of liquor worth $44 inside the store, it was noted.

Democratic race—as viewed from trackside

By AL MANNING

Have you ever noticed how race track jargon has crept into our political vocabulary? We have dark horses, front runners, trial heats and stretch runs. Candidates are always running for office.

Like at the track, the race pays scant attention to the runners' previous record — they prefer to bet on a long shot who looks good. Style means a lot. Rather than study the program, they prefer to ask reporters to hand-cup the race for them.

Let's go now to Walter Cronkite at trackside:

"Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the 1976 Democratic Sweepstakes. Here are the entries:

"No. 1, on the inside rail, George Wallace, the biggest money winner of the year. He was running very well in his last race until leg trouble forced him out, but he has a new sulky. No. 2, Birch Bayh of Indiana Farms, owned and trained by Labor Unions and newly by George Meany. No. 3, William Proxmire, the only entry with a hair transplant. He's jogged the farthest in training for this event.

"Ladies and gentlemen, we have just been informed No. 4, Edward Kennedy, the overwhelming favorite, has been scratched. He will not run. We repeat, he is not in the race. From our vantage point we can see the other entries are immediately looking to Kennedy's advisers for assistance on how to run this race. The odds are changing fast.

"They're at the post now, so we'll just give you a quick rundown on the remaining entries. No. 5, the surprise winner last time, George McGovern, No. 6, Frank Church, a late entry because of an investigation. No. 7, John Glenn, although not too sure-footed, he can really fly. No. 8, sporting the Boeing Aircraft colors, Henry Jackson. No. 9, Morris Udall, the House favorite. No. 10, Jimmy Carter of Peanut Farms. No. 11, the 1968 winner, Hubert H. Humphrey. No. 12, Fred Harris, who rode here in a campaign. No. 13, Lloyd Bentsen, who looks a bit oily. No. 15, Edmund Muskie, the second place finisher here eight years ago. He was the front runner last time until tears strained his vision and he could not continue. No. 16, Sargent Shriver of the Kennedy Stables, the second place finisher in 1972 after Thomas Eagleton was disqualified. Oh yes, in this crowded field, we overlooked at least one entry, Terry Sanford.

"They're at the post. All white horses this year. And no fillies.

"They're off and running with the field crowding toward the rail to cut off Wallace. And the No. 12 horse, Harris, is off stride. He's broke!

"As they head into the New Hampshire turn, it's Wallace in the lead with Udall second and Carter third. They're at the quarter pole in 29.2 million (dollars) and running strong into Florida. Carter is moving up fast and taking the lead from Wallace, but remember Wallace always finishes in the money. The runaway is Carter, Wallace, Udall, Jackson, Bayh, Bentsen and Humphrey. Then Muskie, Sanford, Glenn, Shriver, Proxmire, Church and McGovern. Harris brings up the rear.

"On the Illinois backstretch, Mayor Daley yells at Jackson and he begins to make his move to the left. They're at the half in 59 million. Jackson was expected to run a conservative race, but he's now in the lead. Followed by Carter, Wallace and Bayh. "Ladies and gentlemen, there has been an accident toward the rear of the pack. It looks like Glenn has fallen and hit his horse.

"They've now passed the three quarter pole and are headed into California. Television cameras and secret service are hindering movement as the movie stars are screaming for their favorites. Jackson is fading. Carter, the only entry without legal training, is holding a steady second. A hole is developing right in the middle for Hubert Humphrey, the sentimental favorite. As you know, he finished second in 1964, won by mouth the riotous 1968 race and finished out of the money last time.

Veizer urges pre-winter check for car safety

Referring to the high cost of owning and operating an automobile, Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer today offered a series of pre-winter vehicle check suggestions that he believes will save all motorists time, trouble and most of all — money.

As an example, Veizer noted the increased importance of annual winter tune-ups in terms of increased fuel economy. Nothing should be overlooked, he said, from the radiator to the tailpipe in complete safety endorsed by a mechanic at a reputable service station or garage.

Other items that should be safety serviced by a mechanic include radiator anti-freeze and windshield washer solutions, the electrical system, including the battery, brakes and exhaust system. All worn or defective parts in all systems should be replaced, he said.

Chief Veizer suggested other checks a motorist can make for himself, including safety and emergency equipment checks recommended by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Safety equipment checks

Gun charge in SIUE arrests

Charges of unlawful use of weapons and criminal damage to state property have been filed against two Alton men by university police at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as a result of an incident at Tower Lake Apartments early this week.

William Ridenhower, 26, and William A. Lawrence, 19, were arrested on the SIUE campus shortly before 2 a.m. Sunday after a resident manager at Tower Lake Apartments reported a street light had been broken and a man had attempted to fire a pistol at the manager. The manager told police the trigger of the gun snapped, but the gun did not fire.

Lawrence, accused of pulling the pistol on the resident manager, also is charged with aggravated battery.

University police said they were called to the apartments at 1-40 a.m. A student and the resident manager reported they had witnessed three persons breaking the street light. The shooting threat allegedly occurred when the manager accosted the visitors concerning the damage to the light.

The visitors then jumped into a car and attempted to leave but appeared to be confused by streets in the area, it is contended. Police apprehended a car near the north entrance to the campus, arrested Ridenhower and Lawrence and allegedly found an unloaded pistol and a large knife in the car.

Neither Ridenhower nor Lawrence is a student at the university. A third individual is being sought.

should include tires for good treads. Better yet, equip the car with snow tires or with studded tires (where legal) for added traction advantages, the chief said.

Windshield wiper blades should wipe clear — meaning live rubber in the blades and adequate arm pressures and the heater-defroster should put out enough warm air to keep the windshield and side and rear windows free of frost and ice, Veizer concluded.

Lobbying said to involve tough work, long hours

By KEN WATSON

Who at the statehouse may make up to $100,000 a year?

Answer: "A gun for hire." This is the Capitol terminology used to describe a small group of elite lobbyists, who have the contacts, experience, knowledge, skill and drive to bring about the passage or defeat of legislation sometimes involving millions of dollars. There are, perhaps, 10 "guns" in all.

Who is "a gun for hire"? Most likely a lawyer with a highly profitable law practice and who has lobbying clients in the savings and loans, currency exchanges, banking and/or medical fields. Of the 351 men and women registered with the secretary of state to lobby at sessions of the Illinois legislature, probably only two or three actually reach the really big money level, from $50,000 to $100,000 a year.

Lobbying is not all that lucrative. It is, in fact, hard work with long hours and some lobbyists are barely able to earn a higher than average income.

A typical lobbyist working on his own or for an association will earn from about $15,000 to $18,000 a year. A chief lobbyist for a stable association and who heads a staff of four or five persons will earn from $50,000 to $60,000 a year with the $32,000 to $35,000 range most plausible.

A chief lobbyist for one of the major business or professional associations may earn from $40,000 to close to $50,000 a year. But like the "guns for hire," there are only a relative handful of these.

Lobbying attracts a wide variety of persons, although lawyers are the most numerous. Former legislators and those who have been active in state government often turn to lobbying after leaving public service.

Eight former legislators are among current lobbyists, plus the wife of one former legislator and the brother of a senator.

Contacts made while in the legislature or government obviously are of benefit to a lobbyist.

The current list of lobbyists includes one former governor, Republican Richard B. Ogilvie of Chicago, who represents one client, the Asian Development Bank of the Philippines.

A former top aide to former Democratic governors, Samuel H. Shapiro and Otto Kern, as well as being a former state senator, Chicago attorney Robert M. Maher is in the ranks of current lobbyists.

Maher's clients include the Central Illinois Builders Association, the Association for Modern Banking in Illinois, and the Illinois Commercial College Trustees Association.

Women have found a role in the lobbying field, with 22 registered for the 1975 session. They include Gloria Craven, wife of Springfield Judge James C. Craven of the Illinois Fourth District Appellate Court. She is among the lobbyists for the Illinois League of Women Voters.

Most commercial lobbyists limit themselves to one, two or three clients but several have as many as 10. Most veteran lobbyists believe that is stretching oneself too thin.

Lobbyists in general fall into two categories, commercial and those representing various associations. Long ranked among the most highly respected association lobbying groups are the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, the Illinois Municipal League, the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and the Illinois State Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO).

Although once tainted with suspicion of bribing lawmakers, lobbying has developed into a respected function of state government.

The views of such lobbyists as Maurice Scott of the Taxpayers' Federation are widely sought by legislators on many matters, especially those involving state finances. The Illinois Municipal League generally is credited with having saved many Illinois cities from deep financial troubles.

Lobbyists today say no lawmaker ever has solicited a bribe from them nor do they know of such instances involving others.

The biggest problem for lobbyists is turning down requests to buy tickets to political fund-raising events. They can amount to thousands of dollars a year. One lobbyist, who fills several desk drawers with rejected requests says he buys about $150 in tickets on his own.

How do lobbyists get results? Usually by personal contacts, education, friendly persuasion or by subtly warning a legislator of possible defeat back in his home district if his position on a bill is hostile.

There is some wining and dining, but most lobbyists are careful about this. Any expense of over $25 for one person at one time has to be filed with the index division of the secretary of state. There are many interesting groups represented among the lobbyists, but probably the most intriguing is that represented by Richard J. Hall of Chicago — "himself."

Tainted sausage costly

SPRINGFIELD — The cost of doing things the "simple, good, old-fashioned way" can be high sometimes. Last spring, 50 Illinois residents bought some good old-fashioned home-made summer sausage. Twenty-three of them became ill.

The Illinois Department of Public Health recently completed its study of the case, the largest single outbreak of trichinosis in the U.S. in seven years. Another recent case, in Missouri, also involved summer sausage.

As part of its follow-up, the department obtained replies from 17 of the 23 cases, involving 10 families. The reports show that in addition to the discomforts, hospitalization and disruption of usual routine caused by the illness, the 17 cases cost $10,011.06 for hospitalization, another $1,510.39 for out-patient care, and $5,049.69 in lost wages. A total of 106 work days and 35 school days were reported by the 17. How much additional cost and time loss was sustained by the other eight cases is not known.

Health officials of the Public Health Department and the Illinois Department of Agriculture Laboratories who studied specimens of the sausage for the trichina larvae, said that as little as a half ounce of the sausage could have been enough to produce illness in those who ate it.

Hospitalization for 12 of the infected persons ranged from four to 22 days, and one had to be admitted for four additional days when symptoms failed to clear up.

Persons infected with trichinosis may show all or part of the illness' symptoms, which include fever, muscle pain, diarrhea, nausea, abdominal pain, vomiting, blurred vision and dizziness, inflammation of the eyelids and eye, and skin rash.

The average cost per family of the outbreak was $1,567.10, the Public Health Department reported. One patient who had no hospitalization insurance racked up a total of $2,606.90 in medical expense and lost wages.

The department said the case should serve as a "reminder" that although "the incidence of trichina infestation of swine is greatly reduced, it has not been eliminated from the swine population in this country."

Since current meat examination procedures do not reveal the presence of trichina, all raw pork should be cooked thoroughly before it is eaten.

The disease is caused by certain hair-like parasitic worms which eventually settle in the muscles of the host — in this case, nearly half the people who ate that uncooked summer sausage.

Payments in retirement account are deductible

A large number of central and southern Illinois residents who do not have a retirement program at their place of work now have an opportunity to make financial plans for the future, according to IRS District Director Ira S. Loeb.

"Some say it's a poor man's tax shelter while others call it a do-it-yourself pension plan," said Loeb. Officially it's called an individual retirement account, an important part of a new pension law that permits qualified employees to make tax-deductible contributions of 15 percent of their earnings, up to a maximum of $1,500 each year, into an individual retirement program.

According to Loeb, a person who is not now covered by a pension or a profit-sharing plan can make arrangements with an appropriate financial institution to set aside part of their earnings. The individual pays no tax on the contributions or the interest earned until the money is withdrawn, normally at retirement.

"At that time, the chances are good the person will be in a lower tax bracket, plus the contributions made during the program are tax deductible," said Loeb.

So many times it appears tax benefits are available only to larger income taxpayers. With the individual retirement account, a very real tax benefit is now available to low and middle income people, Loeb said.

"To take advantage of this, an eligible person simply chooses the plan best suited to their needs. But to get the tax deduction for a year, a plan must be in effect and a contribution must be made before Dec. 31, 1975, the director said.

For more information Quad-Cityans may visit the nearest IRS office or call the toll-free telephone number listed in the local telephone directory for a new publication with details on eligibility, how to start an individual retirement account, and the tax benefits available.

It covers better. It covers like no latex wall paint we've ever made before (and coming from Sherwin-Williams, that's quite a statement!).

It's scrubbable. It's the most scrubbable latex wall paint we've ever made. So you can use it in rooms where the walls take abuse, and scrub it clean time and time again.

It's so tough and long-lasting, you can use it on wood trim. Classic 99 is so tough and so long-lasting, you can not only use it in any room in your house, you can even use it on wood trim.

It's available in 679 colors. Unlike most so-called premium paints that give you a very limited choice of colors, Classic 99 is available in hundreds of colors.

We guarantee your satisfaction. With a paint this good, we know you'll be satisfied. "This latex wall paint is the result of extensive research and testing by The Sherwin-Williams Company. We guarantee your satisfaction in the use of this product, or your purchase price will be cheerfully refunded."

New Classic 99. Available only at Sherwin-Williams Decorating Centers, including the one near you.

Secretary seminar at Belleville

There will be a secretarial seminar Nov. 8, at the Belleville Area College Theater. The one-day event is being co-sponsored by the General Studies and Community Services Division of Belleville Area College and the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International).

The theme of the seminar is "Interpersonal Communications." Guest speakers and their topics are: Frank Gornick, director of counseling for Belleville Area College, "Communication and Group Dynamics"; Linda Stone, consultant for management dynamics in Clayton, Missouri, "What is This Thing Called TA?" (An introduction to transactional analysis and how it affects our jobs); and Patricia Jakubowski, associate professor of education, University of Missouri, St. Louis, "Unassertive, Assertive or Aggressive? (How well do you assert your basic human rights?)."

Information on registration may be obtained by calling Belleville Area College, 255-2700, Extension 201.

'College night' set for Nov. 4

Next Tuesday, Nov. 4, is "college night" for high school students from both high schools in Granite City and their parents.

The program will be held at South High School, 3101 Madison Ave., beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Music students from both the North and South schools will present a short music program in the auditorium, after which students and their parents will meet with college representatives in assigned rooms.

Tight budgets and travel curtailment have reduced the number of colleges represented, but those at which many Granite City students enroll will have admissions personnel available to talk about the programs and opportunities, it was announced.

Institutions in Illinois to be represented include: Belleville Area College, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Eastern Illinois University at Charleston, Illinois State University at Normal-Bloomington, Western Illinois University at Macomb, Blackburn College at Carlinville, and Parks College of St. Louis University at Cahokia.

Missouri institutions will include: University of Missouri at Rolla, St. Louis University, and St. Louis College of Pharmacy.

In addition, the area representative of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point will be here to explain a new program, open to young women as well as young men.

SAFETY AWARENESS is demonstrated at Washington School where second graders posed as accident victims to dramatize the need of year-around safety practices. The program was conducted as a part of Safety Awareness Week which ended during the weekend. In addition to their "bandages and bruises," the youngsters wore signs explaining their injuries and what they did to get them. Seated in the front row, left to right are Walter Marsh, Gene Collins, Donetta Teachenor and Lisa Deen. Second

Urges more political action by businessmen

American businessmen "and all people who recognize the merits of our free market system" should step up grassroots political activity in support of the system, Frederick C. Langenberg, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said Tuesday at Boca Raton, Fla.

Addressing the 33rd annual convention of the American Institute of Steel Construction, Langenberg said that "we have got to make certain that we have in this country a legislative and political climate in which private business can survive — and grow."

Langenberg expressed concern over a recent report by the federal government's Council on Wage and Price Stability. The report estimated domestic steel capacity expansion requirements at only half the 30 million tons AISI and others predict the nation will need by the early 1980s.

According to Langenberg, the council report also understates the steel industry's capital requirements by a substantial amount, ignoring replacement and pollution control costs, and "places undue reliance on imported steel as a means of dealing with shortages stemming from inadequate domestic production."

"The day after tomorrow, the American Iron and Steel Institute will submit to the council formal comments on the report," he announced.

"We must set the record straight, to prevent the American public from being misled about the realities of our situation. We must also make clear to the public why this country needs programs and policies which encourage capital formation."

Langenberg made these comments about other public issues.

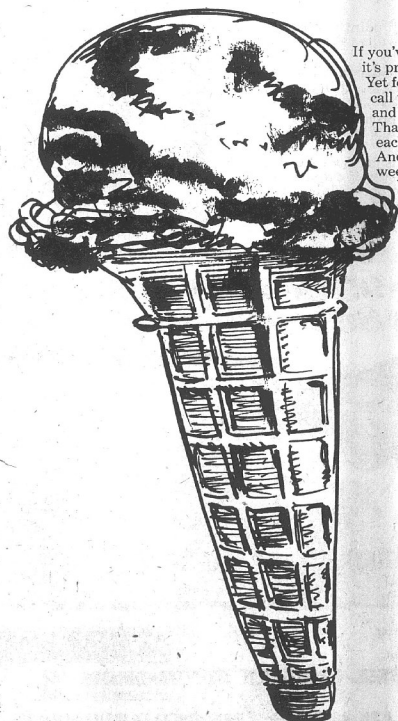

"The long-term solution to the present natural gas shortage is deregulation "in order to encourage greater exploration and production of this vital fuel," Langenberg said that natural gas is indispensable to certain heat treatment and annealing processes used in the steel industry.

"There should be a "reasonable balance between protecting the environment and other vital needs — such as conserving scarce energy and scarce capital required for productive investment." The AISI president said that some existing regulations would foreclose vast amounts of land areas in many states to new development.

Langenberg said the domestic steel industry supports international trade talks on steel. The AISI president said that the multilateral trade negotiations under the auspices of the general agreement on tariffs and trade, just getting underway, represent a "unique opportunity" for such discussions. He expressed the hope that the United States government "will seize this initiative to generate some positive movement."

Now you can make a Long Distance call to any other state in the United States for less than you'd pay for an ice cream cone.

If you've eaten any ice cream cones lately, you know it's pretty hard to get one for less than a quarter. Yet for only 22¢ or less you can make a Long Distance call to any other state in the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) with our new one-minute weekend rate. That's 22¢ or less for the first minute, 16¢ or less for each additional minute.

And all you have to do is dial direct and call on the weekend before 5 p.m. Sunday.

Look at it this way. Isn't a Long Distance phone call to your family or friends worth the price of an ice cream cone?

Donald Bein to direct Smith Corp. planning

Donald H. Bein, 51, has been named to the newly-created position of director of corporate planning at A. O. Smith Corporation.

A 25-year veteran of the company, Bein joined A. O. Smith in 1952 as an economic analyst, in corporate research and development. In 1960, he became director of economics and marketing research.

When A. O. Smith's Data Systems Division was formed in 1961, Bein, an early advocate of the use of computer technology to solve business problems, became its general manager.

The Data Systems Division provides data processing services with broad applications in accounting, manufacturing and engineering for other companies as well as

A. O. Smith. Announcing Bein's appointment was Robert A. Rietz, vice president of finance of A. O. Smith. Rietz said Bein will direct a department that will analyze various corporate strategies for review by a company planning committee. Bein received a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering from the Illinois Institute of Technology in 1949. In addition, he has taken graduate studies at IIT, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Columbia University.

He is a member of the Association for Computing Machinery and the Institute of Management Sciences.

Bein, a native of Chicago, is the father of four children. He and his wife, Dorothy, make their home in Glendale, Wis. A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a widely diversified manufacturer. Its product line includes water heating equipment, electric motors, meter systems, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, auto and truck frames, elevators, glass fiber reinforced plastic pipe, metal powder and computer services.

Anti-politics theme less credible the second time around

It has been widely predicted that Governor Daniel Walker's 1976 re-election effort will utilize the same theme as his successful 1972 race — that he represents "the people" and that whoever is opposing him is a machine-controlled politician.

The precise form that this orchestration will take perhaps is being revealed in late-October discussions here and elsewhere led by Pat Quinn, a close Walker aide until this summer and now seeking to stimulate a grassroots initiative campaign to put a state constitutional amendment on the November 1976 ballot.

The amendment would "outlaw" multiple public jobs held by the same individual, restrict legislators voting when they may have a possible conflict of interest, and alter the present procedure of paying General Assembly members.

While these issues were not originated by the governor, it is easy to see him making political hay during the coming months by devoting part of his campaign oratory to legislators' real or assumed sins. As he already knows, it is easier to run against something than for something.

All of which provides background for the Press-Record's disclosure this week that Gov. Walker is alleged to be infiltrating the civil service ranks of the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Division by placing patronage employees in Granite City and other cities.

The charge by staff members, speaking as "knowledgeable private citizens," is that needy UCD job applicants are being passed over in order to hire "untested relatives of politically well-connected persons" for positions supposedly filled through civil service examinations.

It certainly is nice to have a non-political governor running the state, isn't it?

Vehicle Commission ignoring vehicle-related indictments

Comment by Alton Telegraph — Illinois' Motor Vehicle Laws Commission placed itself under a cloud last week.

It elected as its chairman and vice-chairmen two members of the legislature indicted charging transportation-related bribery schemes.

The chairman-elect, Rep. Robert Craig, Danville Democrat, faces trial on charges of taking a bribe to influence passage of legislation to increase cement truck load limits on the highway.

Sen. Kenneth W. Course, Chicago Democrat, elected vice-chairman, is named in another indictment with Craig and five other current legislators charging they received $30,000 to work for an override of a Gov. Oliveville veto on the load limit bill.

We regret to have to say that Sen. Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville, newly appointed to the commission, voted for both Craig and Course and apologized for them. Vadalabene, we admit, had a certain basis for defense that "they haven't been proven guilty yet."

But we lean more strongly toward the contention of Sen. Bill Morris, Waukegan Democrat, who pointed out: "If we are to have any credibility in the legislature, how could we elect these two to such sensitive positions?"

"Not that I feel they are guilty until proven so, but there is a time when we in the legislature must sacrifice selves for the system. We have to stop acting like a private club, or instead of being 97th out of a hundred on the public's status totem pole, we'll be 100th."

The trucking industry and allied organizations have been making steady advances against the permissiveness of government regulation. Especially has been true of vehicle weight and width limitations, originally established for not only safety of all motorists, but for the longer life of the highways.

Rep. Craig and Sen. Course should have disqualified themselves from even appointment to the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission until they could clear themselves of any suspicion.

Sen. Morris, new to the commission and a former radio newsmen, pointed to the "sensitivity" of the post in view of the current situation. We commend him for his own sensitive analysis.

By PAT QUINN

Secretary-Treasurer
Coalition for Political Honesty

An Illinois political honesty initiative election is being sought for the November 1976 ballot to amend the State Constitution.

We want to end conflict-of-interest voting legislators, prohibit advance pay to them, and ban multiple public payroll jobs.

We need to do what politicians have refused to do — put tough, non-nonsense ethics laws on the books in Illinois.

We are trying to give citizens something tangible they can do about a big problem in Illinois — political corruption.

Illinois is a laughing stock from coast-to-coast. The crime rate in our state legislature is higher than the national crime rate.

The 1970 Illinois Constitution permits citizens to get a constitutional amendment on the ballot during a general election.

It will require 375,000 signatures on petitions to get the ethics amendment on the ballot in 1976.

Citizens' effort succeeded in 1974 in amending the California Constitution to include a sweeping ethics package of campaign disclosure, lobbyist disclosure, spending limits for political campaigns and conflict of interest provisions.

The proposition was approved by a 2-1 margin. Similar movements have succeeded in Washington and Michigan.

The proposed amendment would give the taxpayers teeth for the first time.

A legislator who announces he has a conflict of interest and can't vote would not be counted as an elected member during the vote.

The traditional legal definition of conflict of interest is a situation that's "individual and specific."

Legislators voting on their own salaries or persons who do not have a legal conflict of interest since they are all affected the same way.

However, a legislator who is a real estate dealer, for example, would have a specific and individual conflict of interest on bills affecting real estate dealers.

Spending could force tax rise — governor

Late-October statement to the Illinois General Assembly by Governor Daniel Walker said that the state is now approximately $485 million — over the past three years.

In the last three years, the state share of elementary and secondary education funding has climbed from 39 percent to 46 percent of the total education budget.

The state share and the local share are now approximately the same. That leap to 46 percent has substantially eased the burdens on the local property taxpayer.

This year's $120 million increase over last year represents 30 percent of the increased General Fund spending for this year — a substantial commitment in a year as troubled by economic problems as this one.

While total state General Fund appropriations have grown by less than 20 percent since fiscal 1973, appropriations for elementary and secondary education have grown by 81 percent. That's a rate almost double that of inflation. Those numbers are evidence of our service to people.

Does anyone seriously propose that we cut welfare support for the needy and distributing 1-12 of the income tax to local governments?

Does anyone seriously propose reducing the level of support for community mental health programs? The answer is no.

That leaves about $350 million. Of that, $130 million will be spent by the judicial branch and the elected state officials, and the remainder, $220 million — only four percent — goes for all the other functions of state government.

In the case of education, the question is: should the increased be $120 million, an amount the state can afford? Or should it be the total originally appropriated, which the state cannot afford and which would lead to new taxes?

The $120 million includes about $30 million for "hold harmless" funding. I have called a special session of the General Assembly to deal with the continuity of state support for elementary and secondary education.

I am submitting legislation costing $20 million to assure that no school district will have to raise taxes.

After taking into account the impact of inflation, these agencies cost less today than they did three years ago. Their budgets have grown less than the inflation rate.

We've taken a number of steps to further control spending by these agencies — with standards of other big cities.

The median income for black families was $8,107 in New York City, compared to $10,000 in Washington, D.C. Other studies confirm that blacks came to New York to earn money, and that a good number of them have succeeded.

As for welfare, without question, a serious problem for its demented clients and a large burden for the budget. But New York is far from unique.

We've taken a number of steps to further control spending by these agencies — with standards of other big cities.

The median income for black families was $8,107 in New York City, compared to $10,000 in Washington, D.C. Other studies confirm that blacks came to New York to earn money, and that a good number of them have succeeded.

As for welfare, without question, a serious problem for its demented clients and a large burden for the budget. But New York is far from unique.

The remainder, $200 million — only four percent — goes for all the other functions of state government.

In the case of education, the question is: should the increased be $120 million, an amount the state can afford? Or should it be the total originally appropriated, which the state cannot afford and which would lead to new taxes?

The $120 million includes about $30 million for "hold harmless" funding. I have called a special session of the General Assembly to deal with the continuity of state support for elementary and secondary education.

I am submitting legislation costing $20 million to assure that no school district will have to raise taxes.

costs are up 20 per cent. And medical costs continue to soar.

While all this is happening, the federal government is implementing a system of withholding reimbursement payments for certain social services, this has already cost Illinois $45 million this year.

The fact that this deferral policy is being applied to a number of states does not reduce its impact here.

We will continue our efforts to eliminate the ineligible. But we cannot, we will not, let that fight hurt the poor and the needy, the blind, the disabled, the children — the people who need our help.

Almost $400 million goes for institutional care in Mental Health, Children and Family Services and Corrections. These are dollars for direct staff, for food for fuel and for maintenance. These costs have increased due to inflation.

These are the areas where most of the state dollars go — where the state must spend to meet its basic commitments of service to people.

Does anyone seriously propose that we cut welfare support for the needy and distributing 1-12 of the income tax to local governments?

Does anyone seriously propose reducing the level of support for community mental health programs? The answer is no.

That leaves about $350 million. Of that, $130 million will be spent by the judicial branch and the elected state officials, and the remainder, $220 million — only four percent — goes for all the other functions of state government.

stringent controls in travel, automobiles, contracts, printing, heating and freezing.

We are squeezing every dollar we can out of these agency operations. But there is a limit to how far we can go without crippling vital state services.

When the Bureau of the Budget released its quarterly report on the state's financial condition, some seized on a projected year-end cash balance of $115 million as evidence of additional resources. But those resources are not available for appropriation.

By the end of the year, they will have been obligated pursuant to appropriations already approved and will be entirely consumed during the lapse period.

That will be no budgetary balance. That is the seriousness of our fiscal problem.

Shortly after you will override my action on spending bills. My position is a matter of public record: The people cannot afford to have the state override any of its spending measures this fall.

Spending measures are not limited to those which appropriate money. They include bills which obligate the state to spend more money this year and even bigger amounts next year and on into the future — more money than the state has or will have.

We do not have the funds to pay for any further increases in state spending.

The issue before you is not whether to increase the state's commitment to education, mental health and other vital services, but how much should those increases be?

In the case of education, the question is: should the increased be $120 million, an amount the state can afford? Or should it be the total originally appropriated, which the state cannot afford and which would lead to new taxes?

a smaller grant entitlement or cash flow from the state this year than it did last year. This has already been budgeted. It is included in the Bureau's estimate of spending.

Authorization of these funds will protect Downstate school districts that will otherwise lose funds. This is essential to enable hundreds of Downstate districts to make a smoother transition to the levels of funding which they will achieve under the formula as enrollments decrease.

The issue of the amount of increase arises in all the areas. It is not only the bills with high price tags which are a cause of concern.

Every spending bill — even the bills involving relatively small amounts — can throw the budget out of balance.

Though they may do so with the best of intentions, those who are urging overrides of my actions on spending bills are driving us toward a tax increase during 1976.

It has been suggested by some that we borrow money. Perhaps those individuals have not been reading about the plight of New York City, and do not fully understand the consequences which they are wishing on the people of Illinois.

Borrowing to pay for operations is fiscally irresponsible. Let me not be said that we have taken Illinois down the New York road.

People expect government to have within its means. To retain their confidence, to serve their needs, we must be fiscally responsible.

In June, I stated that the public can no longer afford to have us disagree on spending. The need for cooperation is even more critical now.

I am encouraged by the cooperative effort, in which your leadership played a key role, to develop cash management information for state government. If we can work together in this spirit on keeping our state budget in balance, we will succeed.

It is in the interest of every Illinois taxpayer that we, the executive and legislative branches of government, work together to preserve a balanced budget. Let us set aside our differences and unite to work toward this common goal.

FOR KIDDIES Car pool safety stressed

By BARB MAYER

With school back in session, mothers are turning to a classic energy and time-saver — the car pool.

Car pools are a logical answer to the chores of driving kids to school and after-school activities. But car poolers should be aware of such matters as insurance, car maintenance and the safety of their small passengers.

Some safety suggestions if you're involved in a car pool with children are:

1. Know all the drivers in the pool. If you have any questions or your child complains, an open dialogue should be maintained regarding the drivers' habits and individual responses to driving problems.

2. Parents should discuss car pool insurance with their insurance agents. A driver who may be accountable for faulty equipment or driving errors which contribute to an accident.

3. Be sure each car in the pool has a maintenance inspection. Trouble areas such as brakes, steering, light signals and tires should be checked at a competent garage.

4. Establish safety rules. Never overcrowd the car and avoid loading children into the back of a station wagon, one of the most dangerous places in the car. Each child traveling in the pool should be properly restrained in an individual car seat, harness or seat belt. A child restraint is recommended until a child reaches 26 or 30 pounds.

5. Be sure the back window ledge is free of objects. A sudden stop could send objects flying into the car, possibly striking and injuring the passengers.

6. Review the route, pickup and delivery of passengers. One route, which all parents consider the safest and easiest, should be established. Pick up and discharge passengers on the curb side only and never at an intersection.

7. Take extra time when weather conditions are bad. Wind backing up — little kids can't be seen in the rear view mirror, and it's especially dangerous to back up near a school where children may be playing.

8. Never discipline children while driving. If a problem does arise, signal, pull off the road, stop the car and then deal with the children.

9. Never leave children alone in a car, even for a short time. Be sure when you drop each child off, he's met by an adult.

Tailgating—fast becoming a tradition for autumn fans

By JIM LUKAS

URBANA — Liquor, food, football fever and friends. Little else is needed to feel "in" with the tailgating crowd at a University of Illinois football game.

Tailgaters make a donation to the university's grants-in-aid athletic scholarship fund for, among other things, the privilege of parking near Memorial Stadium.

They pack themselves and four ingredients mentioned above into cars, pickup trucks, limousines and campers and arrive three or four hours before game time.

The early arrival is needed to loosen up. Not the kind of loosening up football players do (at least not when the coach is looking), but a verbal and gastric loosening up.

Beer, wine, Scotch, bourbon, soda pop. Chicken, ham, hamburgers, hot dogs, salads, cheese, Potato chips, crackers, pretzels.

They all rest on tailgates of station wagons and in trucks and on hooks of cars. People stand around or sit and gab a little, eat a little and drink a little.

"You have to get ready for the game," said Ellen Stonner, of Urbana, who was having a drink with her husband, Kent, and her parents, Willis and Marguerite.

They were in the $250 lot. Stonner explained the cost had risen 150 per cent from last year.

Stonner, a lawyer, said the basic benefit of contributing to the athletic fund is a better choice of tickets for football games. His are on the 50-yard line.

The rates go down the further one gets from the stadium. From $100 to $249, a group of Illinois rooters can park northwest of the stadium in the "white" area.

For between $250 and $499, you can park your car in the "blue" area closer to the stadium. "Orange" space holders have to donate more than $500 to the athletic fund. Blue and orange are the U. of I. colors.

The ritziest spots are immediately west of the stadium near its south end. They are on the "president's lot," and a donation of $1,000 a year for 10 years or a $25,000 life insurance policy in the athletic fund's name is required to park there and eat, drink and be merry.

The Stonners and Winstons were eating their fried chicken, hamburgers and hot dogs and sipping dog, ball-shaped decanters containing liquor.

"This is Scotch and this is bourbon. It's canonicalized," they said and handed a drink to a reporter.

To tailgate is an all-day affair. At halftime a lot of people return to their open trunks decorated with orange and blue flags and posters for a refresher of food and drink, Stonner said.

After the game, 30 or 40 minutes are spent "winding down" around trunks and hoods with friends.

And rain is no hindrance, at least for the Winstons. "We have a striped tent. It's just like a sidewalk cafe," Mrs. Winston said.

Orange and blue blazers and caps, "Fighting Illini" license plate frames and a pair of orange shoes. No lack of spirit exists among tailgaters.

George Kingston, 56, an Urbana veterinarian, was in charge of cooking, cheeseburgers for a group from the Embassy Tavern and Rice Inn in Urbana.

Stonner said the Embassy group is always the first to park and cook and eat and drink.

Kingston said his group, which has been tailgating for six or seven years, set up a pickup truck on its spot at 9 a.m., although the football game wouldn't start until 2:50 p.m.

Hamburgers and beer were the staples that cool, cloudy day. "When the weather gets colder, we have chili and ham and beans," he said.

Mrs. Marj Chrysal of North Muskegon, Mich., was having crackers and cheese and a drink as she tried to keep the wind from blowing off a tarp on the hood of her car.

Mrs. Chrysal is the mother of Jeff Chrysal, a split end of the Illini. She said she and her husband drive to every Illinois game they can. She planned to be in College Station, Tex., today when Illinois plays Texas A&M.

Chrysal is a senior, and his playing days are numbered. "We'll surely miss this," Mrs. Chrysal said.

UNCONFINED JOY. An Illinois family of tailgaters is "living it up" before game time at Urbana. Don't worry, they'll get to the game on time, after a sumptuous lunch.

One man who probably won't miss anything the Illini do in Champaign is Bob Suter, 53, an employee of the university's business office and an officer of the U. of I. Quarterback Club.

He was walking among the tailgaters selling "Fighting Illini" license plate frames for $4 a set.

He hasn't missed a home game since coming to the university as a student in 1946. "I follow them all," he said.

"I just park cars," said Stephen Hooper, 21, a civil engineering student from Rantoul. For the past three years, he's had to cope with the idiosyncrasies of people who have paid a substantial amount of money for the privilege of parking near the stadium and getting good seats.

"They're pretty high strung. They don't like to be told where to go," he said as a driver parked where he wanted rather than where another parking attendant directed him.

While some drivers have testy dispositions, others are level-headed. "Some people give you a beer. They say, 'I know what a hard job it is,'" Hooper said.

A large man with plenty of sandwiches and fruit in the trunk of his big, black Cadillac was from Galva.

William Helwig said his son attends the University of Missouri. Last Saturday's game was the first Illinois home game he attended. But he had tailgated at other schools, such as Iowa and Notre Dame. "This is our life," he said seriously.

NUTRITIOUS DRIED BEANS

Dried beans are so classic that many people just take them for granted. Dried beans also have a humble reputation. Folks associate beans with cheaper foods.

But that's the very point I want to make today: the economy of beans and the fact that it is hard to find an equal value of their nourishment in other foods.

BEANS consist of about 22 percent protein. This compares with beef being about 16 percent protein, and eggs 13 percent.

But to get the most value from beans, you should combine them with other foods. Why? Because the protein in beans is what they call "incomplete."

Protein is composed of 22 amino acids, many of which can be synthesized by the body. But eight of the amino acids cannot be so synthesized. They must be obtained from the food you eat. To get along, our bodies need foods that supply all of the essential amino acids in the proper proportions.

Milk, fish, poultry, eggs and meat all contain what nutritionists call "complete" protein. This means they contain the essential amino acids that your body cannot make for itself. And certain amounts of these amino acids also should be present.

The historic trick with beans is to serve them with a food that contains the elements of protein that the beans lack. This makes the whole "mix" for that meal complete at less cost than if you ate a complete protein food alone.

THIS is why ham and beans are so popular. This is why bean soup is made with ham hocks. This is why there are so many canned food products that offer beans and bacon, pork and beans, and so forth.

Beans, to put it bluntly, are terrific nutrition, especially for what they cost.

ARE THEY hard to fix? Some folks think so. Actually, they require some time, but little effort. After buying dried beans (black, pinto, lima, kidney or navy beans, for example) at the store, put them in a colander, wash in cold water, pick over them to reject or an occasional pebble, then pour them into a large pot and cover with at least twice as much water as there are beans. Soak them overnight and they're ready to cook according to simple recipes in your cookbook. There are faster ways, too. Again, check your cookbook. And save money.

Schools await state football playoff meet selections this week

A bigger "numbers game" than the state lottery will be played by hopeful football-playing schools in the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) this weekend. Pairings for the second annual IHSA football playoff series are scheduled to be decided and announced this weekend.

The champion of each of the 66 football conferences will gain a playoff berth in its respective class, but the figure fighters will be burning the midnight oil Friday and Saturday trying to determine the "at large" entrants in each of the five classes.

The number of "at large" berths available varies with each class.

There are two spots in the smallest class (1A) and the largest class (5A), with three spots each in Class 2A and Class 4A and four at-large spots in Class 3A.

Conferences are classified according to average conference enrollment. Schools eligible for consideration as "at large" entrants are independents, conference co-champions and conference runners-up which achieve overall winning records of 80 per cent, having played a minimum of eight games prior to the conclusion of the ninth weekend of the season.

There are 20 combinations of wins, losses and ties which will give a team a winning percentage of 80 or better from an eight-game schedule through a 10-game schedule.

The more games a team plays, the more losses it can absorb and still be eligible to qualify. Following are the records (as of Nov. 1) which could earn a team an "at large" berth in the playoffs:

10-GAME SCHEDULE—10-0 is 1.000, 9-1 is .900, 8-2 is .800, 8-3 is .667, 8-4 is .600, 7-5 is .583, 7-6 is .500, 7-7 is .500, 7-8 is .444, 7-9 is .444, 7-10 is .400, 6-11 is .364, 6-12 is .333, 6-13 is .308, 6-14 is .286, 6-15 is .263, 6-16 is .241, 6-17 is .220, 6-18 is .200, 6-19 is .182, 6-20 is .167, 6-21 is .154, 6-22 is .143, 6-23 is .130, 6-24 is .118, 6-25 is .107, 6-26 is .097, 6-27 is .087, 6-28 is .077, 6-29 is .067, 6-30 is .059, 6-31 is .050, 6-32 is .043, 6-33 is .037, 6-34 is .030, 6-35 is .024, 6-36 is .018, 6-37 is .013, 6-38 is .009, 6-39 is .005, 6-40 is .002, 6-41 is .000, 6-42 is .000, 6-43 is .000, 6-44 is .000, 6-45 is .000, 6-46 is .000, 6-47 is .000, 6-48 is .000, 6-49 is .000, 6-50 is .000, 6-51 is .000, 6-52 is .000, 6-53 is .000, 6-54 is .000, 6-55 is .000, 6-56 is .000, 6-57 is .000, 6-58 is .000, 6-59 is .000, 6-60 is .000, 6-61 is .000, 6-62 is .000, 6-63 is .000, 6-64 is .000, 6-65 is .000, 6-66 is .000, 6-67 is .000, 6-68 is .000, 6-69 is .000, 6-70 is .000, 6-71 is .000, 6-72 is .000, 6-73 is .000, 6-74 is .000, 6-75 is .000, 6-76 is .000, 6-77 is .000, 6-78 is .000, 6-79 is .000, 6-80 is .000, 6-81 is .000, 6-82 is .000, 6-83 is .000, 6-84 is .000, 6-85 is .000, 6-86 is .000, 6-87 is .000, 6-88 is .000, 6-89 is .000, 6-90 is .000, 6-91 is .000, 6-92 is .000, 6-93 is .000, 6-94 is .000, 6-95 is .000, 6-96 is .000, 6-97 is .000, 6-98 is .000, 6-99 is .000, 6-100 is .000.

If the "at large" berths in a class cannot be filled by teams with winning percentages of 80 per cent or better, then the IHSA office will lower the level of percentages and select teams. This process will continue until each 16-team field has been filled.

Should more teams be available for berths as "at large" entrants than there are berths, a point system will be utilized to break ties for these spots.

Each potential team is awarded points for wins, ties and losses against teams with above .500 records, .500 records and below .500 records.

In the event this procedure does not determine the qualifiers, a coin flip will break the tie.

Pairings will be drawn geographically according to the 16 qualifiers in each of the five classes this weekend.

Preliminary (first-round) games in each class will be played Wednesday, Nov. 5, at either 1:30 or 7:30 p.m.

Champions of eight conferences per class will host preliminary games.

Champions of the other conferences within a class, plus the "at large" selections, will be visitors in the preliminary games.

In many cases, the Nov. 5 game will be played at night if the host school has a lighted football field. But unless both schools agree to the night contest, the game must be played at 1:30 p.m.

The field in each class will be paired to eight survivors after the preliminary games and the winners will battle in quarterfinals at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 8.

Semifinal games will be Saturday, Nov. 15, at 1:30 p.m. Championship games in each of the five classes will be played on the artificial turf of Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University at Normal this weekend of Nov. 21-22 according to the following schedule:

Class 1A—12 noon Friday
Class 2A—2:30 p.m. Friday
Class 3A—7:30 p.m. Friday
Class 4A—12 noon Saturday
Class 5A—2:30 p.m. Saturday

ILLINOIS
WATERFOWL
STAMP

First waterfowl stamp features a mallard in flight

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — A male mallard in flight, in natural color, is depicted on the first Illinois migratory waterfowl stamp, which went on sale Oct. 1.

The $5 stamp is required for any hunter who intends to hunt ducks or geese in Illinois this season.

In addition, the hunter is required to have a $5 federal migratory waterfowl stamp and a valid $3.25 Illinois hunting license. Hunters planning to shoot on state-managed waterfowl hunting areas and who applied early enough to get a permit, will be required to pay a daily $5 usage fee at the site. Goose hunters will have to pay a $5 daily usage fee. That fee also applies for pheasant hunters on state sites, but they are not required to have the federal or state waterfowl stamps.

The 1975 state migratory waterfowl stamp was authorized in a bill signed this summer by Gov. Dan Walker. The proceeds will go to provide habitat for the migrating waterfowl, as do proceeds from the federal stamp.

Stamps are on sale over the counter in the state conservation department in Springfield or can be purchased any place selling hunting licenses.

Exempted from the need to have either a hunting license or the new state stamp are senior hunters, 65 years and older. They must, however, still have the federal migratory waterfowl stamp.

Exemptions for the older hunters are the result of a bill also signed by the governor. It provides that seniors and the disabled do not need hunting or fishing licenses and can camp on state-operated properties without paying fees.

The duck hunting season runs from Oct. 23 through Dec. 10. Hunting for duck is allowed on one state-operated location — Rice Lake.

The Canada goose season will run from Nov. 26 through Jan. 22, or until 22,000 geese are harvested. Two state-managed sites are open to goose hunters with state permits — Horseshoe Lake and Union County public waterfowl hunting areas, though both are closed on all Mondays, and will be closed Dec. 24 and 25.

The pheasant season in Illinois runs from Nov. 8 through Dec. 7. Pheasant hunting will be permitted on Des Plaines, Carlyle Lake, Chain O'Lakes, Green River, Iroquois County, Repd Lake and Richland county public hunting areas.

Pheasant rates as top bird

By ART SCHUMANN

Like it or not, most hunters have to realize that a pheasant is smarter than they are — at least in its own environment.

That's why most successful pheasant hunters rely heavily on their dogs when in the field. Without a doubt, hunters who use good dogs take more birds during the course of a season than hunters who rely on trudging through the fields on foot.

The pheasant is a wily bird that knows its terrain and how to use it to advantage. The bird won't fly unless it absolutely has to, preferring instead to run, waving back and forth with its head and tailfeathers close to the ground.

And the pheasant blends in well with the dull coloration of fall foliage and uses its camouflage to full advantage. Chances are most dogs hunters walk by more birds than they flush.

Pheasants prefer to roost in low-growing weed growth close to heavy cover and a good food supply. Weed fields adjacent to cornfields are some of the favorite haunts, which makes taking the elusive game even more difficult.

Chances are that the bird is not more than a few yards away, hoping the hunter will

A good pheasant dog, therefore, is almost a must. The dog stays close to the ground — as does the pheasant — following a zig-zag course to cover all the ground in front of a hunter.

A hunter usually knows his dog well and can tell when he's picked up a pheasant's scent. If the bird hasn't been pressured by previous hunters, it likely will stay put, dropping down and hoping the hunter and dog will pass.

If the birds have been pressured by hunters recently, they'll usually run ahead of the dog. Then, it's up to the dog to circle the bird and try to coax it back in the direction of the hunter so that when it flushes it will be in good gun range.

Nothing alerts a pheasant quicker than a shot. For this reason, most seasoned pheasant hunters concentrate on one quarry — leaving rabbits, or whatever else for later hunts.

When hunting heavy weed patches, hunters often see roots with fresh sign, indicating a pheasant might have just moved away. In such cases, the hunter should stand perfectly still for several minutes.

Chances are that the bird is not more than a few yards away, hoping the hunter will pass. Since the pheasant also is a nervous bird, the hunter's pause will excite it and usually force it into the air.

During the early season, the flushing of a hen pheasant also can mean a rooster is nearby, so it pays to work such an area over well before moving on.

When the season's shooting pressure becomes heavier, pheasants seek the densest cover they can find and heavy weed growth, swamps and grain fields become their favorite habitat.

If the hunter intends to have any success in such places, he might consider going in groups, using two or three dogs to intensify the area covered and the hunting pressure. This also serves to block the ends of fields, preventing birds from running away unseen.

During such times, it's important to hunt slowly, giving the dogs an opportunity to cover fully the ground in front of the group.

When hunting pheasant, don't overlook any spot of cover. Anything — from drainage ditches, creek bottoms; standing corn, weed patches to plowed ground — could harbor the wily bird.

The old adage to remember when hunting pheasants is: "Look for them where they live." Meaning never overlook any spot as doubtful, since often that's exactly where the pheasants are hiding.

There's no doubt the pheasant offers some of the finest upland game sport in Illinois, but it also offers a difficult challenge.

It takes time, patience and a lot of effort to take pheasants in the field. That's undoubtedly why the pheasant is regarded as Illinois' finest game bird.

Pee Wees win in grid clash

Four Granite City Little Rascals Boys' Tackle Football Club games were played this weekend at the Coolidge Junior High School field and two on the road.

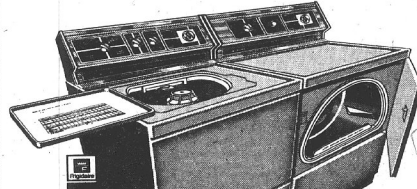

At home, Granite City's Midget Central squad lost 6-0 to the Belleville Devils and the Junior Pee Wee team bowed 28-0 to Fairview Heights.

The Granite City Pee Wees won at Dupu 28-14 over the Boosters, with Tim Cavins, Ken Wilson and Darren Angle scoring for the local squad. At Alton, Granite City's Midget North team lost 24-0.
